14 BOATS LOST; TORPEDO HITS NEW WARSHIP

British Claim Three U-Boats Sunk.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Dec. 9, Saturday (AP).—The British today reported capture of the 3,468 ton German steamer Henning Oldendorff.

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP).—A maritime Black Friday for British sea strength today brought announcement of the crippling of a speedy new destroyer by a German torpedo and the loss of six British merchant vessels, including the 8,795 ton cargo liner Navasota.

In addition to these six losses, Lloyd's announced eight sinkings among the ships of five nations which were not previously revealed. Thus the total losses disclosed during the day were 14.

Mines, submarines, and a collision in blacked out and stormy sea lanes accounted for the losses of the six ships and the death of an estimated 91 men.

Success Against Submarines.

These casualties, however, were countered somewhat by a British announcement that a Royal Air Force plane had sunk two German submarines with bombs, and that a third U-boat apparently had been destroyed. The authoritative Press association said the third submarine sunk was the one which damaged the destroyer—the 1,690 ton Jersey.

The attack on the destroyer occurred yesterday. Ten men were lost and 12 wounded. The Jersey was commissioned only last April. Despite her damage she was able to reach harbor.

British flyers and gunners demonstrated their defensive ability by driving off German warplanes, believed to have been mine sowers, from the east coast and the Thames estuary, a broad water road to London.

An air ministry announcement said:

"Enemy aircraft were reported off the east coast during the night. Royal air force fighter aircraft were sent up to intercept them. One enemy aircraft approached the Thames estuary and was driven off by anti-aircraft fire."

Say Five German Planes Hit.

It was authoritatively reported that five German airplanes were hit in an engagement over the east coast of Scotland yesterday when British pursuit planes engaged nine German craft. Previously one German plane had been reported hit. One British pilot was wounded in this engagement, but returned to his base.

The merchant ship losses disclosed were:

The Navasota of the Royal Mail Line. It was reported torpedoed somewhere in the Atlantic with 43 of her crew missing and 44 rescued.

Only Three Men Saved.

The British freighter Merel, 1,088 tons, which sank with the loss of about 15 men after striking a mine in the English channel. Only three men were picked up after the Merel's boats were blown away. One of them died in a lifeboat.

The Whintown, 734 ton British boat, sank yesterday in a collision with the trawler Leo. Arrival of survivors disclosed the accident today.

The British steamer Thomas Walton, 4,460 tons, which sank in Westfjord, on the north Norwegian coast, after a mysterious explosion last night. Sixteen of her crew were killed. A German ship rescued some survivors.

October Sinking Revealed.

The British merchant vessel Orsa, whose sinking on Oct. 23 was revealed only today. No details were given. The sixth ship was not identified in the announcement telling of her loss.

The admiralty also announced the loss of a destroyer sunk by a mine Nov. 13. It had been withheld with announcement of the vessel's loss. She was the 1,360 ton Blanche, normally carrying 138 men. Two lives were lost in this explosion.

Lloyd's announcement of the eight sinkings not previously revealed included two British ships of total tonnage of 1,772; two French of 7,461 tons, two Greek of 8,503 tons, one Danish ship of 30 tons, and one Belgian of 2,239 tons. Dates of these sinkings were given only by months

ADMIT GIVING GROUND ON TWO OTHER FRONTS

Claim 100 Russian Tanks Disabled.

WITH THE FINNISH ARMY ON THE KARELIAN FRONT, Dec. 8 (AP).—Stubbornly resisting Finns halted 200,000 Russians and disabled 100 Red tanks hurled at their Karelian isthmus defenses, but gave ground on two other fronts during the day, Finnish commanders reported tonight.

Red army troops trying to reach the Mannerheim line, a water defense system across the Karelian isthmus, were turned back with especially heavy fighting on the eastern sector along the Taipale river, an army communique said.

Reds Occupy Island.

In the Gulf of Finland the Finns said the Russians occupied Suursaari [Hogland] Island after seven days of shelling and bombing.

[A Moscow communique said the Russians occupied the island four days ago.]

Villages on the island were said to have been leveled by the soviet big guns and air bombs. The island's defenders, however, made their escape, the communique said.

On the central front the Finns announced that Finnish forces were forced to withdraw from Suomussalmi, a village about 15 miles from the frontier.

Elsewhere, the communique said, there was no activity worth mentioning.

Heavy Artillery Roars.

Heavy artillery thundered on both sides of the front at Summa, a village 20 miles from the ancient Finnish city of Viipuri [Viborg] and 40 miles within Finland.

Col. Alexander Meilbloom, commandant of the Viipuri sector, said the Russian advance had been halted momentarily, but expressed belief that Russia was bringing up fresh troops for a new assault.

The Finnish success against the Russian tanks, Meilbloom said, was due to the use by the soviets of old fashioned models with thin armor plate and poor handling by the Reds, and the use by the Finns of a powerful new Swedish antitank gun.

Weather Hampers Reds.

Altho the Russians near Summa had advanced as far as 35 miles into Finland along some places on the isthmus front, the commandant said, they had not yet reached the Mannerheim line.

Russia's mechanized army still is being held up by the weather. It is bitterly cold along the front, but not cold enough to freeze the lakes for use by foot soldiers, let alone tanks and trucks.

Despite the experience of a week ago when squadron after squadron of Russian aircraft dumped bombs ranging up to 200 pounds on Viipuri, the military and civilian population are as cool as the weather.

Thirty Civilians Killed.

Thirty civilians and one soldier were killed then in the air raids and 80 civilians injured.

Hundreds of bombs fell without exploding and were picked up in the streets. All of the raids on Viipuri were in the first two days of the war.

The first week's fighting has produced two Finnish heros—Flying Lieutenant Vuorella and an unidentified expert rifleman. Vuorella was said to have downed six Russian planes. The rifleman, fellow soldiers declared, alone killed or wounded from 41 to 47 Russians who attempted to advance across a marsh.

Other sharpshooting Finns, hidden in thickets on shore, picked off the Red soldiers as they floundered around in the bog.

Finns Camouflage Selves.

KIRKENES, Norway, Dec. 8 (AP).—The brief, gloomy daylight of northernmost Finland, combined with the Finns' camouflage tactics, were reported here today to be causing heavy Russian casualties against relatively small Finnish losses.

The Finns were said to be making good use of white uniforms and other devices to camouflage themselves against the background of arctic snow.

These reports said that the result had been that only Russian troops

'BOMB' TOSSED FROM WINDOW OF TRAIN AT BRIDGE ACROSS FIRTH

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP).—Scottish police and military authorities tonight disclosed an apparent attempt to damage the Firth of Forth bridge at Edinburgh by a bomb thrown from a train window.

A train from Dundee to Glasgow was slowly crossing the high bridge when an object was thrown from one of the cars onto the structure and caught fire. The remains of the object were examined by experts to determine whether it was an incendiary bomb.

The train was held up and the cars searched but there were no immediate arrests. Rumors that the outlawed Irish Republican army might have had something to do with it were current in the neighborhood. The bridge is near the big Rosyth naval base and like the base has been the object of German bombing attacks.

A FRIEND IN NEED OVERLOOKS A BIT OF BEAN BLOWING

Columbus, O., Dec. 8 (AP).—A year ago 11 year old Ralph Arms tried to blow a bean at a fireman. The bean sidetracked and ended up in Ralph's windpipe. The fireman called an inhalator squad and fast work saved Ralph. He had several of his teeth pulled on Tuesday. His throat swelled today, cutting off breathing. The inhalator squad came in a hurry and revived him. "Thanks, pals," Ralph murmured weakly. "Think nothin' of it, Buddy," said the squad chief.

Hen House Drama: Loses Sixteen Chickens by a Nose

Berne, Ind., Dec. 8 (AP).—John Smeltzer awakened in the night and thought he heard a thief in his chicken coop. Clad only in his underwear, he grabbed a shotgun, rushed to the poultry house, jerked open the door and called: "Come out or I'll shoot." Smeltzer's dog, bringing up the rear, stuck his cold nose against his master's bare leg. Smeltzer jumped, discharging his shotgun and killing sixteen chickens. No trace of a thief was found.

Tell How Plan to Cut Election Cost Is Balked

Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, member of the board of election commissioners, and John S. Rusch, chief clerk, told the city council finance committee yesterday that the board planned last January to hold in type the registration lists and thus save $100,000 a year.

The plan failed, they said, because the Chicago Typographical union, Local No. 16, demanded that the type be set anew each time the list was published.

The story of the failure of the board's saving plan came out yesterday when Ald. Paul H. Douglas [5th] asked Rusch: "Why doesn't the election board keep type standing for the registration lists instead of permitting it to be melted down every time a list is published?"

Explains Law Requirements.

Rusch explained that under the state law a complete list of all registered voters in every precinct is printed 10 days after the registration day, which is 28 days before an election. Following an investigation of suspects or persons who have moved, a smaller supplemental list showing only the corrections is printed. Four hundred copies of both lists are printed for use in each precinct. There are 3,848 precincts and approximately 1,800,000 voters.

This year two complete lists and three supplemental lists were published with a total printing bill of $240,000. The legislature amended the law to permit the board to publish only a supplemental list prior to the June 5 election.

In 1940 there will be three elections, the April primary, a county judicial election in June, and the November election. The board expects the printing bill to reach $240,000 again.

Rusch said the board is now looking for other means of publishing the lists to avoid paying for typesetting each time. He said they are considering use of the method of photographing typewritten lists.

Union's Side of the Story.

Ernest Patzke, secretary of the union, gave a different version last night.

"The printers [employers] planned to charge 5 cents a line for typesetting on every name in the lists whether the lines were reset or not," he said. "We wouldn't have objected to saving the type for future use, if the election board was really going to be saved any money. But the taxpayers wouldn't have saved anything, so we felt our typesetters should get in on the work."

TESTIFIES DUES PAID BY REDS IN AMERICA ARE SENT TO RUSSIA

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 8 (AP).—Miles G. Humphries, former communist and ousted union organizer, testified today that part of the dues paid by American communists went to the support of the third communist internationale in Russia. He was a witness at a hearing at which United States Attorney Frank J. Hennessy is seeking to establish an alleged affiliation between the communist party of the United States and the third internationale.

The hearing is for William Schneiderman, a naturalized citizen and secretary of the communist party of California. The government is seeking to cancel his citizenship certificate on the ground he concealed his membership in the communist party. He is a native of Russia.

Humphries, who testified also at the recent deportation hearing of Harry Bridges, C. I. O. leader, said representatives of the third internationale from all major countries attended large conventions of the party in the United States and exercised supervision over the convention deliberations. At the 1929 convention the internationale ordered the convention's central committee to Moscow and expelled the members, the witness asserted.

Short Story About a Wind, a Hat, and a Man Under It

Woosh! and the wind whisked away the hat of a man on the platform of the Loyola elevated station last evening. Teetering a bit, the hatless one leaped to the track, by chance avoiding the third rail. The hat rolled northward; so did its owner. Rush hour trains began to pile up behind them. Rogers Park police arrived and bundled the hat hunter to the station to sleep until his head cleared.

P. S.: He caught the hat.

Changed Name in '25; Now He Wants His Old One Back

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 8 [Special].—Michael George Dansand, 39 years old, who changed his name from Domagalski in 1925, filed a petition in Circuit court today to have his old name back.

Boss Hunted as Assailant; Dues Probed

Business affairs of the Scrap Iron and Junk Handlers' union were under official scrutiny last night after Attorney Leon R. Cooke, 27 years old, was shot and seriously wounded in the union headquarters at 3159 Roosevelt road.

At the Mount Sinai hospital Cooke said his assailant was John Martin, the union president. Martin fled after the shooting and a search was started for him. Police said they believed he was accompanied by his stenographer, Mrs. Gladys Walsh, 409 Walnut street, Hinsdale, who was said to have witnessed the shooting.

Martin is 48 years old and lives at 8023 South Wolcott avenue. He has been a clerk in the employ of the sanitary district for 23 years.

Indicted With Druggan.

Last August he was indicted, with Terry Druggan and two others, for conspiracy to conceal from revenue officers the fact that Druggan, a dry era bootlegger, was part owner of the Gambrinus brewery. The case is to be tried in February.

Cooke, whose home is at 1135 South Sacramento boulevard, was one of the organizers two years ago of the junk handlers' union, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. He was secretary and treasurer last year but now holds no office in the union.

"I want to see Martin to protest his conduct of the union," Cooke said in the hospital. "I told him he ought to have obtained a pay raise for the men in one junkyard. He was stormy and in a little while we were scuffling. When he grabbed a gun I told him he was crazy and started to leave.

3 Shots Fired, Says Victim.

"He fired three times. Two bullets hit my overcoat, which was over my arm. The other hit me in the back. I staggered into the hall, got down the stairs [the office is on the second floor], and took a cab to the hospital."

The bullet was embedded in the attorney's side. Physicians who extracted it said he probably would recover.

Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's staff and Supervising Captain John Stege said they were informed that Martin and Mrs. Walsh had descended a rear fire escape to get away. No trace was found of Martin, altho his home was guarded.

Union's Finances Studied.

"We are looking into the union's finances," said Lieut. Kelly. "It was only about 2 years old, but it had 900 members who paid dues of $1.50 or $2 a month. I am trying to find out where this $1,400 a month went. So far we cannot discover legitimate uses for more than $700 or so. Martin was listed as receiving a salary of only $120 a month."

Much of the information was obtained from Jack Rubinstein, secretary of the union. He said that he was really only a collector.

Martin, he said, was in charge of financial matters. Rubinstein was absent at the time of the shooting.

The investigators were told that a man named Carlos Fontana recently was engaged by the union as a business agent. A man of that name was notorious as a west side hoodlum in prohibition days. Rubinstein said he knew nothing of the new employé's past.

Head of Dealer Group.

Cooke was described as "occasional attorney" for the union. Lieut. Kelly said he was head of the Midwest Waste Dealers' association, which is composed of junk yard owners. It was suggested Martin and Cooke may have quarreled over the union's practice of demanding a checkoff [collection of dues by employers].

In the union offices the police picked up two pairs of glasses, one belonging to each man.

"This is one labor shooting in which the facts seem to be rather plain," said Capt. Stege. "We may solve it."

Oberammergau Passion Play Is Postponed by War

OBERAMMERGAU, Germany, Dec. 8.—The Oberammergau passion play, which according to tradition takes place every 10 years, will be postponed indefinitely on account of the war, it was disclosed tonight. The spectacle will be resumed when the war is over.

OHIO GOVERNOR RIPS ROOSEVELT IN RELIEF CLASH

Blames Politics in WPA for Woes.

Columbus, O., Dec. 8 (AP).—Administration of Ohio relief became a federal-state controversy today, with Gov. John W. Bricker asserting that President Roosevelt is more interested in votes than human welfare.

Gov. John W. Bricker. [A. P. wirephoto.]

Replying to the President's criticism that the national administration felt Ohio had failed to meet its relief obligations, the Republican governor—who has urged local handling of relief to a greater extent—also declared:

1. That the Ohio relief situation has been solved.

2. That the "political manipulation" of WPA was responsible for Ohio's relief difficulty.

3. That when federal authorities have effected economies, such as Bricker contends he had done, he will be more willing to accept their advice "as to how to run our state."

Administrator Denies Politics.

Dr. Carl Watson, Ohio WPA administrator, quickly denied there had been political manipulation of WPA employment. He said a business recession before the 1938 election had increased Cleveland WPA rolls to 74,000 and that politics was not responsible for a postelection reduction to 30,000.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, only Democratic state office holder, joined in the controversy with a statement that if Bricker's tax commissioner, William S. Evatt, began a campaign to collect delinquent excise and other taxes, enough money could be obtained to care for all city and county needs.

Officials of Cleveland and Toledo, where relief conditions are most serious, have urged the governor for weeks to call a special session of the legislature to provide additional relief funds. Bricker has told the municipalities to do more themselves to relieve conditions.

Charges Attempt to Discredit.

Bricker's prepared statement today accused the "Democratic high command" of attempting to "discredit a Republican administration in this state which has put 'ts financial house in order and which is doing just as good a job in the field of social service as any other state in the union."

"If the President and his voluble secretary [Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes]," he asserted, "were as interested in human welfare as they are in trying to discredit Republicans and getting votes, they would pay to the aged of Ohio the $1,300,000 which is owed to them and which was withheld in Washington after a most disgraceful political quarrel with my predecessor. It is as honest a debt as any government subdivision ever owed to another."

10 Millions a Year Voted.

The federal social security board withheld the $1,300,000 in old age pension grants from Ohio for October, 1938, after accusing former Gov. Martin L. Davey of using the pension system for political purposes. Davey denied the charge.

The legislature appropriated $18,000,000 for relief in 1939 and the same amount for 1940, requiring the local governments to match state grants dollar for dollar. Numerous city officials, however, contend the appropriation is inadequate.

Roosevelt States Policy.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—Reaffirming a policy of placing responsibility on the states for caring for needy unemployable persons, President Roosevelt declared at a press conference today that Ohio had failed to carry out what the administration considered to be a state's obligations.

The President discussed the relief situation, particularly in Ohio, after he was asked about the situation in that state and in the city of Cleveland. Cleveland has been without funds for weeks to feed several thousands of her needy.

The President, with a memorandum before him from Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA administrator, said that Ohio had not done half as well, per case, as had Pennsylvania in caring for needy persons who for one reason or another are unable to work. Most of the affected persons in Cleveland, he said, fall in that category.

The federal government, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, has recognized that it is responsible for the welfare of the needy who can work.

Reading from Harrington's memorandum, Mr. Roosevelt declared that in 1939 Ohio, with 6,000,000 people, had expended $7,000,000 on home relief for the unemployables. Pennsylvania with 9,000,000, he said, spent $33,000,000 in the same period. The average general relief benefits per case in October of this year, the President said, were $16 in Ohio and $27 in Pennsylvania.

That goes to show, he added, that Ohio is not taking care of its home relief cases half as well as the state of Pennsylvania.

Later in the day Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes asserted that a political attack on a state Republican administration is justified if the administration is as "heartless" as that of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio.

75 CHICAGO REDS HEAR A SPEAKER ASSAIL FINLAND

Seventy-five communists from the Hyde Park, Woodlawn, and Kenwood districts attended a meeting last night in Shotwell hall, 55th street and Blackstone avenue, and heard Thomas McKenna, who was introduced as a local communist leader, accuse Finland of provoking its war with Russia.

"Russia's terms to Finland," McKenna said, "would have meant more jobs and some prosperity to Finland, but Finnish rulers touched off the dynamite cap that started the war."

McKenna sought to show that world anticommunists regarded Finland as the "jumping off place against the soviets." He asserted that the European war is imperialistic in character with ultimate designs against Russia. He asserted America must stay out of the war.

MAVERICK WINS 'AN ACQUITTAL IN POLL TAX TRIAL

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 8 (AP).—Mayor Maury Maverick, friend of President Roosevelt and former congressman, was acquitted today of charges he conspired to pay the poll taxes of other persons so as to qualify them to vote at the last city election.

Maverick, who started a political comeback as mayor after losing out in congress, was accused of paying the poll taxes of union garment workers. Poll taxes are required for voting in Texas.

The mayor countered with charges that the trial was the outgrowth of animosities he engendered in whipping a political machine to obtain his mayoralty post. The case was given the jury last night.

EX-DRY AGENT HELD TO FACE 2 U. S. CHARGES

Nicholas J. Hinkes, alias Nicholas McDermott, 40 years old, a former prohibition agent, was held in $5,000 bond yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker for removal to Springfield on charges of impersonating a federal officer and fleeing the jurisdiction of a federal court. He was arrested Thursday night for the second time in recent months. Hinkes was seized in his home at 6937 North Hamilton avenue in August after he had cashed an allegedly worthless check in Springfield, asserting he was a federal officer. He was placed under $1,000 bond for hearing in Springfield but failed to appear and his bond was forfeited. His second arrest followed.

PROPOSES FARM TERM TO END HIS THIRST; GETS IT

Joseph Cook, 47 years old, won the cooperation of Police Magistrate Clarence L. Brown of Waukegan yesterday on a prohibition proposition that Joseph thought up himself. Cook, a Zion barber out of a job, was arrested Thursday on a charge of drunkenness.

"Good morning, your honor," said Cook to the magistrate. "I'd appreciate four months at the Vandalia State farm. I think it would cure me of my hankering for hootch."

"O. K., if you'll plead guilty to vagrancy," replied Magistrate Brown. Cook agreed, Brown sentenced him, and today the barber will be on his way to Vandalia.

IMMEDIATE QUIZ ON NEW ORLEANS GRAFT DEMANDED

Petitions to Congress List Big WPA Projects.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—Charges of wholesale graft and corruption in Work Projects administration jobs in Louisiana have been presented to the house committee investigating the WPA along with appeals for an immediate investigation.

Petitions have been filed with the committee listing the specific projects in New Orleans on which diversions of large sums and other abuses are charged.

Committee members are reported divided on whether to reopen the hearings. A month ago Chairman Clifton A. Woodrum [D., Va.] said there was no sentiment for a continuance of the hearings, which last summer revealed widespread evidence of waste in the work-relief organization. Republican members, led by Representative John Taber [R., N. Y.], argue that the investigation should continue.

Opposed by Administration.

According to well authenticated reports the Roosevelt administration is against further hearings. The summer hearings produced testimony concerning WPA graft which was admittedly harmful to the Democratic party. The Louisiana machine, led by Gov. Earl Long, brother of the assassinated Huey, is fighting against the holding of an investigation before the state primaries Jan. 16, at which it hopes to preserve its status for another four years.

The petitions presented to the committee plead for an investigation before the Christmas holidays. A summary of the projects reported to the committee on which graft and waste are charged is as follows:

1. City park improvement projects costing the federal government $6,748,473 and the state $272,348. The project subject to severest criticism, according to the petitions, was the building of a park at Algiers, across the river from New Orleans, which has since grown up to tall grass and weeds.

Lake Project Included.

2. Lake front improvements on the shore of Lake Ponchartraine which cost $6,272,000 in federal funds while the state contributed only $662,000.

3. Street improvement projects on which the WPA spent $5,701,000 and the local government contributed $2,433,000. The petitions charge that heads of the Long machine made thousands of dollars by their control of materials and labor in connection with WPA work.

4. So-called white collar and professional projects on which the WPA spent $3,605,000 and the local government only $280,000, including the Federal Theater project on which $1.10 a person was expended to provide entertainment for 225,000 persons over a three year period.

The citizens' groups filing the petitions charge that much of the work done on the lake front would inure to the benefit of the New Orleans levee board, which is accused of engaging in real estate speculation.

PLAYBOY FOUND GUILTY OF THEFT; GETS 1-10 YEARS

Raymond C. Hartman, playboy office manager, was found guilty of embezzlement last night by a mixed jury in the Criminal court. Judge William J. Lindsay immediately sentenced him to prison for 1 to 10 years, denying a motion for a new trial.

Hartman, who is 34 years old, was charged with embezzling $14,000 from Lever Brothers, soap manufacturers. The state charged that he spent some of the money on parties to entertain his former secretary, Miss Elizabeth Detweiler of Evanston. She testified for the state. Hartman is married and has a daughter. His home is in Crete, Will county.

ACCUSED KILLERS TELL CONFLICTING TALES TO JURORS

Three young hoodlums, charged with the murder of a tavern customer in an attempted holdup last Oct. 13, took the witness stand in their own defense yesterday. They told conflicting stories about the shooting. The case is being heard by Judge John F. Bolton and a jury of eight women and four men in Criminal court. The jury is qualified to inflict the death penalty.

The defendants are Victor Nukowski, 24 years old, a former convict; Frank Michalowski, 25, and Henry Drewek, 22. The slaying occurred in a tavern at 1859 North Washtenaw avenue. Police testified Nukowski had admitted going into the tavern with the others to rob it and that he had fired two shots. The victim was Viggo P. Peterson, 64, of 2650 Cortland street.

Yesterday Nukowski testified he got so drunk at a dance early in the evening that he remembered nothing of later events. Michalowski said Nukowski entered the tavern alone, after which there was a sound of shots. Drewek contended the three were driving past the tavern when they heard shots and got out to see what was happening. The case is expected to go to the jury today.

PENNSYLVANIA DEMOCRAT BOSS IS FREED BY JURY

Found Not Guilty of Gravel Sale Graft.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 8.—State Democratic Chairman David L. Lawrence tonight was acquitted on all charges in the Pennsylvania gravel graft case. The jury of six men and six women returned the not guilty verdict after deliberating six hours.

Party workers let out a war whoop. Relatives wept. Judge Howard W. Hughes pounded his desk and gravely dismissed the jurors, who have been kept from their families and homes during the four weeks of the trial.

Lawrence was not in the courtroom but waited in a nearby hotel room for word from his attorneys.

"At all times I have had an absolutely clear conscience," declared Lawrence, "and since I had done no wrong I felt I would be vindicated."

Result of Political Scandals.

Indicted on charges of conspiracy, blackmail, and violation of the election laws, Lawrence's troubles grew out of the scandals which rocked the last year of the régime of ex-Gov. George H. Earle. Lawrence was secretary of state in Earle's cabinet.

The backbone of the commonwealth's case was the testimony of Spurgeon Bowser, president of the Pioneer Materials company, which was allegedly favored in state gravel contracts, that Lawrence extorted $5,000 in graft from him.

Tonight's verdict will have no effect on Lawrence's indictment for unlawfully assessing state pay rollers and extorting money for campaign purposes according to the prosecution. He will be tried again in January.

With Lawrence's acquittal, the prosecution's score to date in the series of graft trials is three convicted and two freed out of the 12 Democratic leaders indicted.

Jury Tampering Charges.

Lawrence's trial was featured by sensational charges and counter charges of jury tampering.

J. H. Leavitt, a salesman, was arrested on charges of embracery [attempting to influence a court or jury corruptly] when he loudly exclaimed his opinions about the guilt or innocence of Lawrence in a hotel dining room within earshot of the jury.

When the prosecution revealed a heavy guard had been placed over the jury because "well known jury fixers" were in town, Judge Hughes questioned the jurors individually. One of the women jurors was excused when she said she could not henceforth keep her mind clear on the case.

Her place was taken by Mrs. Mary Braxton, the first alternate juror, a colored woman.

Fights Off Robber Pair Despite Their Bullets

Joseph Birse, 48 years old, a stockyards foreman, successfully fought off two bandits early today, even tho one of them fired two shots at him. They stopped him in front of his home at 7204 Lowe avenue. He promptly knocked one down. The other fired at him but missed. The three men engaged in a rough and tumble battle for several minutes until the robbers had had enough.

WITNESS JAILED AS PERJURER IN SUIT FOR $75,000

A $75,000 damage suit went to the jury in federal court yesterday with one of the witnesses for the plaintiff under sentence of 10 days in jail for perjury and obstructing justice. The jury of nine women and three men is to return a sealed verdict.

The suit was brought by Albert Eggers, 1430 Belmont avenue, a safe and vault expert, against Arnold Brothers, Inc., meat packers at 660 Randolph street, and the Lake Erie Chemical company, Cleveland, O. Eggers testified he was called to the Arnold office Oct. 20, 1936, to change the combination on a vault protected by tear gas. He said two cartridges of tear gas in the vault exploded in his face and blinded him.

Eggers asserted that the mechanism was faulty. The defense attorneys, Ted Adams and Ralph Rosen, said that Eggers was negligent and had failed to fasten the safety catch. One of Eggers' witnesses was Warren F. Scanlon, 45, of 4720 Woodlawn avenue. Judge Charles E. Woodward found that Scanlon had posed as an expert and testified falsely that he was an electrical engineer and a graduate of the University of Virginia, then sentenced him to the jail term.

MOVE TO CURB RELIEF FRAUDS IN THREE CITIES

Indiana Grocer Indicted; Two Plead Guilty.

Relief graft charges brought action by criminal court machinery yesterday in three cities—Crown Point and Indianapolis, Ind., and Belleville, Ill. The Indiana prosecutions were being watched for possible effect on the Democratic political machine of the state.

Lake county, Ind., townships in relief fraud inquiry.

In Crown Point the grand jury investigating relief frauds in the three largest townships of Lake county returned its first indictment. John Stanton, assistant prosecutor who has been handling the inquiry, predicted that further indictments will follow shortly. The jury has been investigating relief activities of 200 Lake county politicians and business men.

Charge False Claims Filed.

The indictment yesterday was returned against Hyman Goodman, a grocer at 3512 Main street, East Chicago. He was accused of falsifying relief grocery claims to the township supervisor and receiving excessive payment. The jury found that he received $654 for goods advanced to reliefers when he was entitled to only $384.

The Lake county relief investigation has been under way since last July, when charges were made that $3,500,000 had been spent to administer relief in North, Calumet, and Hobart townships. The McNutt-Minton-Townsend Democratic political machine has been accused of attempting to block grand jury action.

ADMITS RELIEF GUILT

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 8 [Special].—Thomas M. Quinn pleaded guilty in county Criminal court today to the charge of official negligence contained in an indictment returned by the county grand jury which investigated his administration of poor relief as trustee of Center township [Indianapolis].

John Neenan, a clerk in the trustee's office, pleaded guilty to charges of filing false claims and obtaining money under false pretenses. Frank Bluestein, owner of grocery stores favored by Quinn in distribution of poor relief business, pleaded not guilty to charges of filing false claims. Dan R. Anderson, Quinn's campaign manager and owner of two other favored grocery stores, filed a plea in abatement.

J. Barton Griffin, Quinn's son-in-law, who received a large share of the poor relief milk business, filed a motion to quash the four indictments in which he and Neenan are charged jointly with filing false claims and obtaining money under false pretenses.

Quinn resigned as trustee Nov. 22. He is a Democrat.

JURY EXTENDS INQUIRY

Belleville, Ill., Dec. 8 [Special].—The grand jury investigation of alleged relief frauds in Centerville township, which has a population of about 10,000 and includes suburban sections of East St. Louis, was expanded today to include all other business of the township.

The jurors asked specifically for road and bridge construction records, and ordered an audit of all of the township's books. The broadened inquiry came as a result of testimony given by witnesses who had been called to tell of relief matters.

Series of Developments.

Interest has been aroused by a series of developments attending the investigation, which began on Monday. The inquiry is being made by the St. Clair county grand jury, which was recalled after State's Attorney Louis P. Zerweck, a Democrat, had first opposed it.

Two relatives of Zerweck's political ally, Albert Ulrich, township supervisor and relief administrator, were called as witnesses by the grand jury but were not heard because of their refusal to waive immunity.

BROOKS TO MAKE RACE FOR SENATE ON G. O. P. TICKET

2 Rival Teams Emerging for Primary Fight.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Announcement by C. Wayland Brooks yesterday of his candidacy for the United States senate began the shaping up of the main lines of battle for the Illinois Republican primary next April.

Experienced feelers of the political pulse said they already could foresee the development of at least two teams of headline candidates which might be resolved into two rival tickets. These observers say there have been unmistakable signs that Dwight H. Green, seeking the governorship, will work with Otis F. Glenn, aspiring to return to the United States senate. The next team, they said, will produce joint support for Brooks for the senatorship and Richard J. Lyons for the governorship.

Many on Sidelines.

Still on the sidelines are candidates and hopefuls for other offices on the state ballot. Many of them, it is admitted privately, will aim toward alliances that will place them in one or two of these camps. The other candidates for senator and for governor also may make combinations and add candidates for other office nominations to their strings.

In his announcement, Brooks said that he is not the candidate of any group or faction. But early reports from downstate indicate that in many sections there is a rapproachement between the Brooks and Lyons forces now, just as there has been between the Glenn and Green backers for some time.

Brooks was forced to choose between the governorship and the senatorship. Many of his 1936 governorship supporters urged him to run for the same office again. Others urged him just as strongly to go after the senatorship. After many conferences, the latter arguments prevailed.

"I sincerely believe," read Brooks' statement, "that I can make my best contribution to Illinois by presenting myself as a candidate for United States senator. As a senator, with a revitalized Republican party, I can help solve the problems confronting us today."

Hits New Deal Communists.

In his opening utterance as a candidate, Brooks assailed the New Deal for having embraced communism, demanded that the United States withdraw recognition from a communistic nation that he did not name, urged the deportation of alien Reds and pleaded for genuine Americanism.

"The series of landslides during the last eight years swept the Democratic party into power," read the statement. "Then the administration, under the banner of the New Deal and under the guise of being liberal, embraced and formed a coalition with communists and others who wish either to destroy or to change America. And they have acquired almost dictatorial control of our national and state governments.

"Every American has been shocked by the authentic report that communistic-minded people hold high places in our government. These people became arrogant, criminally negligent, wantonly wasteful, and reckless with the rights and money of the American people.

Urges Action Against Reds.

"In the present European conflict communism has again shown its utter disregard for religious and political liberty. It is high time that we withdraw recognition of them as a civilized nation, stop sending them notes, and start sending them boatloads of deported Reds to prevent destruction of this country from within.

"We should drive from public office communistic-minded people who seek to implant foreign philosophies in our government.

"What America needs most today is a strong, revitalized Republican party. The loyal Republican workers and voters who have fought gallantly during the last eight years against this attack have a steadfast desire to restore honesty, sanity, and decency into our government, both locally and nationally, thru a victory at the polls in 1940."

Against Entry Into War.

As he has done frequently, Brooks spoke against involvement of the United States in the present war in Europe. Then he swung back directly to his attack on the present national régime.

"I will use my talents and influence," he said, "to prevent regimenting of professions, agriculture, business, and labor, and to make government friendly toward both labor and business; to reëstablish orderly means of production and good faith that will mean employment and lift the standard of living of a greater number of people; to reduce taxation, to halt the mounting burden of debt, and to stop the un-American practice of political favoritism in the care of the unfortunate.

"What America needs is jobs. There is no substitute for a good job in private enterprise.

"We must protect the American farmer and the American market for the American farmer and the American workman. I will oppose the centralization of power in the hands of a few elected officials and further delegation of legislative and judicial authority to commissions, bureaus, and individuals not elected and not answerable to the people."

After his announcement had been published Brooks received a large number of telegrams and other messages approving his decision to run for the senate.

Seeks Nomination

LANDON VISITOR AT WHITE HOUSE; AVOIDS 3D TERM

Talks Politics Earlier to Reporters.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—Before visiting the White House to pay his respects to President Roosevelt, Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential candidate in 1936, today called for the election of a Republican president in 1940 to restore prosperity by ending New Deal antagonization of business.

Landon reiterated his declaration of a year ago that he is not a candidate for renomination. On his arrival in the capital yesterday Landon had repeated his demand that Roosevelt end his "stuff and nonsense" third term maneuvering and announce his intentions for 1940.

Gossip of Foreign Affairs.

As he left the White House, Landon disclosed that he and the President had gossiped about foreign affairs, but neither had mentioned the Landon demand that the chief executive make a definite statement on his third term intentions.

"I didn't mention it and he didn't bring up the subject, either," Landon told reporters. "We talked about foreign affairs in a gossipy sort of way."

The former governor of Kansas said he had merely made a courtesy call. He was accompanied by House Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. [R., Mass.], who described himself as Landon's bat boy.

Martin laughed when he was asked if he was looking over the White House for 1940.

"We've already got that staked out," he said.

Criticizes Roosevelt Act.

Landon struck at Roosevelt's "stirring up of friction" against business during his press conference. He sidestepped disclosing his favorite for the 1940 Republican nomination.

He declared that the Roosevelt business-government policies will undoubtedly be one of the major issues of the 1940 campaign. He listed as other issues administrative demoralization and repudiation of the reciprocal trade treaty program.

"The only way to get back to prosperity is to elect a Republican President in 1940," Landon said.

MURPHY OPENS DRIVE AGAINST AGENTS OF REDS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—Opening a nation-wide campaign against forces he calls subversive, Attorney General Murphy sent two aides before a federal grand jury today to present information that a number of persons and corporations acted as agents of foreign principals without properly registering at the state department.

It was understood that at least some of them are alleged to have disseminated communist propaganda. Murphy said he had received information that besides failing to register properly, the persons and firms had made false statements in passport applications and had used the mails to defraud.

Surrenders His Brother on $20,000 Theft Charge

New York, Dec. 8 [Special].—A broker surrendered his brother for the alleged misappropriation of funds today in the office of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey. The brothers, John and Francis McCormack, were partners in the brokerage firm of J. L. McCormack & Co. On discovering that John, it is alleged, had misappropriated funds of their customers, Francis persuaded him to accompany him to Dewey's office, where he surrendered the brother on a charge of having stolen securities valued at $20,000. John McCormack is 40 years old and lives in Brooklyn. He has five children.

Divorce Granted

MRS. EDWARD HILLMAN JR.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Dec. 8 [Special].—Judge Atwell Westwick late today signed a decree divorcing June Hillman, the former Lady Inverclyde of London, from Edward Hillman Jr., heir to a Chicago department store fortune and now a Pacific coast polo player. Extreme cruelty was the basis for the divorce. A private property settlement was made.

CIO AUTO UNION ORDERS BAN ON OUTLAW STRIKE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 8 (AP).—Leaders of the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers in a letter to local unions made public today declared "the unauthorized strike must end" and ordered temporary replacement of outlaw strikers in order to avoid general shutdowns.

Approved by the executive board of the union, the letter emphasized the union's "principles of responsibility" and asserted that, once unauthorized strikes are checked, "the enemies of our union will no longer be able to make the charge that the U. A. W.-C. I. O. is irresponsible and does not live up to its solemn agreements."

The letter warned that small groups of workers "must not take matters in their own hands" and added: "The international union also takes the position that the responsibility of the leadership must be reciprocated by the men and women in the shops. No individual or group of individuals has the right to 'jump the gun' on the grievance committee and take matters into their own hands."

CHICAGOAN WINS APOLOGY FROM OMAHA'S MAYOR

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 8 (AP).—Mayor Dan Butler made an official apology today because Peter Nelson, 69 years old, of Thermopolis, Wyo., and Chicago, was jailed in Omaha on a vagrancy charge.

Nelson was arrested when detectives found him with two coats. He served 15 days for vagrancy and two days more for costs, then started a campaign to have his name cleared.

Municipal Judge Dennis O'Brien said it would be "silly" to expunge the court record, so Mayor Butler wrote Nelson a letter of apology and dispatched a similar note to Mayor Kelly of Chicago, regretting a Chicago citizen should have been so treated.

Nelson said he planned no further action, and probably would return to Chicago on Sunday.

TEXAN SEIZED HERE ON DOPE CHARGE.

Dr. Leonard Peal of Corpus Christi, Tex., was ordered returned there yesterday to answer a charge of violating the federal narcotics laws. He was arrested here at the request of authorities in Texas.

BOARD REBUKES COUNTY OFFICERS ON BUDGET GRABS

Insists 10 Per Cent Cuts Are Necessary.

The county commissioners summoned heads of all county governmental offices yesterday, summarily ordered them to cut operating expenses, and rebuked those who protested.

The commissioners overrode the Circuit court judges, who authorized the county fee offices on Wednesday to hire more pay rollers in 1940 than this year in the face of the board's pleas for economy. The commissioners cannot reduce the number of workers the judges authorized. But the board members warned that the 10 per cent cut order is a necessity and that the fee offices, like the others, must cut personnel or pay or find some other way to reduce expenses.

Cut 1940 City Budget.

Meanwhile the city council finance committee was effecting economies in the 1940 budget.

The county commissioners met as the finance committee. Commissioner Maurice Kavanagh presided. He told the board's callers:

The county's corporate or operating budget will be more than $27,900,000 if demands made by the office heads are allowed to stand. Department requests aggregate $24,354,000. The city's judgment against the county for Municipal court costs of previous years, $3,200,000, must be met.

Revenue Put at $19,600,000.

"The most optimistic guess as to our 1940 revenue is only $19,600,000," Kavanagh said. "Even ignoring the court cost judgment, the budget will be approximately $4,700,000 above estimated revenue. Moreover, our levy will yield only $900,000 to pay $2,000,000 in election costs."

Recorder Edward Kaindl pleaded that recent legislation has increased the work burden of his office.

"You had your employés take payless vacations last year," Commissioner George Miller retorted. "If you did it last year you can do it again. You knew of this impending legislation. Your own brother [Representative Arthur M. Kaindl] is a member of the legislature. Why didn't you watch it and oppose it?"

Clerk Victor Schlaeger of the Superior court was confronted with the statement of Commissioner H. Wallace Caldwell that Schlaeger's pay roll is up 35 per cent and his office fees have fallen 32 per cent since 1932.

A Matter of Bookkeeping.

Coroner Frank Walsh replied to the demand that he cut with sarcastic attacks upon high salaries paid by other departments. "Cut those salaries," he said, "instead of the pay of $140 a month workers."

Accused of adding 10 men to his department in five years, the coroner said it was a matter of bookkeeping.

The commissioners invited the judges of the Circuit court help committee, who recommended the job program adopted by all of the courts' judges for the fee offices, to attend the meeting.

[Fee offices are those originally intended to pay their expenses from fees collected. The law provides that the Circuit court judges decide the number of employés these offices shall have.]

The judges of the help committee, Chairman Stanley H. Klarkowski, Robert Jerome Dunne, and Walter J. La Buy, did not appear at either the morning or afternoon session. Late in the day, when most of the commissioners had left, the committee appeared, however, with Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington for an informal conference with President Smith and Commissioner Kavanagh. The judges said they had not believed it wise to cut personnel, as they felt the offices already were undermanned.

Airport Funds Reduced.

The city council finance committee approved a reduction of $1,516,358 that Controler Robert B. Upham made in the sum requested by the commissioner of public works for Chicago airport. The largest item eliminated was $1,153,838 for the erection of a new terminal building. The allowance for extending the lighting system was cut from $248,500 to $110,000. The appropriation for the airport, for which $1,787,826 was asked, is now tentatively $271,468.

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th] protested the cost of the health department's dairy farm inspection, asserting that such inspection is the duty of the state.

"If that is the case, the state should bear part of the cost and we would save thousands of dollars," said Ald. James B. Bowler [25th].

FRENCH BATTLE SYPHILIS WITH PRISON TERMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 8.—France took on a new enemy—venereal disease—for a showdown battle today. Under the terms of a decree published in the government journal, any one who is certified by a doctor as having a venereal disease and fails to follow the appropriate course of treatment will be liable to a prison term of from six days to three months.

The decree empowers doctors to enlist the civil authority in combating such diseases.

5 SENT TO PRISON FOR FORGING WPA PAY ROLL CHECKS

Leader of Nationwide Ring Convicted.

Less than three hours after they were indicted by the federal grand jury on charges of forging and cashing WPA checks, a woman and four men were sentenced to federal prisons or reformatories yesterday by Judge Michael L. Igoe in the United States District court.

Walter Howard.

Three of the men admitted they were members of a ring which had operated the check cashing racket thruout the United States. They are Arthur J. Wheeler, alleged ring leader; Walter Howard, and George McDonald, all residents of a rooming house at 122 South Canal street. The woman, Mrs. Elizabeth Mannings, 20 years old, 1642 Warren boulevard, and the fourth man, Charles Harten, 18, of 1539 Adams street, joined the gang recently in Chicago.

Credentials Stolen by Gang.

Assistant United States Attorney George T. Donoghue Jr. said members of the gang stole WPA identification cards from project offices.

Donoghue said that when a WPA pay day arrived members of the gang visited homes of the workers whose cards they had stolen and took the pay checks from the mail boxes. Then they forged the names of the workers and cashed the checks.

Harten admitted stealing two checks for $27.50; Wheeler said he took 93 checks worth $2,000; Howard, 24 checks totaling $500, and McDonald, 54 checks totaling $1,300. Mrs. Mannings admitted she forged names to several of the checks.

All Five Plead Guilty.

Two hours after the indictments were returned, charging the male defendants with stealing from the mails and conspiracy to forge government checks and Mrs. Mannings with forging government checks, they were taken before Judge Igoe. All five pleaded guilty.

Judge Igoe sentenced Wheeler to four years and Howard and McDonald each to two years in a federal penitentiary. Mrs. Mannings and Harten were sentenced to a year and a day each in a federal reformatory.

LUND PROPOSES TO PARE STATE COMMERCE BODY

Asks 3 Man Commission and $659,000 Saving.

Illinois could get along with three instead of five commerce commissioners, State Representative Arnold L. Lund [R., Riverside] said yesterday in proposing that the commission function for $659,000 less than has been appropriated biennially for it.

"The position of commerce commissioner," Lund said, "is looked on by politicians as one of the most cherished that the state has to offer. There are five of them with salaries of $6,000 annually. The commission meets only three days of every week, and the average time put in by a commissioner is 15 hours a week. The state could get along with three instead of five."

Notes Growth in Spending.

Lund noted that the commission's appropriation has grown more than $300,000 in the last ten years—from $1,146,302 for 1929-1931 to $1,450,210 for the present biennium.

"Of that increase, wages and salaries account for about $240,000," he said. "There are 204 employés appropriated for at present, as compared with 180 in the 1935-1937 biennium. Ten years ago there were about 150.

"This commission has entire jurisdiction over public utilities in the state. The general public knows that there are no more public utilities today than 10 years ago.

"In fact, there have been so many utility consolidations that the work of the commission has been lessened. Why, then, has Gov. Horner permitted this lavish extravagance in one of his commissions?

Charges Lavish Spending.

"The commission meets every other week in Springfield, and the alternate week in Chicago. Naturally, some allowance has to be made for travel expenses. But why a host of employés, clerks, secretaries, and stenographers must go back and forth is unknown.

"Why the public should be made to pay for Pullman seats, tips, and cab fares of any state employé is hard to justify. While members of the general assembly permit this practice in the commerce commission and other departments, the legislators do not permit themselves the same luxury. If the commission's appropriation were cut in half, perhaps the chairman of the commission would see to it that the practice ceased."

FLAMES SWEEP BIG IRON PLANT; START INQUIRY

A fast burning fire swept thru the two upper floors of the four story plant of the Columbia Metal company, scrap iron dealers, at 4554 Lexington street early today. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

An investigation was made by Earle Downes, assistant corporation counsel in charge of fire inquiries, at the request of Michael J. Corrigan, chief fire marshal. Corrigan asserted that there appeared to be signs of grease and oil in the blaze.

Downes questioned Benjamin Oguss, president and part owner of the company, on the scene, and will be questioned again today.

The fire started on the third floor and spread to the fourth floor and the roof. Because of the quick spread of the flames and the industrial type of neighborhood, which included a lumberyard, a coal yard, a varnish factory, a power plant and other businesses, a 5-11 alarm was turned in. Thirty-five pieces of fire apparatus, including two hose towers, responded.

CITY COUNCIL SEEKS TO RULE ELECTIONS, SAYS JUDGE JARECKI

County Judge Edmund C. Jarecki, who has supervision of the board of election commissioners, charged yesterday that the city council hopes to dominate the city election machinery by attempting to gain control of the board's expenditures. He spoke at a meeting of the Association of Election Commissioners of Illinois, in the La Salle hotel.

The board fixes its own expenditures which are approved by the city council. Judge Jarecki said the city council is attempting to have the governor and legislature give them the authority to limit the board's appropriations.

Judge Joseph E. Fleming of Belleville was elected new chairman of the association succeeding Judge Jarecki.

SERRITELLA BEGS TO KEEP PHONES FOR RACE PAPERS

State Senator Daniel A. Serritella, appearing yesterday at an Illinois commerce commission hearing, declared his two racing papers are legal enterprises and protested against removal of their telephones. The Illinois Bell Telephone company has announced that the papers, National Scratch Sheet and American Daily Jockey Sheet, would be deprived of service Monday at the request of State's Attorney Courtney.

Serritella told Robert H. Farrell, chief examiner for the commission, that his enterprises were legal. It is Courtney's contention that the telephones are being used to inform bookmakers of race results, thus assisting the gambling industry. Lieut. Thomas Kelly, a Courtney investigator, testified that the offices had 41 telephones and 21 girls were employed there giving out results. He admitted he did not know whether the callers were bookmakers or individuals.

The hearing before Robert H. Farrell, chief examiner for the commission, will be resumed Monday and is expected to be over Tuesday. The telephone company agreed to continue Serritella's service until Wednesday.

GOVERNOR ACTS TO END ARIZONA ASYLUM TANGLE

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 8 (AP).—Gov. Bob Jones returned to Phoenix today to take charge of the tangled affairs at Arizona's hospital for the insane, from which Winnie Ruth Judd is a fugitive a second time in six weeks.

Adding to the confusion caused by the escape of the trunk murderess was the resignation of Dr. Andrew F. Tombs, a member of the medical staff, and the escape of Bruno O. Hanks, a criminally insane patient. He blamed internal dissension for his action.

Gov. Jones had been secluded at a hot springs, recuperating from a severe bronchial ailment.

Woman Artist Unable to Find Work Kills Self

Mrs. Irene Young, 30 years old, 7115 South May street, fatally shot herself in the head in her home last night. She died early today in Jackson Park hospital. Her husband, Joseph Young, told police that she had been despondent over inability to find work as an artist. She was the daughter of Lieut. Arthur Patten of the South Chicago police station.

WORKERS TOLD TO IGNORE SLUSH FUND DEMANDS

Jobs Are Safe, Says Civil Service Member.

Gen. John V. Clinnin, Republican member of the Illinois Civil Service commission, declared yesterday that state civil service employés are under no obligation to make political contributions.

John V. Clinnin.

A. K. Stiles, G. O. P. state chairman, on Wednesday asked Gen. Clinnin to give the employés such assurance. Stiles referred to what he described as the "shocking conditions" revealed thru activities of the Illinoisans, the agency of the Horner Democratic administration which is soliciting 2 per cent of their salaries each month from employés for the 1940 campaign.

Coercion of Workers Barred.

"State employés under classified [civil] service are under no obligation to make campaign contributions to any political party," said Clinnin. "They may make voluntary contributions if they so desire, but must not be coerced or intimidated into making such contributions.

"Their refusal to contribute is no grounds for discharge, and no employé may be discharged without a hearing before the commission, which shall determine whether the removal is for just cause, political, racial, or religious prejudice."

Law Violations Told.

Gen. Clinnin told Stiles the commission already had heard charges against the Illinoisians' collectors—charges which were preferred by the Civil Service Protective association—and found the collectors guilty of violating the law thru collections from civil service employés on the grounds of state institutions.

"The Ten Commandments of God, as handed down to Moses on Mount Sinai, still are being violated," his letter continued. "It is to be expected that our state laws will receive similar treatment at the hands of a few.

"The civil service commission will enforce the law in every particular. It is our sworn duty, and each member of the commission as now constituted always has followed the laws of the state in matters pertaining to civil service."

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 8 (AP).—Milly, a black cat, was enjoying a nap on the undercarriage of R. R. Millsap's plane today, unconcerned about the roar of the motor as the ship left the ground.

At 300 feet Pilot Millsap noticed his stowaway and prepared for an immediate landing. But at 250 feet Milly fell off. Nonetheless, Millsap set the plane down. And there was poor Milly, a little wobbly, but able to walk. The pilot resumed his flight.

JUDGES HOLLAND AND M'GARRY SIT IN EMPTY COURTS

Suit Summons Served on Sonsteby.

Municipal Judges Eugene J. Holland and Eugene L. McGarry sat in their courtrooms again yesterday and again had nothing to do. Both were relieved of duty Tuesday by Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby pending an investigation by the Chicago Bar association of charges concerning them.

Judge McGarry expressed anger because no cases had been assigned to him and said he knew of no official order to keep his docket empty. When told Judge Sonsteby had announced no cases would be sent to his court, Judge McGarry tried to telephone to the chief justice.

Shame, Says McGarry.

He was told by Judge Sonsteby's secretary that the chief justice wanted to see him. Judge McGarry then hung up and exclaimed:

"I won't go to see him. I was going to tell him to ask Bertram J. Cahn, president of the Chicago Crime commission, whether it is all right to assign me some cases. Apparently Judge Sonsteby is taking his orders from Cahn. It is a shame to waste the taxpayers' money in this way. He has no reason not to assign me cases, because no charge of any kind is pending against me."

Judge McGarry was indicted on charges of malfeasance in office and of conspiracy to accept false acknowledgement in bond matters. The indictment was quashed. Judge Holland was a business partner of Edward J. O'Hare, who was slain Nov. 8 in gangland fashion.

Summons Served on Sonsteby.

Judge Sonsteby's action in relieving the two of duty was taken after a request by the Chicago crime commission. Judge Holland on Thursday caused a libel suit to be filed asking $250,000 damages jointly from Judge Sonsteby and Cahn. A summons to be in Circuit court Jan. 8 was served yesterday on Judge Sonsteby. Cahn said he expected his summons soon.

Both said they had not chosen an attorney to represent them. Cahn said he would confer first with the crime commission. He said the commission would be glad to state its side of the matter in court, and added he thought that its advice that Holland temporarily be relieved of duty was good.

Altho Judge Sonsteby previously had said Holland would have neither a clerk nor a bailiff in his court, both were present yesterday. Holland, on advice of Attorney Joseph T. Harrington, had notified Municipal Bailiff Al Horan and Clerk Joseph Gill that it was their duty to have men present.

She left a note reading "God forgive me. I'm in too much pain." Physicians said she had been under treatment for a malignant disease.

NEUTRALS' BOATS RACE FROM GRIP OF RED BLOCKADE

Leave Finnish Waters for Home Stations.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 8 (AP).—Scandinavian merchant fleets beat a hasty retreat from Finnish ports tonight on the heels of soviet Russia's declaration of a blockade on the Finnish coast, supplementing her attack by land, sea, and air.

The naval blockade, however, only hastens by a few weeks the suspension of shipments every year due to the great ice blockade which cripples navigation in the Bothnia and Finnish gulfs.

The Russian blockade was announced as effective at noon today, but neutral ships were given until noon tomorrow to leave the blockaded zone. After that, Russia warned, the waters would be "dangerous for shipping."

Freezing Is Overdue.

Freezing over of shipping channels is now overdue. It is expected that by Christmas or New Year's the winter weather will have paralyzed sea traffic in the forbidden zones decreed at Moscow—including movements of the Red fleet.

Seasonal closing of the Gulf of Finland, gateway to Leningrad, was one of the factors which prompted Russia to obtain naval concessions from Latvia in the Gulf of Riga.

On the Swedish side of the Gulf of Bothnia, a few harbors are kept open the year around thru the constant efforts of icebreakers during the coldest months.

Doubt was expressed here that Russian warships would succeed in entering approaches to the Gulf of Bothnia, which have been mined by both Finland and Sweden.

Say Reds within Rights.

Official circles asserted Russia was within her rights under international law in declaring the blockade. Diplomatic quarters said they believed Scandinavian states would leave the decision to shippers as to whether to take the risk of running the blockade.

[Secretary of State Cordell Hull in Washington, D. C., said the United States would hold the soviet government responsible for damages or injuries to Americans or American interests. Hull said that at present there were no American ships sailing in the area specified.]

Authorities on international law here said the fact that Russia had not declared war against Finland did not affect the situation, inasmuch as a state of war existed. They said that if Russia maintained an effective cordon of warships around Finland's coast the blockade would be regarded as valid.

Blockade Illegal, Finns Say.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 8 (AP).—The Finnish government tonight replied to Russia's naval blockade by declaring that inasmuch as the soviet government itself maintains there is no war against Finland, there cannot be any legal justification for the action.

"There can be a question of blockade in peacetime only against a nation which violates various provisions of the covenant of the league of nations—for instance as the soviet union has violated them in launching her present attack," a Finnish communique said.

As far as the Gulf of Bothnia is concerned, the communique said, the blockade lacked both legal and practical significance for Russia because, it was declared, the soviets have no warships there and cannot send them there. It was assumed the Finns consider their coast defenses and mining of the waters sufficient to prevent the entry of soviet warships into the Gulf of Bothnia.

Spread of War Seen.

MOSCOW, Dec. 9 [Saturday] (AP).—Complications with neutrals and the further spread of the European conflict were believed possible today by many foreign observers in the event Russia enforces her newly proclaimed blockade against Finland.

Since Moscow takes the view that she is not at war with Finland, these observers said, she has no right to seize neutral ships.

It was held possible, therefore, that Russia would argue the blockade was being effected by the new soviet-sponsored Finnish People's government.

Hull Protests Naval Blockade; British Seek to Minimize Note

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—In a restrained but firm note Secretary of State Cordell Hull advised Great Britain that blockade of German exports to the United States is in direct violation of international law.

Cordell Hull.

In protesting against the British order in council of Nov. 28, which extended the naval blockade of Germany to exports as well as imports, Hull requested that the British government should not interfere with legitimate American trade. He emphasized that the United States is reserving all its rights and the rights of its nationals in refusing to recognize the latest British blockade.

Reparations to Be Claimed.

In so doing he served notice that this government will claim reparations for any damages incurred by itself and its nationals.

At the same time Hull indicated this government will refuse as a matter of principle to recognize the establishment of a blockade of the Finnish coast by soviet Russia.

The secretary said it is a principle of international law that a blockade must have some justification in international law and declared the soviet blockade is entirely without such justification because there has been no declaration of war between Russia and Finland.

American refusal to recognize the soviet blockade is merely a gesture, officials here said, because there are no American vessels sailing in the proclaimed blockade area.

Concedes Right of Search.

In the note to Britain Hull said:

"Interference with neutral vessels on the high seas by belligerent powers must be justified upon some recognized belligerent right. It is conceded that a belligerent government has a right to visit and search neutral vessels on the high seas for the purpose of determining whether the vessel is carrying contraband of war to an opposing belligerent, is otherwise engaged in some form of neutral service, or has broken or is attempting to break an effective blockade of an enemy port and, if justified by the evidence, to take the vessel into port."

Hull pointed out that under the revised neutrality act American vessels are prohibited from engaging in commerce in the war zone from Bergen, Norway, to the northern part of Spain. Neutral as well as belligerent ports are barred to American vessels in the zone so that the question of breach of blockade can hardly arise.

"Whatever may be said for or against measures directed by one belligerent against another, they may not rightfully be carried to the point of enlarging the rights of a belligerent over neutral vessels and their cargoes, or of otherwise penalizing neutral states or their nationals in connection with their legitimate activities," Hull contained.

Cites Practical Aspects.

"Quite apart from the principles of international law thus involved, the maintenance of the integrity of which cannot be too strongly emphasized at this time when a tendency toward disrespect for law in international relations is threatening the security of peace loving nations, there are practical reasons which move my government to take notice of the order in council here in question.

"In many instances orders for goods of German origin have been placed by American nationals for which they have made payment in whole or in part or have otherwise obligated themselves. In other instances the goods purchased or which might be purchased cannot readily, if at all, be duplicated in other markets.

"My government is therefore under the necessity of requesting that measures adopted by the British government shall not cause interference with the legitimate trade of its nationals and of reserving meanwhile all its rights and the rights of its nationals, whenever and to the extent that they may be infringed."

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 8.—An American note to Great Britain outlining the American government's position regarding the British and French two way blockade of German imports and exports was received today at Prime Minister Chamberlain's official residence at No. 10 Downing street. It was cabled by Lord Lothian, British ambassador to Washington, D. C. The note also was communicated to Herschel V. Johnson, American chargé d'affaires in London. Neither the British nor the American ambassador have made public the contents of the message.

Lord Lothian.

English newspaper correspondents cabled brief dispatches about the note this morning. All took pains to minimize its importance. They stressed that it is by no means a protest, but merely reserves American rights. One correspondent described the note as only a "technical safeguard" taken for the sake of the American position under international law. No serious objection to the British seizure of German exports is likely to be made in Washington, the British correspondents wrote.

Called Political Trick.

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent said American domestic politics are responsible for the fact that any note was sent at all. He declared that President Roosevelt's government does not mean what the note says and merely seeks to disarm Republican political criticism of his failure to challenge the action of Britain and France. Evening papers said nothing about the note.

There were signs in London that the British are uneasy about the situation that might come up if an American shipper should complain to Washington about a shipowner insisting that the proposed cargo should be approved first by British authorities.

Play Down Kennedy's Visit.

The arrival in the United States of Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassador to London, and his visit to the White House where he discussed the war with President Roosevelt, were played down in the British press.

Kennedy's comments on the European situation, however, have aroused interest in London. His statement, which was quoted in all London papers, that the British do not expect the United States to enter the European war caused astonishment and widespread disagreement, altho it was stressed that Kennedy may not have told Mr. Roosevelt the same thing that he told reporters.

There appears to be a growing belief that the United States will enter the war soon. Hope is being expressed that America will come to the aid of Finland. One paper said American refusal to help Finland would be a betrayal of mankind.

Quotes London Times.

A writer in the London Times said erroneously that the United States was a party to the provisions of the Versailles treaty and as such is responsible for the alterations effected by it on the map of Europe. His plea was for American intervention on behalf of Finland.

"Will the failure to intervene before long alter the present tolerant attitude toward Americans in empire colonies?" London observers asked.

Already it has been said that England and France are fighting in America's defense.

One of Lord Rothermere's newspapers said: "The Americans must know that some very hard things are being whispered from citizen to citizen in this country about them. They are being accused of a complete lack of responsibility toward civilization, of political moronism, of caring for nothing but money, of blaming everybody else and of doing nothing themselves in a situation which they helped to create."

KENNEDY TALKS SHIPPING PLANS WITH ROOSEVELT

Hope to Find Routes for Idle Vessels.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—Plans for returning to the high seas American vessels rendered idle by the neutrality act and for expansion of the southern lumber industry were the principal topics discussed today by President Roosevelt and Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador to Great Britain.

The top ranking American envoy conferred with the President for two hours in the morning and returned to the White House late in the afternoon to continue their discussions into the evening. In the meantime Kennedy reported to Secretary of State Hull and to members of the maritime commission.

Meeting Delayed a Day.

There was no indication that the red haired ambassador had at any time reported on European matters "too confidential for the cables," which he had announced as the purpose of his visit on his arrival Wednesday by Clipper plane. The White House had postponed for a day the President's conference with Kennedy to emphasize Mr. Roosevelt's statement that Kennedy had not been summoned home for conference, but was making the trip to spend the Christmas holidays with his family.

Just before he entered the main door of the White House Kennedy amplified his third term declaration for Mr. Roosevelt, made on his arrival at Port Washington, N. Y. He said he favors a third term, because he is for a man "it won't take two years to educate" for the job. No man, no matter how brilliant or earnest, is prepared to take over the presidency except Mr. Roosevelt, he insisted.

Seek Lumber Market.

Kennedy announced beforehand he was prepared to present plans to aid American shipping and the lumber industry. At his press conference, which cut off the morning discussion with Kennedy, Mr. Roosevelt summarized the two hour session with the former head of the Securities and Exchange and maritime commissions, who was rewarded for his work in those posts by being selected as the first Irish-Catholic ambassador to Britain.

Outside War Zones.

The plan to revive American shipping, which has been under consideration for two months, contemplates the use of American flag ships on trade routes outside of the war zones and now being operated by belligerents, the President said.

He said the shifting would not be a matter of arrangement with belligerents, explaining that if certain non-American lines would be moving their vessels into direct wartime services the merchant marine would like to take over nonwar routes.

The trade would be between the United States and British ports outside the war zone and the United States and neutral ports. Mr. Roosevelt estimated that the greater part of such trade would be with neutrals.

The President also said he had discussed with Kennedy means of developing the southern pine lumber industry since competing Scandinavian lumber has suffered in western Europe because of naval warfare and blockades.

ENGLAND HOLDS GERMAN SHIPS IN FALKLAND BASE

PORT STANLEY, Falkland Islands, Dec. 8 (AP).—This 25th anniversary of the battle of the Falkland Islands, in which the British Vice Admiral Sir Doveton Sturdee crushed the roaming German squadron of Admiral Graf von Spee, finds the Falklands playing an important part in Britain's new war with Germany.

Arrow locates base where British hold German ships.

Operations of the British blockade in the South Atlantic are concentrated here, at Britain's most southerly naval station. Behind the hills that hide the inner harbor are a number of steamers, reputed to be captured German merchantmen. British authorities refuse to speak of their number or identity, but say officially that quite a number of German sailors are being held. Gov. Heniker Heaton is in charge of a prize court.

The Falklands' day in the headlines came on Dec. 8, 1914, when Admiral Sturdee caught up with Von Spee's two armored cruisers, three light cruisers, and three supply ships that had been ranging the seas as raiders since the war began. Only one vessel—the Dresden—escaped from the battle of the Falklands. The battle marked the collapse of German cruiser warfare and gave to Britain, outside the narrow seas, control of the world's ocean routes.

and no mention was made of causes or casualties.

French Ship Damaged.

A 1,194 ton French freighter, the Oued Tifled, arrived at Cartagena, Spain, badly damaged by either a mine or torpedo.

The crew of the Belgian rescue ship Louis Schied was rescued itself by a breeches buoy after its vessel went aground in the English channel. The Louis Schied, which yesterday had picked up 34 survivors of the sunken Netherlands motorship Tajandoen, was abandoned south of Dartmouth, England, it was believed.

In the war thus far total gross tonnage of at least 790,469 has been destroyed; of this, 439,442 tons were British—99 merchant ships and 10 naval vessels. The known death toll was 2,389.

German Ship Reaches Port.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 8 (AP).—The Finnish press bureau today said that the damaged 7,885 ton German freighter Oliva had arrived at Mantyluoto, Finland, after having been fired upon three times by a Russian submarine. One shot hit the freighter's bow and members of the submarine's crew came aboard to inspect the Oliva's papers, the press bureau said. The attack was said to have taken place Tuesday night off the coast of Utoe.

FINNS DUEL REDS WITH ARTILLERY; HALT TANK ARMY

Russians Near Ancient City of Viipuri.

could be discerned from a distance or from the air and that soviet flyers had been machine-gunning their own troops.

As far as could be learned here the Russians have made no progress in their drive to cut Finland in two since their advance across the eastern frontier as far as Kuolajarvi.

The Russians were said to have been driven back with heavy losses after an engagement near Ovre Slottet.

The Finns said most of the troops they were encountering were from the Kirghiz soviet socialist republic, a constituent republic of the soviet union in central Asia.

They said their foes were brave fighters but were being cut down by Finnish machine-gunners.

Finnish scouts again reported sighting warships resembling Britain's off Petsamo, but said Russian men-of-war apparently had gone.

Says Finns Will Fight to End.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 8 (AP).—Russian calculations of Finnish weakness have miscarried because the Finns will "fight to the end—even after the end," Prime Minister Risto Ryti said tonight in a nation-wide broadcast.

"Russian action against Finland was based on incorrect information and an error in calculation," he said. "It was supposed that the defensive capacity and the spirit of the Finnish army and nation could be broken by savage destruction. The result will be a disappointment to soviet Russia.

"The Finnish people at this moment are fully united, firm as steel, and ready for the greatest sacrifices in behalf of their independence and their existence, for they are fully aware of what awaits them under the rule of such men as Mr. Kuusinen."

[Otto Kuusinen is chairman and minister of foreign affairs of the soviet sponsored people's government set up at Terijoki.]

"If compelled to do so we shall fight to the end—even after the end. A conquest of Finland will not be a parade but will demand at every side heavy sacrifices from the attacker."

REDS CLAIM ADVANCES

MOSCOW, Dec. 8 (AP).—The Moscow radio tonight broacast an army bulletin which said Red troops were "proceeding successfully northward and on the flank" in the Karelian isthmus, where soviet commanders yesterday claimed to have broken Finland's main defense line.

An earlier communique said the soviet forces also were pushing into Finland along the center of the Finnish eastern frontier and in the far north above the Arctic circle.

Tass, soviet official news agency, distributed a statement from the headquarters of the Leningrad military area which declared that Russia neither used nor intended to use poison gas.

[A Finnish government spokesman in Helsingfors Thursday said army physicians were treating 11 cases of gas poisoning at Salmi, on the northern shore of Lake Ladoga, where heavy fighting has been reported. He made no mention, however, of the source of the gas.]

Deny Plan to Bomb Sweden.

Tass also distributed a statement describing as false and sheer fabrication Finnish reports that maps and documents found on captured Red army prisoners indicated that Russia had bombing targets on the eastern coast of Sweden and the Aaland Islands.

An earlier communique of the Leningrad military area headquarters which covered yesterday's activities said the advancing Russian forces had seized Finnish supplies and downed two Finnish warplanes.

In the north, it said, soviet troops reached a point 45 kilometers [28 miles] south of Petsamo, Finland's outlet to the Arctic ocean, advancing over Finnish mine fields and piercing entanglements erected by defense forces.

Capture Finnish Guns.

Along the center of the Finnish eastern frontier, the 800 mile border between Finland and Russia from Lake Ladoga to the Arctic ocean, it said, soviet troops broke the Finnish resistance and pushed the Russian vanguards 70 to 75 kilometers [43 to 46 miles] within Finnish territory.

These forces, it said, captured six 75 millimeter [2.95 inch] and nine 37 millimeter [1.45 inch] guns, 20 heavy and 37 light machine guns and several storehouses filled with food and supplies.

The Finns were said to have left many wounded and more than 300 frost bitten soldiers on this front.

Tass, official soviet news agency, confirmed the arrival in Moscow Thursday of Gen. Johan Laidoner, commander-in-chief of the Estonian army, and reported a warm welcome to him by the soviet union's highest dignitaries.

Spain Expresses Sympathy for Finland Over Invasion

MADRID, Spain, Dec. 8 (AP).—The Spanish government today expressed sympathy for Finland in her fight against Russia. Minister of Government Ramon Serrano Suner said the gravity of the international situation was increased "by Russia's barbaric invasion of Finland."

Principal events of the day in the soviet Russian war against Finland are shown on the map. The areas in black are Finnish territory believed to have been captured by soviet forces.

RED CROSS OPENS FUND COLLECTION FOR FINNS' RELIEF

James B. Forgan, chairman of the Chicago chapter, announced yesterday that the American Red Cross will receive and administer contributions designed for relief in Finland.

"The chief needs in Finland are at present reported to be medical and hospital supplies," he added. "To help meet the immediate crisis, the American Red Cross has cabled funds to the British Red Cross to purchase the most urgently needed biologicals, which are being flown from London to the Finnish Red Cross in Finland."

FINN AID PLEDGES POUR IN AFTER HOOVER APPEAL

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 8 (AP).—A flood of telegrams from American newspapers, individuals, and organizations pledging support to the Finnish relief fund followed an appeal today by former President Herbert Hoover.

Many were received at his hotel suite here and others went to headquarters of the fund in New York city.

"We are tremendously encouraged by the response, and by the speed with which collection of the fund can be accomplished," said the former chairman of the wartime commission for relief in Belgium.

Issues Appeal for Help.

"America has a duty to do its part in the relief of the hideous suffering of the Finnish people," said Hoover in his appeal for help issued earlier in the day. "Our people should have an outlet in which to express their individual and their practical sympathy. I have consented to organize a nationwide Finnish relief fund for this purpose.

"Finland is not a rich country. The people have little reserve for emergency. They are making a heroic defense. Air attacks have compelled the evacuation of civilians from their towns and cities. Hundreds of thousands of women and children have been driven from their homes in the middle of northern winter. Many are destitute.

"The American Red Cross has appealed for funds to furnish medicines, hospital supplies, and many garments will be provided thru their chapters. They should be supported. The two funds will cooperate fully.

How Funds Can be Sent.

A nation wide sponsorship is being constituted for the general conduct of the fund. Emergency supplies can be obtained in Norway and Sweden pending shipment from the United States. My former colleagues in Belgian relief have volunteered to undertake the work of administration under leadership of Mr. Edgar Rickard, and an office has been established at the Graybar building, New York City. Contributions may be deposited with your bank, with directions to transmit it to the Finnish relief fund at the Chase National bank, New York.

"I hope that those who can afford it will contribute generously. Contributions no matter how small are the evidence of our sympathy."

100 FINNS SAIL FROM NEW YORK TO FIGHT REDS

New York, Dec. 8 (Special).—More than 100 men will sail to join the Finnish army and more than 100 large cases of clothing for war sufferers will be shipped tomorrow. The fighting men will depart on the Swedish liner Gripsholm. Thirty of them, members of the Finnish war veterans in America, fought the bolshevists for Finland's independence before 1919.

The Finnish consulate today reported it has received $15,000 in contributions to the general relief fund and $5,000 for the Finnish Red Cross.

Red Cross Cables $6,000.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The American Red Cross cabled $6,000 to London today for the purchase of anaesthetics for the Finnish Red Cross.

RUSSIA GOES ON TRIAL TODAY AS AN AGGRESSOR

Finns to Prosecute Reds Before League.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Dec. 8 (AP).—League of nations diplomats tomorrow open the first act of the trial of soviet Russia, charged with aggression against Finland.

Jakob Suvits.

It promises to be Geneva's greatest show since sanctions (economic penalties) were voted against Italy for invading Ethiopia four years ago.

Finland and the South American states are cast in the rôles of prosecutors. Finland demands expulsion of Russia and the South Americans ask her expulsion from the league as punishment. The latter threaten to quit the league if their wishes are not met.

Empires Put on Spot.

Their position put on the spot Great Britain and France, who long have been the leaders of the league. The odds, however, were that they would press the ouster of Russia unless the Russians resign first.

Russia's present delegate, Jakob Suvits, ambassador to Paris, sat in the league budget committee room tonight with the Finns, the Latin Americans, and the Poles all present. He apparently has orders to remain as long as the budget committee meets, but he will not be present at the trial before the council, opening tomorrow, and the assembly, opening Monday.

The budget committee wiped out back dues owed by the former Spanish republic, Ethiopia, and Czechoslovakia, and gave Lithuania a 75 per cent reduction in dues because of the loss of Memel, 1,099 square miles of territory, to Germany.

Delegates Discuss Procedure.

League delegates tonight discussed procedure on the Finns' appeal.

The old council meets tomorrow without its Russian president, Ivan Maisky, ambassador to London. The league secretary-general, Joseph A. C. Avenol, will present the Finns' appeal. The latter are expected to declare that they seek the moral condemnation of the Russians as aggressors.

The council then passes judicial powers to Monday's assembly meeting. Assemblymen, representing all league members, will elect a new council, probably excluding the Baltic states and China as possible friends of Russia. Then they are expected to appoint a small committee to decide whether the Russians are aggressors.

League circles reported "slight differences" between France and Britain over procedure. France was said to be supporting the Latin American move to expel Russia, while Britain was said to be apprehensive lest the meetings develop into a Red-baiting session which would divert attention from Germany as the empires' No. 1 enemy.

BRAZIL SEALS RADIO OF A GERMAN LINER EQUIPPED AS RAIDER

SANTOS, Brazil, Dec. 8 (AP).—Brazil's neutrality laws were applied today to seal the radio room of the speedy German passenger liner Windhuk, which arrived here yesterday in disguise and equipped for sea raiding.

The master of the 16,662 ton vessel, Capt. Willy Brauer, declined to give details of the ship's long voyage from Lobito, Portuguese West Africa. The vessel flew the Japanese flag and displayed the name Santos Maru. She carried 35 passengers and 5,000 tons of cargo.

The passengers said they were required to sleep in their lifebelts during the long zigzag journey because the crew had signed an agreement to sink the ship rather than let it be captured. Before making fast here the Windhuk, which left Lobito Nov. 17, hoisted her German colors and the crew painted out the false Japanese name.

FASCIST LEADER BACK IN FINLAND TO FIGHT RUSSIA

One Time Rebel Forgets Political Quarrel.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 8.—Maj. Gen. Martti Wallenius, Finnish Fascist leader and former chief of the Finnish general staff, has returned to Finland from Germany to volunteer his services in the war with Russia, it was learned today. He has been restored to his former rank and is serving in the Mannerheim line.

Maj. Gen. Martti Wallenius. [Acme Photo.]

Wallenius and Vihtori Kosola organized the Lapua [Fascist] revolt in 1932, which was suppressed by the Finnish army. The Fascists, who attempted to march on Helsingfors, had demanded that the government outlaw the communist party. Wallenius and Kosola were sentenced to prison.

During a brief visit to Helsingfors today, Wallenius said he had forgotten his political differences with the present Finnish government when he heard of the Russian invasion.

During Finland's war for independence in 1918 Wallenius was in command on the northern front at Kuusamo.

Ski Troops Attack Reds.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAPARANDA, Sweden, Dec. 8.—A report from Kijiservi today said Finnish ski troops had attacked 7,000 Russians who landed on Petsamo fjord. The Finns were said to have inflicted heavy casualties. More than 2,000 Russians were reported killed.

Finnish forces around Petsamo, Finland's ice free arctic port, number about 20,000, it was said. This number is considered sufficient to handle the situation in the north, since the Russian communications and supply organization are described as deficient for warfare in the snow covered arctic area.

Reports from Tornio, Finland, across the border from Haparanda, say that many Russians are fighting for the freedom of Finland.

The Swedish Red Cross is expected to send its first war hospital to Finland about Christmas time. It will be sent via railroad by way of Haparanda. Gifts are said to be streaming in so rapidly that plans are afoot to organize one field hospital and several mobile ambulances.

The number of volunteers registered in Stockholm today was said to be about 3,000, almost enough to form Sweden's first volunteer regiment to fight for Finland.

Hint Germans Change Attitude.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 8.—Hints of a change in the German attitude on the Finnish fight are noted in Stockholm. A report that some newspapers in Berlin are mentioning Finnish successes under broad headlines is emphasized by the fact that German picture agencies suddenly ordered telephotos last night of the devastation in Helsingfors.

It is reported that the establishment of a communist government by Otto Kuusinen at Terijoki in Finland near the Russian border and stories of Finnish heroism caused strong reactions in German army circles.

A Swedish correspondent, referring to deliveries of Italian and British fighting planes, says Finland possesses at least 5,000 fully schooled fighting aviators.

Sweden Prepares Defense.

Sweden's defensive steps embrace a partial mobilization in northern districts, full manning of the fleet and coastal fortresses along the eastern coast and the mining of some parts of territorial waters at inlets to the Gulf of Bothnia.

While the Russian press and radio have started attacks against Rumania and Turkey, it is reported that Moscow propaganda against Sweden suddenly has ceased.

A report from Helsingfors says 21 Russian pilots have been shot by Russian secret police for refusal to obey orders and for sabotage in connection with the first air raids on the Finnish capital.

RUSSIA DISOWNS PACT DEMAND ON RUMANIANS

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 8 (AP).—The Russian charge d'affaires today told Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu his government had not approved an article in the Communist International which demanded that Rumania sign a mutual assistance pact with Russia. The charge d'affaires said the article in the organ of the communist international organization expressed only the author's private view and that Russia considered Rumania's relations as friendly.

STORMS SWEEP NEW YORK AND ATLANTIC COAST

New York, Dec. 8 [Special].—A gale which brought winds of 60 miles an hour to New York City and of hurricane force to New Haven, Conn., swept almost without warning today along the Atlantic coast.

In the New York City area ten persons were injured. The storm turned over buildings, smashed windows, ripped off roofs, damaged power and telephone lines, and delayed traffic.

Off Tarrytown, N. Y., the wind swept a ferryboat onto a sand bar. The 25 women and children on board were stranded in the Hudson river for nine hours.

Mrs. Sarah Schenck, 65 years old, and her husband, George, 69, were rescued after the five barges broke away from a tug in Long Island sound. One bargeman is missing. Two of the barges overturned and three were blown aground. Off Riverhead, Long Island, the coast guard rescued Capt. James Gibbons and his crew of nine from a drifting barge.

Off Cape Hatteras a couple and their two children were rescued by an oil tanker when their sailing yacht was wrecked.

CHICAGO FEATURES AMERICA'S FINEST

By CALEB

"LA-DEES and Gentleme-e-en, step up close, please! Step right up! Today is your last opportunity in a long twelve-months to see the incomparable International Live Stock Exposition—the greatest live stock show on earth! See the creamy white and pampered, pink-eared pigs. See all the various aristocrats of the world of swine. See the well-upholstered, smooth-as-butter, woolly sheep—see the black-faced minstrel sheep, and the sheep with crinkly horns. See the broad-backed beeves, the elegantly groomed beeves with hair as curled and 'coiffed' as a Floradora girl's.

"See the stately, shapely horses that prance to applause; see the jumpers and runners—and, ladee-e-e-s and genn-n-ntlemen, don't fail to see the great, the colossal, the ton-and-a-third draft horses, with backs like dance-floors and hoofs eight inches wide. See the Clydesdale's amazing showers of silvery silk fetlocks, that are anachronisms of ornament to such breadth and brawn! See the tiny ponies—dainty denizens of childhood's world. Step right up, ladies and gentlemen, and visit this magnificent spectacle—'the greatest animal show on earth!'"

So great are the attractions, so stupendous is the undertaking, that I wonder each year why iron-lunged spielers and hawkers are not shouting this show justice from every Chicago street-corner. If you contemplate the scale of the undertaking—and the premier character of the cast—the Stock Show is something to get excited about. It is earthy and fundamental. It's a brilliant and noteworthy phenomenon that is typically Chicagoan.

All this is worth seeing and appreciating—the drama of size, and the culmination of rehearsals on a thousand farms through many long months. But there is still another reason for seeing this show—a quiet reason, and personal to you. A reason old as the race itself.

It is probably true that men are benefited by occasional returns like this to contact with things earthy; with the land, clean crops, grown things, and dumb, dependent animals. If you ever lived on a farm, if you ever visited a farm, if you ever spent any happy hours in the country—it will do you good to commune again with these fine fruits of rural America. Go to the Live Stock Exposition today—if you haven't been there this week—and recapture, with a little imagination, the country days or hours when you may have known as much about some of the really important things of life as the 4-H boys and girls who contribute so greatly to the show.

SHAKEUP IN NAVY GIVES U. S. FLEET NEW COMMANDER

Admiral Richardson Will Assume Post.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—A shake-up of ranking officers of the navy, involving the high command of the United States fleet, was announced tonight by Acting Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison.

Admiral Claude C. Bloch, 61 years old, commander in chief of the fleet, will be relieved on Jan. 6, 1940. He will be succeeded by Admiral James O. Richardson, also 61, now commander of the battle force of the fleet. In getting the navy's coveted command post Admiral Richardson jumps a long list of ranking navy officers. He was number 40 on the list of admirals in the navy register of last July 1, having received his appointment to the grade in 1934.

Largest Since March.

The shakeup in the navy was the most embracing since last March 15, when Rear Admiral Harold R. Stark, 59, who was promoted to flag rank only two years ago, was named chief of naval operations to succeed Admiral William D. Leahy, 64, who retired and was named governor of Porto Rico.

At that time Admiral Bloch, who had been in command of the fleet for a year, was retained in the rank. His replacement in January comes out of the regular season of naval shifts, as the commander in chief of the fleet and other high ranking navy officers are usually changed in May and June.

Tonight's shakeup was the third in the year. In addition to the shifts of last spring, four admirals were transferred in the engineering and construction division last August as a result of the scandal over faulty design of destroyers.

Bloch to Pearl Harbor.

Admiral Bloch will relieve Rear Admiral Orin G. Murfin as commandant of the 14th naval district and navy yard, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, in April, 1940. Rear Admiral Murfin retires from active duty on May 1, 1940, upon reaching the statutory retirement age of 64 years.

Admiral Richardson will be relieved on Jan. 6, 1940, by Vice Admiral Charles P. Snyder, 60, now commander of battleships, battle force. As commander of the battle force, Vice Admiral Snyder will have the rank of admiral.

Vice Admiral Snyder will be relieved on Jan. 6 by Rear Admiral William S. Pye, 59, now commander of destroyers, battle force. As commander of battleships, battle force, Rear Admiral Pye will have the rank of vice admiral.

Holmes Relieves Pye.

Rear Admiral Pye will be relieved early in January, 1940, by Rear Admiral Ralston S. Holmes, 57, now commander of destroyer flotilla one, battle force.

Rear Admiral Holmes will be relieved early in January, 1940, by Capt. Milo F. Draemel, 55, commandant of the Naval academy at Annapolis. Capt. Draemel has been selected for promotion to the grade of rear admiral.

Admiral Richardson, who will be commander in chief of the fleet, was born in Paris, Tex., Sept. 16, 1878, and was appointed to the Naval academy during the Spanish-American war. He served in the Asiatic fleet from 1902 to 1904 and with the Atlantic fleet until the world war.

Service at Academy.

During the war he was navigator and later executive officer of the battleship Nevada. After the war he served at the Naval academy, in Asia, and in the navy department in Washington as assistant chief of ordnance and director of officer personnel.

In September, 1935, he was appointed chief of staff and aide of Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, then commander in chief of the fleet. This service and service in 1937 as assistant chief of naval operations, led to his selection as commander in chief of the fleet, it was reliably learned.

President Roosevelt, because of his intense interest in naval affairs, had a hand in the selection of Richardson and the other naval shifts.

German Does Double Duty as Mayor and Air Fighter

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—Unique in military annals is Mayor Mix of Wiesbaden, a keypoint in Germany's Siegfried line. Since the middle of September the mayor, 41 years old and a world war ace, has been doing double duty as pilot of a fighting plane and chief executive of his city. He is credited with having downed three French planes and has received his second iron cross. When he returns from his flights he drives 4 miles to the city hall to resume his mayoral duties.

FRENCH PATROLS DRIVE TO EDGE OF SIEGFRIED FORTS

Advance in Night; Rout Planes Near Paris.

PARIS, Dec. 8 (AP).—Infantry and artillery activity on the western front was reported tonight by the French high command's communique:

"Local activity of contact units and artillery."

[The German communique said, "In the west, little local reconnaissance activity."]

Patrols Move Near Lines.

French patrols advanced almost to German defense lines, military quarters said, in night excursions following Germany's resumption of patrols on the front. Numerous patrols were sent out, these quarters said, and some penetrated almost to the Siegfried line fortifications system.

The French returned without reports of serious fighting.

Military quarters also stated German reconnaissance planes flying high failed in an attempt to reach the Paris region during the night. No explanation was given of how the planes were turned back.

Other German aircraft were said to have flown over eastern France.

Daladier Criticizes Russia.

Premier Edouard Daladier today placed France's official sympathy on the side of Finland and bitterly criticized Russia.

In his first public pronouncement on the conflict, Daladier followed British leaders and termed the Russian invasion of Finland "an abominable outrage" producing "universal disgust."

"Finland," he told a cheering chamber of deputies, "has France's salute and assurance of profound and strong sympathy."

He announced the veteran diplomat and League of Nations Representative Joseph Paul-Boncour and Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs Auguste de Champetier de Ribes would be France's delegates to the league meetings opening tomorrow to debate Finland's charge of aggression against Russia.

NAZIS' RATIONING SYSTEM TO CUT BARLEY FOR BEER

BERLIN, Dec. 8 [Special].—Beginning Jan. 1 war rations will hit German citizens where it will really hurt. After that date their beer will be affected. The German government has decided to reduce by 500,000 tons the barley rations issued to breweries, which means the barley content of beer will be cut from 12 per cent to 10.3 per cent. Bock beer, brewed in the winter months, will not be obtainable for the duration of the war, it was announced. The barley saved by this measure will be largely utilized as fodder and coffee "ersatz" [substitute].

HUNGARY RUSHES MOUNTAIN FORTS; WATCHES RUSSIA

Fears Moscow Intends to Invade Balkans.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 8 (AP).—Fortifications are being constructed at top speed in the Carpathian mountains by Hungary as the countries of southeastern Europe watch Russia's campaign in Finland for an indication of what their own fate may be. Cement is almost unobtainable in Budapest because of defense work.

The mountains form the new frontier between Hungarian Ruthenia—the easternmost province of Czecho-Slovakia before that republic's dismemberment—and the Russian occupied part of Poland.

A strong feeling runs thru southeastern Europe that if Russia should attain her ends in Finland she may turn in this direction in the spring. Steps therefore are being taken to meet any such possibility.

Voice Sympathy for Finns.

Sympathy for Finland has been exhibited thruout the region, especially by the Hungarians, who, in addition to strong anticommunist leanings, are racially related to the Finns and have maintained cultural contacts with them.

Several demonstrations have taken place in the Hungarian parliament.

In Bulgaria alone—traditionally bound to Russia by ties of race and culture—has there been defense of Russia's action.

Bulgarian newspapers, while voicing sorrow over Finland's trial and appreciation of Finnish valor, say Russia's moves in the Baltic are necessary to assure her security.

Picture Magyars as Defenders.

This attitude caused uneasiness among Bulgaria's neighbor states where, in some quarters, she was suspected of counting on Russia to help her regain her own losses at their expense.

In Hungary there was redoubled talk about the possibility of the Magyars once more assuming the historic task of "defending western civilization from eastern invasion" and wide predictions that Hungarians might be compelled to bear the brunt of a possible Russian thrust westward as they once stood against the Turks.

FIRE HITS INSULATING PLANT.

A fire yesterday destroyed $2,000 worth of house insulating material in the plant of the Insulating Engineering Service, 2715 Irving Park road.

Speed Fortifications

(Story in adjoining column.)

Black line marks Hungarian-soviet Russian frontier, where Hungary is building fortifications at top speed while all the Balkans fear Red aggression.

75 MEN INVADE REDS' MEETING; CRY 'TRAITOR'

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 8 (AP).—Jeers and cries of "traitors" from a group of 75 men, many wearing badges and hats of veterans' organizations, gave police a busy hour tonight at a mass-meeting of communists celebrating the 22d anniversary of the soviet union.

They marched into the hall behind an American flag as Albert E. Blumberg, communist candidate for mayor last year, was declaring the soviet union "did all it could to prevent the second world war."

Several men began singing "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." One yelled, "Why don't you stand up when you hear the national anthem?"

Speakers attempting to explain the invasion of Finland were drowned out.

JAPAN SETS ASIDE MORE BILLIONS TO FIGHT CHINA WAR

Levies New Taxes for 4th Year of Invasion.

TOKIO, Dec. 8 (AP).—The cabinet council today approved the largest budget in Japan's history in preparation for the fourth year of the undeclared war in China, a war which many Japanese had expected to win in six months.

The council approved a 1940-'41 general budget of 10,360,000,000 yen [approximately $2,427,657,500], of which 6,767,000,000 yen [$1,583,478,000], or approximately 65 per cent, is for Japan's army and navy.

The new budget, the fifth successive record budget for Japan, is approximately 1,100,000,000 yen [about $257,000,000] over that of last year and calls for new taxation.

To Tax Meals.

New levies include three sen [about one-fourth of a cent] on a cup of coffee costing 20 sen [about four and one-half cents] and a 10 per cent tax on meals costing three yen [about 75 cents] and taxes on cats and goldfish.

Approval by the cabinet makes it virtually certain the budget will become law. It will go before the diet [parliament] which convenes Dec. 24 for a three month session, but in a quarter century no budget has been rejected or substantially amended by the legislature. Japan's budget year is April 1 to March 31.

The new budget allots 4,460,000,000 yen [$1,043,640,000] for the China war, of which 2,973,000,000 yen [$695,682,000] goes to the army, 737,000,000 yen [$173,000,000] to the navy, and the rest to a reserve fund.

Over 4 Billions for War.

In addition there is a "domestic" allocation of 1,279,000,000 yen [$299,286,000] to the army and 1,028,000,000 yen [$240,552,000] to the navy.

The new budget will raise Japan's appropriations for the China war over a four year span to a total of about $4,342,000,000. This in addition to normal army and navy expenditures.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike for another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other."—From the Farewell Address.

ANOTHER TOUCH SUCCEEDS.

Each week the secretary of the treasury borrows a little over a hundred million dollars. Some of that goes to pay government notes which fall due, and some of it provides for the continuing deficit. The sale of baby bonds brings in another regular source of funds. And a little bit dribbles in from postal savings.

The hundred million a week, the baby bonds, and the postal savings fall short of meeting the treasury deficit, however, and so from time to time there are bond issues. On Nov. 27 the secretary of the treasury found that an extra half billion dollars was needed and offered for sale that amount of 2 per cent bonds, due in 1950, the year after the hundredth anniversary of the California gold rush.

The response to the offering was excellent. A half billion dollars was not anywhere near the amount of money people and institutions [mostly institutions] were willing to lend the government at 2 per cent.

Shake hands all around on the success of the treasury's latest touch. Because the government's credit is still good there is great cause for gratification. But it is the cause of the deepest concern that, after running the debt above the 40 billion dollar mark, and after absorbing all that the people can save in the form of postal savings and baby bonds, a hundred million dollars a week isn't enough to keep the government going, but it must come forth with extra issues.

That such financial operations constitute a wasting away of the wealth of the country is perhaps not generally understood. If a thrifty man lends his money to a spendthrift relative or friend, who quickly uses the money for living expenses and then comes back for another loan, there can be no question but that capital has been destroyed. It is capital which cannot be invested to produce an income. If the spendthrift happens to be a government instead of a poor relative the result is precisely the same.

The fact that the government gives evidence of its indebtedness on an engraved piece of paper, while the relative only gives a plain piece of paper on which I. O. U. is written, does not save the capital. When capital, which is created by saving, is turned over to the government and shot away in a war, paid out as a burocrat's salary, embodied in useless public works, or even spent for a purpose every one is willing to concede is humanitarian, the capital is destroyed. It ceases to be available for investment in factories, buildings, machines, railway cars, and ships.

Some have been confused because for a time, at least, the government bond which was given in exchange can be sold, while the spendthrift relative's I. O. U. becomes worthless at once. But when it is sold to a new saver it simply means that one person's savings are being substituted for another. The government bond is not wealth but an evidence of wealth which has been destroyed. One nation after another has learned that a government cannot create wealth with a printing press.

While an individual is spending the means of others he has borrowed he appears to be prosperous. And by using the capital of the country for spending money during the last few years we have several times had the feeling that prosperity was back. But these flurries didn't last. For sustained periods of prosperity we must not consume capital, but use it in productive ways. Poverty lies ahead for the individual who wastes his patrimony. It is the same for a whole nation.

SECRETS FROM WHOM?

Efforts to learn how the army and navy plan to spend the vast increases in appropriations that the Roosevelt administration is advocating are unavailing. The war and navy departments assert that the information is "utterly confidential." It has also been announced that the hearings before congressional committees will be behind closed doors, because military secrets are involved.

The generals and admirals do not say to whom these matters are a secret. They are certainly no secret to foreign powers. The latter do not have to rely on spies. Their military, naval, and air attachés keep them fully posted on the progress of American defense. For all the hush-hush attitude at Washington, the United States has only a couple of first class military secrets, both in the field of aviation. The mechanism of the semiautomatic rifle is certainly no secret, and a European power wouldn't have our artillery specifications as a gift.

The only people to whom the details of our rearmament program are in any way secret are the last from whom those details should be withheld. They are the people who pay the bill, the people of the United States. Our society has no place in it for the mysteries of a martial priesthood, and there is no disposition by really competent military officers to seek such a place. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, former chief of staf, voiced the intelligent American officer's attitude when he told an Armistice day audience in Chicago:

"Let the people demand publicity as to the state of defense and satisfy themselves that all weapons and equipment are sufficient and equal to the demands of modern war. They cannot trust their safety to any hands but their own, nor can they expect the government to act except upon impulse from them. National defense is the people's business and should not be a military secret."

It is only little minds that seek to make technical mysteries of their vocation. They are more concerned with their fate as placeholders than with the safety of the nation. Because navy bureaus are arranged to provide the maximum of soft shore berths at the cost of minimum efficiency we get topheavy destroyers. Because the army insists on retaining a monopoly of artillery manufacture in its own arsenals we have no modern heavy artillery.

It is such conditions that secrecy is designed to perpetuate. Instead of contributing to national defense it weakens it. In the present state of mind the American public is willing to approve any expenditure, however large, for the purpose of genuine national defense. It is equally determined that this nation shall not embark on foreign military adventures. Is the present secrecy at Washington imposed by the political officers of the government to cover up an armament program designed not for defense, but aggression?

THIS IS THE RED McCOY.

The communist press in the United States conducts the Finnish war on the American front, and a peculiar war it is, not a war of aggression but of a peace of liberation. To begin with, if our communists are to be believed, there was an attack upon Russia, not by the Finnish people but by the Finnish White guards, instigated by Wall street, Mr. Roosevelt, and the imperialists of Europe.

A Finnish force, representing not the people but the Whites of Gen. Mannerheim, resurrected from twenty years ago, was hurled back into Finland and the soviet army of liberation began its triumphal progress. The Finnish People's Democratic party, springing to freedom as the liberators advanced, formed the democratic Finnish republic, and concluded a treaty of friendship with the soviet union. The soviet union is now at peace with the Finnish republic.

The Whites are trying to overthrow the liberties of the Finnish people and massacre the democratic Finnish population as they retreat before the liberating army. The Finns gladly welcome the advance of the Russians and say they do not know what the fighting is about and have nothing but admiration for the skill and democratic spirit of the Red army.

There have been no bombings of civilian populations and many military objectives have been spared because they will be useful to the Finnish people when the White guards have been thrown out. The soviet invaders did destroy the White guard airport at Viipuri but the Red airmen did not blow up the nearby electric power station. They were farsighted and were thinking of the morrow, when the working people of one of Finland's biggest towns will need the power.

All is sweetness and light in Finland and nothing vexes the peace of the country except the devilties of the Wall street supported reactionaries, who will soon be ejected to make way for a democratic government fostered by Comrade Stalin. Finland is only a philanthropic incident in the life and good works of the great ruler of the soviet union, from whom blessings flow in an outpouring of humanity and charity.

McNUTTS TO ICKES.

Mr. Ickes, who volunteered to be the Goebbels of the Roosevelt department of propaganda, doesn't like Mr. Paul V. McNutt. Mr. Ickes is easily irritated and nothing makes him madder than the suggestion that the former high commissioner of the Philippines is destined to go higher still and is now a white haired boy favored by the White House. These reports couldn't possibly emanate from Mr. McNutt because he's not the sort of fellow who would go about saying how well he was liked and how favorably the chief regarded his candidacy. Maybe one of the White House spokesmen throws out suggestions to annoy Mr. Ickes, who says that no New Deal liberal favors Mr. McNutt.

That's a strange commentary. Mr. Roosevelt must have some regard for Mr. McNutt. Did not Mr. Roosevelt make him administrator of the social security act and even give him a piece of Mr. Ickes' department of the interior when Harold himself was sent back to the Indians and the forests?

The chief hasn't given any evidence that he thinks Mr. McNutt is a political bounder and unfit for association with New Dealers. Mr. Ickes' distrust of Mr. Roosevelt's judgement is a strange reflection upon his devotion as a hundred percenter.

Mr. Ickes' theme song is that there is only one candidate for the New Deal, can be only one, and will be only one, the same being Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Ickes is probably quite aware that unless his wish comes true and his demand upon the party is honored he will lose even the remnants of the federal job he now possesses and enjoys so much. Even if the New Deal could find another New Dealer than Mr. Roosevelt, it is almost certain that the successful heir would not stand for any of the others and that Washington would be cleaned out of the present gang to make room for the new man's own fellows.

UNSUNG URBANITES.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

Leaf raking among the urbanites begins early and lasts as long as the weather permits. November this year was notably benign, with its mellow days and its dearth of rain. The rakers, therefore, were privileged to pursue their tireless garnering of the useless until "bleak" December—not yet very bleak—came to their relief.

Autumn leaves are one crop that never fails. It needs no quota control and no tariff protection. It is a fixed, inglorious festival which the urbanite must join lest his neighbors call him negligent. It starts early, continues late, and the only souvenirs it leaves behind are the ruddier cheeks and firmer muscles of the rakers.

Markham found in the man with the hoe a poetic inspiration. We nominate the man—and the women and children—with the rake for some appreciative laureate to weave a paan on.

SAYINGS FOR SATURDAY.

Now that the flight from communism has become a stampede among the intellectual termites, an old, old question might be restudied with profit to Americanism. It is:

"Do radicals become queer? Or do queer people become radicals?"

* * *

To prepare for the discussion read "It Was Smart to Be Red," by Eugene Lyons, in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post. It is a well documented study of communistic trends among American writers during the last 10 years, and it will open the eyes of many readers who have been curiously blind to a sinister—and silly—phenomenon.

Why many of the so-called Riesling wines of California are now labeled Rhine wines:

The alcohol administration division of the treasury department has ruled that the name of a grape may not be used unless the wine derives at least 51 per cent of its volume from that grape. Wine bottlers are advised to call Rieslings of less than 51 per cent either "Rhine," "Hock," or "dry white wine."

PEGASUS AT THE STOCK SHOW.

So we went to the International Live Stock Exposition
And saw animals full of nutrition;
And in addition to considerable amusement
We found several reasons for enthusement:
As long as little boys raise such fine hogs,
This country's not going to the dogs.
While a lad of a dozen years
Keeps his mind on raising champion Aberdeen-Angus steers,
He won't ever let any war minded guy
Put a gun on his shoulder and teach him how to die.
I'd rather see youth showing a ribboned horse in style
Than learning how to say "Heil!"
And the word "draft" no cause for remorse is
When applied not to soldiers but to great big horses.
Also, here's a place where "bull"
Doesn't mean something of which propaganda is full.
As long as the 4-H Club ladies can meat and jell
And do so many other things so well,
Misgivings about the future of the American home
Indicate the misgiver has a reverberating dome.
Exhibits from Illinois, Wisconsin, and Ohio
Show why the C. I. O.
Doesn't get far with farm organization
Which is cause for elation.
Only
There's this one cause to be moanly:
When farmers raise so much of everything, it's a pity
So many folks are hungry in the city!

The Education of an American—II.

[From "The Child's Guide to Knowledge," published in London in 1871 and used as a textbook in an American private school in that period.]

Q.—Has not a very large diamond been recently brought to England? A.—Yes; it is called the Koh-i-noor, or the Mountain of Light, and was formerly in the possession of the Great Mogul.

Q.—How did the English obtain it? A.—They took it from the Sikhs in the late war.

* * *

Q.—Has not the emperor of Russia a large diamond? A.—Yes; it supports the eagle on the Russian scepter. It weighs nearly 200 carats, and is about the size of a pigeon's egg.

Q.—What story is told of this diamond? A.—It was once placed in the eye of an idol, in Seringham, in the Carnatic; a French grenadier contrived to become one of the priests to the idol, and stole it.

MADONNA OF THE CHAIR.

(Original by Raphael at the Art institute.)

Thruout this weary world is many a door
Which opening leads away from carking care;
And whoso entereth will find a store
Of visions, richest magic, beauty fair.

To me, from off a drear December street
Fate opens such a door with kindest grace,
And shows me what I ne'er have dreamed: to meet
Madonna della Sedia face to face.

No marvels with which this our day is rife,
Not all the wealth of this our favored land
Can grip the heart like her who came to life
Four centuries back from young Sanzio's hand.

Six Versions of Gettysburg Address.

There are six accepted versions of Lincoln's Gettysburg address, all very much alike but differing in minor details. Three are stenographic records, taken at the time of the delivery of the speech. Two are slightly altered copies, transcribed by Lincoln for friends [owned by private collectors]. The sixth and standard version, in general use, is Lincoln's third revised copy.

The draft of the speech that Lincoln took to Gettysburg, but did not use for reference while he was speaking, is continually on display in the Congressional library, close to the shrine that contains the original draft of the constitution.

IS "JACK A DULL BOY?"

PARENTS who receive word that Johnny is not doing well in school may be inclined at first to place the blame on our educational system. But such a coöperative gesture should be looked upon as an expression of real interest. Fathers and mothers can work with the instructors for the welfare of their offspring.

About the last conclusion that should be reached is that the youngster is lazy. Children will work hours overtime on tasks that inspire them. Much, of course, depends upon the manner in which the subject matter is presented. The most fascinating topic can be as dry as the Sahara desert at the hands of a prosaic mentor.

The time to start on the hunt for the cause of poor grades is at the first sign of apathy. Many a pupil who is observed to be indolent, inattentive, or dull may be a victim of bad tonsils, decayed teeth, sinus infection, or a low grade anemia. A dreamy attitude with lack of attention or the apparent inability to concentrate may typify a smoldering rheumatic disorder. Growing pains—which were once thought to be natural and proper—we now know point to some trouble in or about the joints or within the muscles themselves. But whatever is wrong, it is usually a matter of attention and adjustment and the family physician should be consulted.

Now and then, however, we will find a boy or girl who has been pushed ahead so rapidly that bewilderment ensues. Instead of relying upon understanding and enjoyment of the lessons of the day, in self-defense they fall back upon learning by rote—committing things to memory. While a few may progress satisfactorily on this plan, the great majority will become nervously keyed up and emotionally disturbed.

Of course, there is such a thing as substandard intelligence. But great caution must be exercised before this pronouncement is made. We must recall that Liebig, the most distinguished chemist of all time, was labeled "dunce" in school after school. The explanation was that he failed to find a single stimulus in the humdrum routine of the course of study which he was obliged to pursue.

On the whole, we are likely to find that the mental age coincides with the year age. On the other hand, some little ones are naturally slow and deliberate. While they are of equal intelligence they take longer at everything. But with them, what is learned is retained. The brilliant, flashy type of mentality all too frequently burns out.

Occasionally we will encounter a true emotional conflict wherein the child may dislike school because he is in a state of perpetual fright, fearing his teachers and many of his schoolmates. Such a one will never do justice to his studies until he masters his mental processes. All that is needed is a friendly conversation [perhaps a number of them] with persons who are interested in him.

The case is reported of a 16 year old high school lad who had struggled along with low passing marks for three colorless years. As a senior, the subject of biology attract him or—perhaps we should give the credit to the teacher whose descriptions of the phenomena of nature fascinated him. He began to remain in the laboratory long after hours, performing extra exercises not required. Later he expanded his reading and gathered a fair amount of illustrative material from the woods and the ponds of the neighborhood.

At the conclusion of the term he was serving as a volunteer assistant, helping to set up demonstrations and experiments and correcting notebooks. This was the first glimpse any one had obtained of the keenness of his observations and the possibilities for development which lay within him. Encouraged to pursue the field as a life work he finished at the university with high rank and is today one of our best known zoölogists.

Schools cannot supply brains, but they do have some responsibility in finding the field which is most intriguing to the student and which will arouse his capabilities. But he must be physically well. The quiet, reticent, seclusive type needs a generous allowance of outdoor play.

TRY TO ACQUIRE IMMUNITY.

1. What causes this condition?
2. Is there anything I can do to rectify it?

REPLY.

1. You are sensitive to cold.
2. Keep the hands and feet warm and avoid chilling. Immunity may be acquired gradually by adapting your skin to cold water. At first the periods should be brief.

H. P. T. writes: Is it harmful for a patient taking treatments for syphilis to drink beer?

REPLY.

While small amounts will probably do no harm, the use of alcoholic beverages is not advised.

HALT CROOKED ELECTIONS.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Congratulations to the public officials who ordered the vote recount. Here's hoping that no motheaten laws, no political pressure, can prevent them from completing this great civic work.

Sufficient dishonesty has already been uncovered for the decent members of our state legislature to act. At the next session a bill should be introduced carrying a straight five year jail sentence for dishonesty on the part of any election official in the state.

Why not the formation of a great organization known as "The Taxpayers' Vote Recount Organization." Buttons and automobile stickers could be used to indicate membership and interest in good government. JOHN J. MANGAN.

INDIANA GAS TRUCKS HERE.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—How much longer is the automobile public going to put up with these trucks from Indiana loaded down with from 5,000 to 8,000 gallons of gas? These trucks are using the streets of Chicago 24 hours a day, running the automobile owners off the streets. They have only Indiana license plates. No Illinois plates, no city sticker, no safety sticker, and they are all reckless drivers. I would like to know just how they are getting by and who is back of them.

THE DESIRE OF MILLIONS.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Millions upon millions of people the world over would be joyous if the brave Finns could but keep the bloody soviet Reds out of Finland.

Millions upon millions of Americans would be overjoyed if we could disregard the constitution long enough to take the present soviet commission, now here in this country regarding the purchase of airplanes, all communists, Fascists, Nazis, Silver Shirts, and their like, and kick them right out of our fair land into the middle of the Atlantic ocean.

DIES FOR PRESIDENT.

Clinton, Ind., Dec. 5.—Regardless of our party affiliations Congressman Martin Dies is the fearless American we should all support for the presidency. Let's start a boom for him and draft him for the job, even tho he has never given us an inkling that he wants it.

With all the dangerous, skulking, underhanded "isms" gnawing at the vitals of our country no man would be better fitted to restore us to real Americanism.

TELL POSTAL INSPECTOR.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—If H. A. I. and others who have sent 25 cents thru the mail to the street photographer and have received no pictures for their money would notify the postal inspector in Chicago as I have done, it will help to put a stop to this racket.

Unless the inspector is notified, how is he to know about these things?

The more complaints he receives the stronger the case will be. MRS. W.

LUXEMBURG'S CENTENARY.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—The grand duchy of Luxemburg celebrates this year its 100th year of independence and neutrality. The celebration, beginning last April, should have lasted to the end of the year, if Hitler had not spoiled and curtailed the program. The capital set the ball rolling with a historic pageant. Every town and hamlet was prepared to do its bit.

The government coined for the occasion the first real Luxemburger currency. It is a piece of an alloy of aluminum worth about 3 American cents. One side of the coin bears the inscription Letzeburg [the country's language] at the bottom. The reverse side presents a woman holding a bunch of cereals in her left arm. Her right hand holds a sickle. To the left in the center is shown the denomination, 1 franc [Luxemburger] and opposite the year, 1939—the 100th year of independence. JOHN B. MERKELS,

Former Vice Consul of Luxemburg.

A CONSIDERATE MOTORIST.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—We so often read about inconsiderate motorists that, to prove that not all drivers belong to this category, I am pleased to report the following incident:

Last Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. we were driving north on Clark street. At Bryn Mawr avenue, which has a "Slow Down" sign, the car ahead of us came to a complete stop. The driver stepped out of his car, and then we noticed a little girl of 6 or 7 standing at the curb on the east side of Clark waiting to cross the busy street. She was carrying some packages and a bottle of milk. The man in the car walked in front of his car, picked up the little girl, carried her thru the heavy traffic to the opposite sidewalk in safety, then went back to his car and drove on.

This is kindness and consideration at its best. The license number on the car was 77901. ELISE W. GLENZ.

A TRACTION SOLUTION.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—No purpose is served, from the city's standpoint, in further delaying the liquidation of the Surface Lines properties in the federal court.

For nearly 10 years these lines have used the public streets without paying any compensation to the city. They have operated under a "protective receivership" in the federal court, and, in the words of Judge Wilkerson, they have "used the federal court to aid them in carrying on their warfare against the city." [The "L" is now and has been paying the city during the same period about $250,000 annually for its "franchise."]

A proper regard for the people's rights dictates the following solution of the traction problem:

[1] Request the federal court to proceed with the liquidation of the Surface Lines properties.

[2] Replace all street car tracks and equipment with rubber tired bus transportation.

[3] Retain the elevated road for rapid transit, either under the present company or under municipal ownership.

[4] Complete the subway according to present plans and coördinate it with the elevated railroad and new bus transportation into a combined system with universal transfers.

Honest capitalization of a new company will not require an 8 cent fare.

ATTORNEY'S FEES.

Forest Park, Ill., Dec. 1 [Legal Friend of the People].—My father passed away about two years ago leaving a will. Two years before he died he lived with my older brother, paying him $3 a week for his room and board. This brother was made administrator of his small estate about a week before father died.

1. This brother put father's effects into [2] a joint safe deposit box with his own papers. These included a note for $1,000 signed by my brother, that he borrowed from father and not known by the other heirs and not mentioned in the will. Upon learning this quite by accident, [3] I hired a lawyer to represent me, and agreed to pay him 15 per cent of what I get from the estate.

4. Now they tell me this lawyer has no right to this money, but [5] I feel that he has, because I signed an agreement to that effect. Who is right?

6. Did I do right in engaging him? The attorney representing the administrator [or the estate] is [7] also representing the wife of the administrator, and is putting in a claim for $1,100 for taking care of my father while he was living at the administrator's home [and paying $3 a week]. How is this possible?

8. Do they allow things like that [meaning the court]? My father told me he paid his way and I know for a fact he even paid half the gas, electricity and coal bills. His estate only amounts to $5,000 and is to be divided six ways. T. H.

1. You do not make clear whether this was done with your father's consent.

2. The fact that the box was held jointly would not necessarily mean that the assets were owned jointly.

3. This lawyer is in a better position to advise you than we are.

4. We see no basis for such statements.

5. We agree with you.

6. Obviously we are not in a position to say whether you made a wise choice of lawyers, but we feel that it was wise for you to at least consult a lawyer on the many problems involved in your father's estate.

7. This would appear to amount to his representing conflicting interests. We assume that you mean that the wife is making the $1,100 claim. The reasonableness of the claim would depend on the facts on which it is based. It is conceivable that there might be nursing expenses in addition to the room and board.

8. Depends on the facts. Your attorney will be in a better position to advise you than we are.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

[From Tribune Files.]

Dec. 9, 1914.

[134th day of world war; 100th day of present war.]

BERLIN.—It was announced officially that Kaiser Wilhelm II. is ill. He is suffering from feverish bronchial catarrh and has been obliged to postpone his return to the front.

LONDON.—The great battle for possession of Poland continues. The front extends along 300 miles, and a victory over a part of it, at least, appears to have fallen to the Germans, while the Russians are bearing upon Cracow in the south.

ROTTERDAM.—"Have courage; we'll see you shortly," was the message to the people of Antwerp printed upon paper dropped from a French airplane which flew over the Belgian city today.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Reims was visited today by a German aviator who dropped three bombs upon the city, destroying buildings but injuring no one, according to dispatches to the French embassy from the foreign office.

BERLIN.—In northern Poland the German troops are closely pursuing the retreating enemy to the south and east of Lodz. The Russians today lost about 1,500 prisoners and 16 cannon with ammunition carts.

CITY CHILDREN, 10,000 STRONG, SEE STOCK SHOW

Total Attendance Reaches 389,000, a Record.

Today's Events

9 a. m.—Sale of individual steers shown in open classes.
1 p. m.—Horse show matinee
7:50 p. m.—Horse show.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Ten thousand school children took the International Live Stock exposition by storm yesterday. Their shrill yells and singing mingled with the tramp of horses decorated in ribbons and rosettes, the bellowing of steers led protestingly into the arena, and the bleating of shorn sheep.

It all added a high note of color and joy to the 40th annual exposition, which closes today after an eight day run at the International amphitheater, 42d and Halsted streets. With two horse shows yesterday as additional attractions, the estimated attendance to date was 389,000, a new record.

Chief Prizes to Juniors.

The presence of young Chicago yesterday was a fitting prelude to the closing hours, for it has been the juniors in the show who attracted the most attention and won the chief prizes. More and more young America is becoming farm minded. The base of this is the 4-H club membership of 1,300,000 youngsters and the supervision they have had in preparing their cattle and grain for show purposes. It is here that they find their high court of judgment, learn where they have failed and learn how to do better.

The sheep shearing contest was one of the main arena attractions yesterday.

Roland R. Burkhart of Pandora, O., won the contest and a $100 prize when he scored 901½ points out of a possible 1,000 in clipping the fleeces from three sheep. He beat 14 other state champion shearers. Burkhart took 11 minutes and 36 seconds.

Junior Champion Steers Sold.

Sales of animals fed in a junior feeding contest were the most interesting events yesterday for the contestants, who have worked for a year, perhaps, to get their animals into the best condition at the lowest cost.

Robert Carroll, 4-H club member of Aledo, Ill., sold his grand champion junior contest steer for 70 cents a pound. The steer was an Aberdeen-Angus weighing 1,190 pounds and bringing a total of $833. Louis Goecke of State Center, Ia., sold the reserve grand champion junior steer, a Hereford, for 25 cents a pound. This steer weighed 1,190 pounds and brought $297.50.

Record Price for Hog.

A new all-time high was paid for the grand champion barrow of the show, owned by Roger Amsler of Rensselaer, Ind. This supreme product of the swine world brought $1.55 a pound. Amsler received $472.75 for his hog. The previous high was two years ago when the champion sold for $1.26 a pound. The grand champion wether lamb, Penn Pattern, which won the purple ribbon for Pennsylvania State college, was sold for $1.25 a pound.

Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney and a prospect for the Republican presidential nomination, will get a handsome Christmas present as a result of this show. This will be half of the carcass of the reserve junior champion Hereford steer. This animal sold on the hoof for 25 cents a pound to the Supreme Packing company. The Beverly Country club will get half and Dewey the other half, which was bought by Conrad N. Pitcher, chairman of the house committee of the National Republican club of New York. Pitcher said he would send it to Dewey at this address, so the club members may feast on it.

Summary of Show Results.

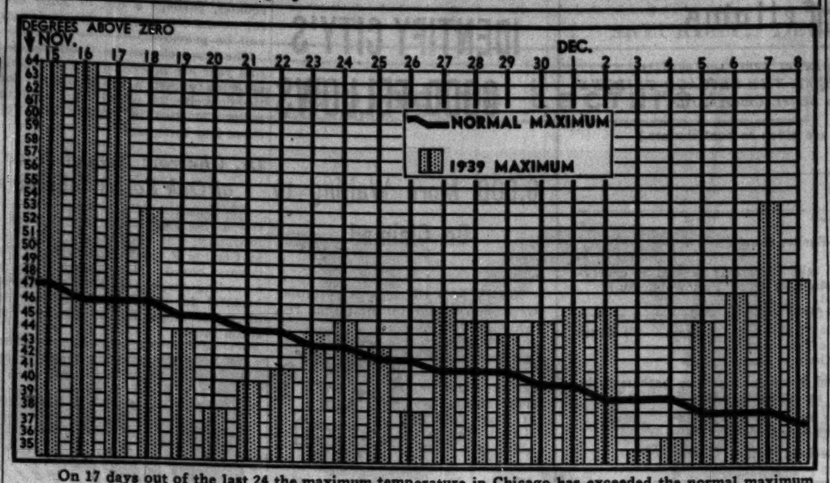
John T. Caine, superintendent of the show, in summarizing the results of this year's exposition, said:

"First, there have been a larger number of entries of high quality, so many that we had to sort them out.

"Second, there has been a big increase in the number of exhibitors, particularly in horses. Where a few firms used to send in animals, now hundreds of individuals do so.

"Third, the exposition has become increasingly important as a supreme court by which quality in animals is measured. The breeders and feeders from all of this country take their animals first to the county and state fairs, then the best of them come here."

Chicago Enjoys Warm Weather in December



On 17 days out of the last 24 the maximum temperature in Chicago has exceeded the normal maximum for the date. While on Nov. 16 the maximum was 18 degrees above normal, the lowest drop below normal, on Nov. 20, was only seven degrees.

A GOOD PRIVATE SECRETARY MUST USE DISCRETION

Brains Necessary in Confidential Work.

[Why are girls hired or fired? This is the eighth of a series of articles intended as a guide for the young girl seeking work.]

BY MARCIA WINN.

Discretion is the better part of a private secretary, as well as the better part of valor, Charles R. Boynton, office manager for the Hartford Fire Insurance company, believes.

His company, which occupies three floors in the Wrigley building, employs about 250 girls. Strangely enough, few of them are brightly blonde, a point Boynton had not noticed till it was called to his attention. Somehow he never hires the too decided blondes, altho he employs quite a few of what he calls "on the blonde order."

Brains Are Important.

Anyway, brains are what matter to him—brains and the ability to be discreet in discussing confidential matters with other employés or outsiders. The company requires that its girls have a high school education, and Boynton likes to know about their school records. If they were on the honor roll, so much the better.

"Brains count," he says. "The ideal girl for us, of course, is developed, bright, alert, and business-like, but I think the first essential is discretion.

"Of course, she has to be capable and able to take dictation rapidly and even to improve on it if you make a mistake. She shouldn't be too prone to dictate, but she should be helpful."

Neatness Is Necessary.

Nobody would want a girl, he says, who was over dressed, over painted, or excessively scarlet of nail. She should look businesslike and neat, he says, "not fancy, not old fashioned, but attractively up to date."

"I don't care how high their heels are," he added, "just so they can walk, but I wouldn't like them all in low heels, shuffling around. They'd look like they should be on the beach.

"They must be neat and well groomed and courteous, not only to people they meet in the office but to people they meet on the outside. They have to know how to talk over the telephone and how to take care of a situation when the boss is away.

Frowns on Flirty Type.

"When you select a girl you usually will select the right size, too—not terribly fat nor too tall. If she is sloppy, you won't want her, and we never hire the flirty type.

"I remember six or seven years ago," Boynton recalled. "We had a little girl in here. She put so much mascara on her eyes and she dolled herself up so much that I talked to her once or twice. I told her if she were on the stage that would be appropriate. She was rather nice to me, but she still put it on. I can't remember whether she was discharged on that account or not. I imagine so. Anyhow, she's not here. . . ."

Boynton's girl employés are not supposed to smoke, slip out for cups of coffee, nor read magazines in dull moments. There are no dull moments, he says. It's a busy place, and the turnover is only about 15 per cent a year.

Crocus blossom found yesterday on fairway of Flossmoor Country club.

MILD, SUNSHINY WEATHER WILL CONTINUE TODAY

Fair and continued mild weather for today, with a maximum temperature of about 52 degrees, was predicted by Forecaster G. E. Dunn. Yesterday, under bright sunshine, the high mark was 48 degrees, at 1 and 2 p. m. A normal maximum for Dec. 8 is 37 degrees.

Since Nov. 15 the maximum temperatures have been above normal on all but eight days. The highest mark was 64 degrees on Nov. 15 and 16, the lowest, 35, on Dec. 3.

Frank Brunner, manager of the Flossmoor Country club, taking his customary walk around the club grounds yesterday, found a crocus in bloom on the tenth fairway.

The weather bureau is planning a new service to assist sports enthusiasts during the winter months. Beginning Dec. 15, district centers at Detroit and Marquette, Mich., Duluth and Minneapolis, Minn., and Milwaukee, Wis., will gather data on snow, ice, and road conditions each Friday. Bulletins to inform skaters and ski jumpers what to expect each week end will be issued from Chicago, these reports being used as a basis.

POLICEMAN NABS 2 BANDITS AFTER CHASE AND CRASH

Single handed and without firing a shot South Park Policeman John Oglesby caught two confessed bandits last night after a dangerous automobile chase, which ended in a crash, on the south side The two are Howard Dodson, 29 years old, and William Gallagher, 26, both of Springfield, Ill.

Oglesby was sitting in his squad car at Jeffery avenue and 71st street, while his partner, John Goldrick, was outside giving a ticket to a motorist, when Dodson and Gallagher sped past. Without waiting for Goldrick, Policeman Oglesby chased them. He stopped them once, but they got away again.

Then he chased them about three miles thru Jackson park and finally to 67th street and South Shore drive, where they sidewiped another car and overturned three times. Dodson and Gallagher were slightly injured and were taken to the Bridewell hospital. A toy gun was found in their wrecked car. Police said they later admitted holding up the Whitfield apartment hotel, 5330 Harper avenue, and the Jeffery Parkway apartments, North, getting a total of $51.

U. S. ACTION LAGS ON SPY AND VOTE FRAUD INQUIRIES

United States Attorney William J. Campbell said yesterday he had "received no information or instructions from Washington about the Chicago vote fraud or espionage investigations." He added, "No files have been sent here, and I can make no comment."

The district attorney conferred with Leo F. Tierney, special assistant to the attorney general, who is directing the federal antitrust investigations.

Meanwhile State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney went before the December county grand jury, the third consecutive grand jury to concern itself with vote frauds. While it was not officially revealed what he told the body, it was reported that he discussed the election investigation which is also occupying most of County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki's attention.

Slicker Flips Out of Zoo to Make Breakfast Call

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Dec. 8 (AP).—Slicker, a sea lion, caused trouble today for zoo man, Clyde Beatty. Slicker climbed from his pool, wormed thru a wire fence, flipped a mile and a half down U. S. highway No. 1 and knocked at a kitchen door. When an early rising housewife opened the door, Slicker hopped right in for breakfast. Considerable crockery and kitchen bric-a-brac were smashed before the animal was tied up and returned to the zoo.

RULES A HUSBAND NEEDN'T SUPPORT HIS WIFE'S POOCH

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 8 (AP).—City Court Judge William H. Tompkins decreed today, in a five page decision, that a husband is under no obligation to support his wife's dog.

The jurist dismissed a charge of harboring a dog of dangerous disposition brought by Dr. Harold Leve against Lewis M. Thurston, his neighbor. Thurston produced a license issued to his wife and said she, not he, owned their 42 pound English bulldog.

Ruled Judge Tompkins: "While the husband still must support his wife in accordance with his means, while he is still primarily responsible for their children's support, he is under no obligation to support her dog. He is not responsible for its reversion to the wolfish traits of its ancestors."

U. S. JURY OPENS CHICAGO BUILDING QUIZ IN JANUARY

200 Witnesses Expected to Be Called.

The way was cleared yesterday for the start, early in January, of the federal government's grand jury investigation of the Chicago building industry. Leo F. Tierney, special assistant to the attorney general in charge of antitrust cases here, filed with the clerk of the United States District court authorizations for 13 assistants to appear before a federal grand jury in the building monopoly probe.

This was seen as the last formality preceding the actual start of proceedings before the grand jury. A Chicago inquiry to determine whether contractors and labor unions are conspiring to keep up costs in restraint of trade was announced early in the year by Thurman W. Arnold, chief of the antitrust division of the department of justice.

Probes Begun Elsewhere.

Four months ago Tierney was authorized to organize a special staff here and begin investigation. Meanwhile, similar inquiries have been launched in other cities.

Tierney conferred yesterday with United States Attorney William J. Campbell on detailed plans for submission of the cases to the grand jury.

It was reported that a grand jury to handle the building industry cases would be impaneled shortly after Jan. 1 and would continue working on such cases for at least two months. More than 200 witnesses are likely to be called, it was said.

The government's investigation will be directed, according to Tierney, toward finding out why building in Chicago has bogged down and why building activity in the suburbs is proportionately greater. Preliminary phases of the inquiry already have been under way for four months. One of these concerns racketeering aspects in the building inactivity.

F. B. I. Agents Assist.

The special investigators have been operating from special quarters at 208 South La Salle street. Tierney's agents have been assisted by William S. Devereaux, Chicago head of the federal bureau of investigation, and his staff.

Tierney was in charge of the investigation which resulted in the indictment on monopoly charges of 57 corporations and individuals in the milk industry and 23 corporations and individuals in the ice cream industry. The latter action has been dropped.

The special assistants qualified yesterday to appear before the grand jury are: George P. Alt, Washington, D. C.; Daniel P. Britt, Buffalo, N. Y.; Thomas H. Daly, Mason City, Ia.; Chester D. Johnson, Cherokee, Ia.; Lyle L. Jones Jr., New York City; A. Stewart Kerr, Chattanooga, Tenn.; David R. Mason, Missoula, Mont.; Sheridan Morgan, Kansas City, Mo.; Robert A. Nitschke, Shaker Heights, O.; Richard B. O'Donnell, Leicester, Mass., and Seymour Simon, Richard P. Shanahan, and Harry G. Coutts of Chicago. Coutts is a civil engineer. The others are attorneys.

DELAY TYPHOID CASE AGAINST BOWEN, 3 OTHERS

A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare, and three others indicted on charges of malfeasance in office in connection with the typhoid epidemic at the Manteno State hospital, yesterday were given until Dec. 21 to file their preliminary motions. Their counsel, Attorney John Mayhew, appeared before Judge Luther Bratton in Kankakee county Circuit court in Kankakee to ask that the cases, scheduled for hearing Dec. 11, be continued. State's Attorney Samuel H. Shapiro, whose investigation led to the indictments, objected to the continuance and said he wanted the trial ready for January. Those indicted besides Bowen are Dr. Ralph T. Hinton, suspended managing officer of the hospital; Dr. D. L. Steinberg, assistant managing officer, and Miss Lillian Williams, dietician.

SHANGHAI BRIDE LOSES PLEA TO DIVORCE WARNER

A jury of 6 men and 6 women returned a verdict last night in favor of Mason M. Warner in his divorce contest with Mrs. Madeline Warner. The jurors, in Judge Donald S. McKinlay's court, found that she deserted him, as he charged in a cross-bill, and that he was not cruel to her, as she charged in the original suit for divorce.

Judge McKinlay did not grant Warner a decree, however, withholding judgment until he rules Dec. 14 on Mrs. Warner's appeal.

Warner, 68 years old, is an advertising man and travel author living at Church and Hill roads, Winnetka. He met Mrs. Warner, who is 39, while she was a school teacher in Shanghai and married her in 1935. When the case reached court, he demanded a jury trial.

In Divorce Court

Mrs. Yvonne Burke as she appeared at alimony hearing.

Attorney James M. Burke and Mrs. Yvonne Burke appeared before Judge Rudolph M. Desort yesterday to talk over the $100 a week temporary alimony she is asking. Pushing aside his attorney, Roland Libonati, Burke told the judge that Mrs. Burke spends her evenings dancing and drinking and her days riding horses. Mrs. Burke, who is 30 years old, replied that she occasionally goes to taverns for soft drinks but that movies and knitting occupy most of her time. The judge made an unsuccessful attempt to reconcile the couple and then continued the alimony hearing until Jan. 5. Mrs. Burke has a divorce suit pending.

ROMEO RUSHES TO HIS JULIET; NOBODY'S HOME

New York, Dec. 9 (AP).—A dash of mystery was added today to that society drama which for nearly a month has been starring George Lowther III., 30 years old, and the girl he has been trying all that time to marry—Eileen Herrick, 20.

Lowther, a hero to Eileen but a villain to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Herrick, was foiled again.

Assured yesterday for the second time by the courts that he had a constitutional right to become Miss Herrick's husband—she being willing, as she is—he flew out to Long Island today, intending to go right up to the Herrick's Wainscott home, get Eileen and her luggage, and fly to a preacher in Alexandria, Va.

But the Herricks—mother, father, and Eileen, along with a detective and a nurse—had left in one of the family automobiles before George got there. Where they went nobody knew.

THREE NATIONAL GUARD GROUPS HOLD REUNIONS

Three Illinois National Guard units held homecoming reunions last night. In the armory at 16th street and Michigan avenue veterans of the 131st (Dandy First) Infantry held their 12th annual get-together in honor of the memory of Lieut. Gen. Joseph B. Sanborn, world war colonel of the regiment.

For the 21st time the old 1st Illinois Volunteer Cavalry and the 122d Field Artillery obeserved their annual reunion in the Field armory at Chicago avenue and Fairbanks court. Maj. Gen. George P. Tuner who served with the unit during the Spanish-American and world wars was guest of honor.

GALA FESTIVAL TO MARK FINAL SHOPPING RUSH

Only Thirteen Buying Days Until Christmas.

With only 13 shopping days left before Christmas, downtown merchants propose to turn the remaining interval into a merry holiday for shoppers with music, entertainment, and new and enticing window displays.

Two thousand retail stores are lengthening shopping hours to 9 p. m. Transportation services, traffic police, hotels, restaurants, radio companies, and parking lots all are cooperating with the Downtown council, which is promoting the celebration. In neighborhood shopping areas similar plans will be put into effect.

Plan Street Broadcasts.

Fifteen radio stations are collaborating on a series of broadcasts which will shower the streets with yuletide music afternoon and evening, starting next Thursday. From noon to 2 and from 5 to 7 p. m. each day until Christmas eve the giant amplifying system will carry programs.

At other hours bands of carolers will sing and a hundred strolling troubadours will serenade the crowds.

Arrange to Handle Crowds.

Railroads and bus lines are arranging schedules to add at least 60 extra coaches daily to their services. Street car and elevated lines also are increasing their carrying capacity. Taxicab companies are adding to their fleets. One hundred fifty patrolmen and traffic police will augment the force to safeguard the crowds.

With large numbers expected from the suburbs and more distant towns, hotels are making special provisions for the period. Restaurants, hotel dining rooms, and tearooms are preparing special Christmas season menus.

Trixie, Crippled Children's Pet Dog, Dies of Rabies

Trixie, the pet fox terrier of 22 crippled children in the orthopedic class at the Haven school, Evanston, died of rabies yesterday. The dog's illness was discovered last week. The crippled children in the special class, and 21 other children and teachers in the school who had come in contact with the dog, are now taking the Pasteur treatment. None of them had been bitten, but the treatment was ordered as a precaution.

AN ALIEN THREATENED BY DEPORTATION MOVE FINDS SANTA IS REAL

Carmen Calcagno, now 21, was brought to the United States from his native Italy when he was 2 years old. He believed that his father, who died a few years ago, had become an American citizen. But when the son was arrested for purse snatching in July, 1933, and sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac prison, it was discovered this was not true.

Calcagno, thus being an alien, was subject to deportation on his release after serving six years, since he had been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude. Italy, however, is a strange land to Carmen Calcagno. He has no relatives there now. He does not speak Italian. So his widowed mother and four sisters appealed to Gov. Horner.

Yesterday the family received a welcome Christmas present. Assistant United States Attorney Paul Levin announced that Gov. Horner has given Calcagno a full pardon. This clears his record and automatically halts the deportation proceedings. The government is satisfied. Carmen has paid his debt to society and has promised to be a good citizen and help support his mother and four sisters.

ROBS HOME OF CASH AND JEWELS.

A burglar yesterday broke into the apartment of Miss Stella Coroneos, 1137 North Franklin street, and stole $75 and $180 worth of jewelry.

MAYWOOD POLICE AND FIREMEN GET 2 YEARS' BACK PAY

Fifteen policemen and 14 firemen of Maywood agreed yesterday that there is a Santa Claus.

Regular firemen and patrolmen in the suburb are paid $142.50 a month, while police sergeants have been getting $155. A state law passed more than two years ago stipulates a minimum of $175 in municipalities of more than 25,000 population. Maywood has 27,000. The 29 men sued for back pay, and the courts upheld them.

Checks, which amounted in most cases to about $700, were presented to the men yesterday by C. O. Krausser, village president. The money was obtained from a $21,000 bond issue. Voters recently approved a new tax to assure future payment of the salaries.

I. C. Does Something About Smoke on Electric Trains

They puff and they puff, until Illinois Central conductors hardly can see to punch tickets. Not the locomotives. The women. So, beginning Monday, every train of six cars or more will include two smoking cars instead of one. Shorter trains will have to get along with a single smoker. The announcement was made by J. V. Lanigan, passenger traffic manager. He was gallant about it and didn't mention the ladies directly. He just said the extra smoking cars were to relieve congestion.

4,000 BUTTONS IDENTIFY CITY'S GOOD FELLOWS

6,000 More Waiting to Be Claimed.

Nearly 4,000 Chicagoans yesterday were wearing for the first time red, white, and green buttons identifying them as Good Fellows of 1939.

Good Fellow button.

Six thousand more buttons are at The Tribune Good Fellow office at 1 South Dearborn street, waiting to be claimed by Good Fellows. Every one who contributes a dollar to the Good Fellow fund of volunteers to deliver a Christmas basket of his own to one of the needy families on the Good Fellow list becomes a Good Fellow and will get a button. And children can become Junior Good Fellows and get buttons by giving 25 cents to the Good Fellow fund.

Many contributors are pooling their efforts in collecting money or food for baskets, and several business and club organizations are donating baskets and money raised by volunteers among their members. All of these contributing members will receive their buttons.

Office Party Planned.

One original idea is that of Miss Lanna Long of the Hyland Electrical Supply company, 700 Jackson boulevard. She is organizing a party to benefit a needy family she learned about thru the Good Fellow department. Her idea is to turn the usual office Christmas party into one of real and lasting significance.

Miss Long recalled parties of previous years in which grab-bags were provided at considerable trouble, but which usually resulted in gifts that few wanted or needed.

"This year," she writes the Good Fellow department, "all of us are going to have a good time; everybody's name goes into a box and three will be drawn to act as a committee to get the food, three will be delivered, and three will be the delivery committee.

Peace and Good Will.

"Maybe Mary had a fight with Suzy day before yesterday, but when they are busy assembling a holiday basket for somebody else neither will remember what it was all about, and if the sales manager and the porter have to be two Good Fellows delivering packages maybe both will come back better men."

Most of the needed food and other gifts will be provided by the party guests, each of whom is asked to bring a few things—canned goods, cookies, perhaps a toy, or some useful household article. All essentials will be provided.

The three classes for Good Fellows this year are described in the accompanying coupon, which is printed for the convenience of all who wish to make Christmas a happier time for those less fortunate.

Dr. Chesrow Named Head of Oak Forest Infirmary

Traffic Light Mittens New Fashion Rage

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Mittens for color, mittens for comfort, for fun, and for fashion . . . the mitten supplies around the town break all records. Angora comes in every imaginable tint, shade, or husky color with the new stop and go duets taking the lead. The mittens are of white angora, one has a gay green thumb and a tiny patch of green as the finger tip area, the other a red thumb and the patch of red at the tip end.

Otherwise the angoras are pretty much the usual confectionery assortment, ready for color contrast duty for winter sports or for street wear with tweeds on a cold day in town.

Knitted yarn mittens are the gaudiest things in the shops . . . at least a dozen different colors are used for some of them. The designs are equally vivid. Sentimentalists will like the bleeding hearts, the flowers, and tiny doll house patterns. Nothing blazes like the finger mittens of yarn with each finger a different color.

Ear muffs, ear bands, and even good sized muffs are matched and sold with mittens. There are white fur mittens with black velvet lining and black velvet mittens flashing with gold kidskin or silver kidskin trim for dress parade occasions. Some of the velvet mittens boast colorful embroidery. White kid mittens, pulled in at the wrist with a string of leather ending in tassels, are plenty effective with party coats. These come plain and fancy, with or without embroidery, bowknots, and so on.

New arrivals include amazingly soft suede mittens called, for some far fetched reason, "baby boxing gloves." They don't look anywhere as lethal as the name. These, too, are pulled in at the wrists with tasseled thongs of the same suede. The colors are delectable . . . raspberry red, pink, several shades of pastel blue, green, navy, brown, wine, and black. The price mark of around $2 makes them finds of the week.

Biography of the World.

The only way to find out what is happening in the world today is to consider the day's news not as an isolated thing, but to turn back a hundred years. Author Biographer and Historian Philip Guedalla, who is in town this week, points out. If we do that we need not be discouraged, for in the last hundred years freedom for mankind has gone steadily ahead.

"Even dictators who seem so permanent have, like buildings in a world's fair, only the look of permanence," black-browed, brilliant Author Guedalla told members of the Contemporary club yesterday morning. They have not permanence because they are not a result of the steady growth of man's steady progress toward liberation, he said.

* * *

A survey of the freedom of the world in 1839 and now, as reviewed by Guedalla:

In 1839 central Europe was unfree and under an Austrian chancellor, Metternich. Italy was unfree, Russia was unfree. Spain, in the middle of a Carlist war, was balancing half way between freedom and unfreedom. France, under Louis Philippe, was not really free. Great Britain, for all its constitutional freedom, was not a great weight in the councils of the world. The United States, in the third year of the administration of President Van Buren, certainly was not great in the councils of the world as set against the military despotisms of Europe.

In 1939 central Europe is still unfree, as are Russia and Italy. Spain is still doing her balancing act. France, the north countries, Belgium, Holland are free. Great Britain and the United States are free. . . . "Unfreedom has stood still and freedom has gone ahead," summarized Lecturer Guedalla.

* * *

Children are like their parents and so is history, Guedalla pointed out. The nineteenth century, usually summarized as an age of walrus whiskers and repressions, actually was an age of enormous liberation. Two events were the motive power—the American revolution in 1776 and the French revolution in 1789. They really helped to drive the water that propelled the mills of the nineteenth century in the process of revolution.

* * *

The Guedallas have just returned from South America. Mrs. Guedalla, lovely and vital looking, sitting at tea in a friend's house in a chic frock and a fur hat like a shako, confided she was desperately eager to get back to England. Mr. Guedalla wants to write an American history next.

Famous Monk Has Brilliant Art Exhibition

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A remarkably beautiful exhibit of religious painting and portraits by Dom Gregoire de Wit, a Benedictine monk from the Mont Cesar abbey of Louvain, Belgium, is hanging in the east lounge of the Edgewater Beach hotel.

This is not at all the usual kind of show one associates, perhaps unkindly, with a religious exhibit. Dom Gregoire is a painter of extraordinary ability and combines a skilled technique with a most delightful fancy. He uses a variety of backgrounds on which to paint his Madonnas and saints and you will find yourself standing lost in sheer rapture at the beauty and whimsey of his creations, some on canvas—some on wood.

Dom Gregoire's color is rich; the tones of his reds and blues are full and luscious. The charm of the primitive is coupled with contemporary feeling. One has no need to copy religious paintings of earlier centuries when the artists of the church today can do such rarely beautiful and inspirational paintings as are these of Dom Gregoire. Very wisely in the current show the strictly religious pictures, the delightful Madonnas and Child, are interspersed with portraits and two or three cathedral interiors. The portraits are among the most sensitive and perfect pieces of paintings that have come our way in a long time. One cannot help but be enthusiastic; they are entrancing.

Dom Gregoire has a brilliant reputation in Europe. His exhibit of 1926 at the Hague which was made up of 60 paintings was bought up eagerly to the tune of $40,000. It seems incredible that a nonmodern painter could have met such success, but this man did. Other exhibits of his were equally successful. He is one of the great painters in Europe today. The current show attests the fact.

Assembly Ball Is Formal, but Peppy Party

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

The Assembly rightly is called Chicago's most exclusive, most elegant ball. But this does not mean that it is stodgy or dull, for the governors, all of whom are youngish and a few actually young, made a great effort this year to have the party peppy and gay.

Comfortable and cozy were the words one of their feminine assistants used in describing how they wanted the ball to be, for they know that even on the most formal occasions nowadays people demand some of the qualities that make informal entertainments fun.

Consequently the men spared neither time nor money in planning what they thought would contribute to the success of the ball. Judging from the early part of the night, we would say the governors succeeded in making this year's Assembly ball as comfortable and cozy as such a large and formal function could be.

To say the hosts did not spare money is not being entirely truthful, for altho the decorations were lovely, the music good, the supper ample and delicious, the wine excellent and plenty of it, the men do watch their expenditures. They contribute the difference between their in-take and out-put to the Community Fund, and they always want the sum to be a goodly one. With this in mind, the hosts changed from white orchids to purple ones for the women in the receiving line.

The ballroom of the Palmer House where the Assembly was held seemed much smaller than it really is, and this was no accident. The green and gold decorations planned by Mrs. Ford R. Carter were arranged definitely to make the mammoth room more cozy and intime. The four corners were screened in gold and in each corner was a lighted gold urn holding a great spray of long needle pine and gold cones. The two orchestras sat together at one end of the room against a gold background, and on the other three sides were pyramidal arbor vitae trees, some recessed and with lights shining up into them. Not a flower was used, and the effect was Christmas-y and gay without being colorful.

The pillars in the corridor were garlanded in green, and the big urns in the foyer contained trees of woodwardia. The supper tables in the Red Lacquer room were ornamented with pine, golden balls and candles.

The menu consisted of double consommé, Melba toast, hearts of celery, mixed olives, chicken a la king served from chafing dishes, Julienne potatoes, new peas, assorted cheeses, crackers and coffee.

For the first time the receiving line was divided, with half of the women standing on the right of the entrance and the other half on the left. This expedited "going down the line," which heretofore has been a lengthy and slightly tedious process, both for the hostesses and their guests.

Mrs. William McCormick Blair, whose husband is chairman of the Assembly governors, was stunning in American beauty satin, made simply with a full skirt, and very becoming to her dark coloring. Every woman at the ball wore gloves, of course, for this is a season that demands formality in attire.

Mrs. Arthur G. Cable wore brown gloves to match her smart gown, which had a brown skirt and a brown and apple green striped bodice. Mrs. Lester Armour, Mrs. James H. Douglas Jr. and Mrs. Dexter Cummings were all in white, Mrs. Armour in crepe embroidered in gold and silver, Mrs. Douglas in faille with a black appliquéd border at the hem of the full skirt and black velvet shoulder straps, and Mrs. Cummings in full skirted faille. Mrs. Cummings' gloves were long white ones, Mrs. Douglas' were long black ones, and Mrs. Armour's short white ones.

Mrs. William R. Odell Jr. wore black net tiremmed with gold sequins, Mrs. Solomon B. Smith striped taffeta in burgundy and mauve with long burgundy gloves, and Mrs. Edison Dick creamy white brocade, full-skirted and with a little dark fur around the waist line. Mrs. A. Watson Armour III. was in gold lamé, and Mrs. John A. Stevenson in white lace with a tiny green moire bustle. Mrs. Robert A. Gardner wore a simple but lovely gown of white crepe.

A stunning black dress was that of Mrs. A. Watson Armour. It was of lace and with it Mrs. Armour wore black gloves and pearls. Her daughter, Mrs. W. Irving Osborne Jr., was lovely in silver lamé and pearls.

Some of the girls who were attending their first Assembly were Miss Gladys Kirk, Miss Margaret Hutchins, Miss Peggy Burrows, Miss Mary Hale, Miss Nancy Orr, Miss Sally Perry and Miss Barbara Mechem.

Robert Weede Is Success in Chicago Debut

BY EDWARD BARRY.

At the Civic Opera house last night Verdi's "Rigoletto" served as vehicle for the official Chicago debut of Robert Weede, American baritone. The performance served also to make us better acquainted with two other interesting personalities, Hilde Reggiani and Jan Kiepura, Italian soprano and Polish tenor, respectively.

In the rôle of the jester who gives his name to the opera Mr. Weede was dignified, resourceful, and vocally splendid. His voice was not big, but it was finely textured. He was able to express movingly the various emotions whirh wrack Rigoletto in the course of the story—paternal love in the duet with Gilda, noble fury in his address to the courtiers, the extremes of grief at the plight and final fate of his daughter.

Mr. Weede's official debut [he made a preliminary appearance, and a successful one, in the suddenly assembled "Pagliacci" of Nov. 18] ranked as a genuine success.

Hilde Reggiani, singing Gilda last night, retained her icy character thru the melting music of the second scene, but warmed up somewhat in the duet with Rigoletto one act later. Icy or not [and icy here means that she was content with a brilliant execution of the music and did not feel the need of letting its insistent emotionalism speak thru her to the audience] her performance was clean cut and full of bravura touches.

These bravura touches aroused so much enthusiasm in the audience that the show stopped several times. The funniest of these stoppages occurred after Mantua's farewell in the second act, when poor Gilda had to leave her garden twice to meet him outside the wall and share his applause. This running out into the street to meet tenors was in defiance of the instructions which her father had given her earlier in that very act, but it offered a diverting little episode for all that.

Mr. Kiepura as the duke of Mantua sang warmly and with wonderful beauty and variety of tone. Whether you approve or not of his habit of overselling the music and indulging his love of gesture, you must admit that nothing he ever does is perfunctory or uninteresting.

Leo Kopp, a strong willed conductor, set sturdy tempi and insisted that there be no such nonsense as lingering too long over a particularly luscious phrase. If the singer wasn't quite ready to leave, Mr. Kopp went anyway.

Beau from the 'Old Country' Has Her Heart

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I am in a lot of trouble. About 12 years ago, back home in the old country, I was keeping company with a young man whom I loved very much. Well, things happen in this life and I left the old home to come to the United States. I wrote him several letters but received no reply. So, I gave up the idea of ever seeing him again.

"Well, a short time ago things began to happen. I attended a party and who do I meet but my old love. To my surprise, I found him married and the father of one child. He told me that he does not get along well with his wife; that she treats him badly. He asked if he could call on me and pick up the old threads again where we left off. He says that he hopes to go to court some day and get rid of his unwelcome wife. I am afraid I still care for the man. I feel that it is not right to see him when he is married to this woman. What do you think? SUNNY."

What is your own honest opinion, Sunny? Don't you think it is pretty unfair of a man to ask you to put yourself in the position of being his girl while he is occupying the place of a married man?

How do you know that his story of his wife's ill treatment is genuine? How do you know but that he has brought on whatever treatment he may be getting, supposing it is bad?

You appear unexpectedly within his ken and temporarily revive, no doubt, the old romance of youth in his mind. He may hope to recapture it.

Aside from all of this is the question of the moral rights of the woman to whom he is married; likewise the claims of the child of which he is the male parent.

Women Pleased by Results of Opera Appeal

The women's committee of the Opera Foundation fund reported contributions of over $9,000 at a tea given yesterday by Mrs. Charles H. Swift. The committee was organized just a week before at the home of Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, so every one felt confident. Joseph Nate, campaign manager, added that this brought the total past $75,000. The goal is $200,000.

Part of the $9,000 was contributed yesterday, altho Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, who presided, stated that no contributions were being requested from the floor, only reports. When some one reminded the assemblage that donations were deductible on personal income taxes several women withdrew their $200 offers and said they were sure they could increase them after talking to their husbands.

An anonymous donation of $30,000 has been pledged in the campaign.

The women's committee reported an anonymous gift of $2,500, with the donor agreeing to buy $500 worth of tickets during each of the next two seasons. Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Mrs. Richard T. Crane, and Miss Gwethalyn Jones each gave $1,000 yesterday and Mrs. John Crerar gave $500. Mrs. Walter Cummings and Mrs. Fenton announced contributions but did not state the amounts.

Foundation fund memberships of $200 have been taken by Mrs. Carpenter, Miss Elsie McCormick, Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks, Miss Harriet Stuart, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Mrs. Leonard Ettelson, Mrs. Matthew McCulloch, Mrs. A. H. Patterson, Mrs. William B. Greenlee, Mrs. Rensselaer Cox, Mrs. Charles H. Hamill, Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, and Mrs. Carl M. Wynne.

Mr. Nate announced that the men have two subscriptions of $5,000 each, given conditionally upon there being at least 10 other subscriptions of that amount or more. Fred A. Poor is one of these donors and the other is anonymous. Gen. Charles G. Dawes has given $2,000, and there are two gifts of $500 each and one of $1,000.

Mrs. Walter R. Kirk will entertain the committee at tea next Friday. Mrs. Barnett Faroll announced that north shore workers would be given a tea on Dec. 18 by Mrs. Hill Blackett of Winnetka.

Know what one of the most popular of gifts is? Soap. Not the ordinary, everyday kind, but soaps that are a special delight to the sense of sight and the sense of smell, and that are beautifully bland. In a one-woman survey in which we questioned other women about what they'd like Santa to bring them, fine soaps stood amazingly high on the list.

Naturally, in this part of the country, where dry skin is as prevalent as dust in the air, women insist that their luxury soap be definitely mild and soothing as well as colorful and fragrant. So, when you're soap shopping, look for mildness and creamy texture first.

Luxury soap nowadays is not necessarily frightfully expensive. Some of the most popular in town, as a matter of fact, are distinctly inexpensive. Once used, they become a habit, and in several of the shops these plump, pretty cakes vanish from the counters at a great rate. The dry skinned women swear by them.

In these there are four fragrances that seem to surpass the others in popularity. We'd be hard put to it to find a favorite among the four. We adore the English blue bell scent, delicate and fresh, and we love the looks of the cake, in a soft blue with a raised design of the flower. The royal fern [this cake is pale green, of course] suits us, too, but we would never complain if we had only the fine rose geranium or the beautiful, rich honeysuckle.

This soap is very lasting; so is the scent. And the blandness of its creamy lather is a joy to the woman with sensitive skin. It's an ideal gift [it comes in nice gift boxes, by the way] that will be enjoyed long after the Christmas din has died down.

INSTALMENT XXIV.

NO HONOR AMONG THIEVES.

Papago was a lank, loose jointed man, and there was no suggestion of the Indian about him. His nickname had come from the fact that he had spent a good many years in the fierce desert that lies east of Yuma, the country of the Papagos. He was slow moving and his lids had a habit of descending while he was speaking until they almost hid his eyes. And he had absorbed all the knowledge of tracking that a white man is capable of assimilating.

So, while he drove along the road, without slackening his speed in the slightest, he was able to observe the few branches which led away, and to check the age of the tire tracks, the nature of the treads. And he knew the general characteristics of the tracks which Dillon's car would leave. In a country where travelers are few and far between such matters are easily remembered by observers.

There is another trick in tracking, as important as reading the signs themselves, and this is anticipating the intention of the quarry. When Papago had driven his battered little car as far as the spot where the road climbed up from the plain to the mesa to approach the mountains at the canyon mouth, he knew that the other car whose dust signal had remained visible after the last turnout, was headed for the Tanks.

It was getting dark by this time and he was driving without lights. He was, however, as familiar with the road as the average man is with the front walk which leads from the street to his doorstep, and he picked a spot where the bare rock would not hold telltale tracks. He turned off here and parked his car behind a granite boulder. When he left it he saw Dillon's headlights down on the flat ten miles or so away.

The Tanks lay less than a mile ahead of him. He made the distance on foot and when he reached the forks of the gulch he turned to the right. Now there was no trail, the bed of this side of the canyon was filled with enormous ragged boulders. He found a suitable hiding place and settled down to wait.

. . . . . .

It was getting on toward 11 o'clock that evening when Kent drove out from Golconda to the old Stone House mine. The branch road which led up toward the mountains had not been traveled much lately for the property was tied up in litigation and there was no work going on. The little cluster of buildings inside the mouth of the canyon looked desolate in the glare of the headlights; a couple of shops, a long bunkhouse, the mill with its walls of corrugated iron, a gaunt headframe. There was a light in the window of a one story wooden house which had been the superintendent's quarters. The door opened as he was bringing his car to a stop, and Papago stood on the threshold.

"I was looking for you an hour ago," Papago said.

"Business," Kent told him. "I got hung up. Find anything?" he asked.

"They came." Papago nodded. "Just the way you said they would. Dillon first. Then two others. I found the place all right. It's the Tanks. I was there waiting for them."

The lids descended before his eyes, his face looked like a long brown mask.

"You know the place?" And as Kent nodded, "Well then, you understand how the canyon forks just beyond the Little Mesa of the Dead, and the Tanks lie at the head of the gulch that leads off to your right. There's another, somewhere up on the mountain, so I've heard, but I never was there, matter of fact, there's mighty few white men know about it and anyhow it doesn't matter. I'd headed for the lower tanks and I was hiding in the rocks when I heard Dillon's car. Then I saw the reflection of the headlights and he stopped.

"And that's curious——" he glanced at his listener, let the lids curtain his eyes once more and puffed upon his cigaret. "I'll tell you about it later on.

"I was expecting Dillon would come up here to the Tanks to make his camp. It's the only water for 60 miles, you see. But he didn't. And if I hadn't kept my ears open I'd never have known what became of him. But I happened to hear him a few minutes later. He was walking up the other branch of the canyon, the one to your left as you come in. And that's the last I saw of him."

Kent leaned forward in his chair and swore. Papago regarded him lazily.

"I reckon maybe I can be more helpful if you'll answer a question," said Papago quietly. "Not that it's any business of mine. But it would make this easier to figure out. It's a mining deal?"

He did not turn his head and the lids still remained over his eyes, but the narrow slits of gray beneath them were regarding Kent intently. The latter made no answer. Papago smiled slowly.

"There is," he went on indifferently, "an old mine up there somewhere. It's only five or six miles away. I've heard of it. I never saw it. They say the trail to it used to go up the left hand canyon, the one that Dillon took. And the Mexicans that worked it used to bring down their ore to this place. The arrastra where they crushed it is in the main canyon a little ways below the ironwood tree that stands on the Little Mesa of the Dead. And I've an idea that old mine is where Dillon was heading for. Because there's nothing would keep a man in those mountains except ore."

He let his eyes rest briefly on Kent once more, but the latter made no sign. Papago shrugged his lean shoulders.

"All right. I listened until he'd gone out of hearing. And then the other car came up the main canyon. There were two men in it, and they were trailing Dillon all right. There wasn't any two ways about that. They made so much hullabaloo trying to pick up his tracks that it's a wonder he didn't hear them. Well, that's what you told me to find out—where Dillon would be heading for after he left his car and what these fellows who followed him were up to."

He rose from his chair and threw his cigaret butt into the stove, he rolled another and lighted it. He smiled reminiscently.

"But I didn't want those fellows to know I was hanging around the place. So, when I got a chance to leave, I slipped down to their car first and I put in a few minutes' time with the distributor. I must have done a pretty good job for I been keeping an eye on the county road ever since I got back and they haven't showed up yet. And here's the curious thing I was speaking about: There was no sign of Dillon's car, not even a tire track. Yet it must be there, close by."

Kent reached into his hip pocket and took out a wallet, he selected a $10 bill and handed it to Papago.

"All I ask," he said, "is for you to keep your mouth shut." The lean man nodded. But when Kent had left he stood in the doorway for some time looking after him.

"I don't like the way you act," he murmured. "And this business don't smell good. That's a fact. I wish I'd not taken your money, it's got a dirty feeling."

BASIC CAKE MIX: A new cake mix requires only ¾ cup water and a beating for white layer or loaf cakes. Add chocolate according to directions for chocolate cake, orange juice and orange frosting for orange cake, fruits for white fruit cake, mashed bananas for banana cake, spices for spice cake, and so on. More than 40 kinds of cake, cup cake, pudding and cookies may be made from this basic mix.

There's a fudge frosting mix to go with it. All you do is add 3 tablespoons butter and 2 tablespoons water and cook in a double boiler for 3 minutes. The frosting mix will make fudge, chocolate sauce, and pudding, too.

TWO HUNDRED RECIPES FOR EGGS: If you're tired of having 'em boiled, fried, or poached, here's a little book full of all kinds of eggy ideas which should relieve the monotony. "How'll You Have Your Eggs?" is $1 in price. Author is Ann Frazer; publisher, Loker Raley, New York.

The recipes are sometimes sketchy, not always explicit, but the ideas are good and any cook with a little experience to her credit will know how to proceed. Sample eggy idea which sounds especially good to me: "Fry chopped onions in butter until soft but not browned. Break eggs on top, sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese, and cook in a very hot oven until set." This particular recipe is called "Omar Pasha"—I couldn't say why.

Try to Start Day Without Tiring Hurry

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Your husband is gone, the children have left for school, and what about you? Do you drop into the biggest chair, more or less exhausted, and worse, with that uneasy guilty feeling which comes after you've been irritable or actually cross? And does this happen too often?

While it's quite possible that you, as any human being may, got out of the wrong side of the bed this morning, it's also quite likely that the bad start for your day is most frequently due to the fact that getting your family off in the morning consists of a hectic scurrying around which scrambles everything and everybody.

Now, altho this isn't a serious matter, it is a kind of mismanagement that has some unfavorable results.

Hurrying the dressing and hurrying the eating aren't good physically for the children, and often impair their disposition at the same time. Impatience from hurry often leads to scolding by mother, and then the children don't respond happily and so, frequently, the day gets started wrong.

But, even if dispositions don't suffer, too habitual hurrying in the morning is a strain on the children and should be avoided. Of course, avoiding it involves primarily, managing. It won't do itself.

One of the things that helps most is for the chief cook and bottle washer to be up early enough. Another and very important one is to have the children's clothes ready the night before. There's nothing that makes you feel as frantic or eats up time in the morning like having to darn a pair of stockings, or sew on a couple of buttons, or iron a dress or shirt, or hunt up fresh underwear.

Another thing that helps is to see that the children are up early enough. It is not well for children to eat their breakfast at the last minute. A child who is hurried can't eat properly and will not eat enough, and a good breakfast is necessary to a good start.

"Tips for Tired Mothers" is a leaflet obtainable on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans, Chicago Tribune, Chicago.

Bed Jacket, Bedroom Slippers

BY JEAN MACDONALD.

This lovely lace bed jacket and the bedroom slippers, made for a gift to one's best friend, are the type of knitting job every one wants to keep for herself. Both articles are easy to make and work up quickly. Pastel pink, soft blue, and gaslight green offer a choice of colors.

For instructions for knitting the lace bed jacket and slippers, No. X-343, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The other evening I was trapped by the Blackwood convention. Frequently I tempt fate by playing with three ladies, one of them my wife. Usually something happens when the cards cut me in as my wife's partner. My wife and I are excellent partners except for two reasons: She has no faith in my bidding, and I admit a faltering confidence in hers. Usually she plays her hands well, but the erratic bidding in this case placed the responsibility of playing in her hands.

"West, dealer.

"Neither side vulnerable.

"The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	2 no trump
Pass	3 clubs	Pass	4 no trump
Pass	5 clubs	Pass	5 no trump
Pass	6 diamonds	Pass	Pass
Pass

"I was South. All three ladies condemned my bidding as a scurvy trick on my wife. She went down two, but she could have won the small slam which would have been impossible with any other suit.

"I admit it was an accident. The Blackwood convention got me into the mess. Tell me, Mr. Culbertson, if any method of bidding could have brought the correct solution of my problem. P. S., Chicago, Ill."

Now, this is a very embarrassing situation! South, with his weird, cockeyed bidding, managed to get the partnership into the one slam contract that should have been ice-cold against the lay of cards actually encountered. This being true, I realize that it will not be very impressive to my correspondent when I say that his bidding was atrocious. He had no two no trump to begin with, and his subsequent four and five no trumps, whether or not intended as the Blackwood convention, were inexcusable considering his total lack of fit with partner's club suit. The proper bidding was:

South	North
2 spades	2 no trump
3 hearts	3 no trump
4 diamonds	5 diamonds
Pass

The only really questionable bid in this sequence would be North's action over South's three hearts. The temptation would be to show the club suit, but, considering that North could not reasonably expect any club assistance after South showed two suits, the better and more conservative course would be merely to rebid the no trump, holding the bidding open until game was reached. Then, when South showed his third suit, North would have no choice but to go to game in diamonds and South, realizing that his partner never had shown any real assistance, should be satisfied with a game. A slam should not have been reached and, indeed, did not "figure" to make on the combined North-South hands. The only reason it should have made was that the diamond queen lay exactly three times in East's hand and that the other suit breaks were equally favorable.

I am surprised to hear that my correspondent's helpmate failed to fulfill the contract. All she had to do was make one club trick, three hearts, and two spades, then ruff one spade and one heart in her own hand, and finally take a diamond finesse against the queen which would have produced four diamond tricks in the South hand.

Finally I must say it is a bit unfair to Mr. Blackwood to blame him for the result which was due largely to the outrageous use of his convention.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

The Reviewing Stand

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 8. — In "Destry Rides Again" Marlene Dietrich, Jimmy Stewart, Charles Winninger, and Brian Donlevy, having the fatter footage, naturally dominated the picture. . . . Yet Samuel S. Hinds, playing the part of the mayor of the rip snortin' town in which all of these stars were assembled, accomplished a bit of scene stealing that should not pass unnoticed.

Veteran Hinds, revealed in the opening shots as a checker playing old-timer, builds his small part into an important part of the flicker's fabric and impresses his personality strongly and vividly.

Hinds is, by every token, an unusual character in this business. . . . It is said that life begins at 40, and I believe no less an authority than Pitkin authored that estimate. . . . Hinds goes him one better, because he didn't make his picture debut until he was 57, and only then in self-defense. . . . Millionaire son of the United States Playing Card company president, Hinds, when he was 56, lost all of his money in the Wall street crash of 1929. . . . Not only lost his million dollars, but also went $50,000 into debt.

Interested for years in amateur theatricals, Hinds decided that he might get some ready cash by becoming a movie actor. . . . Paramount's Fred Dadig gave him a picture job. Hinds spoke 19 words. . . . In the second Paramount picture they cut him to four words. . . . When, in the third picture, they didn't give him a line to speak, he decided it was time to pack up.

Director Gregory La Cava, at M.-G.-M., gave him the part of the White House physician in "Gabriel over the White House," and since then the veteran has been doing splendidly. . . . I think that any man who was flattened for the count of "nine" when he was 56 years old and embarked on a successful comeback in alien fields is well worth a column rave.

Good Morning!

Here is a goshawful, grisly piece, my hearties! Calculated to make the strongest stomach do a jitterbug.

This tale of Richard III. and dirty doings in the 15th century starts out with the view of an ominous fellow [Boris Karloff] sharpening his executioner's ax in the cellars of the palace of King Edward IV. the while prisoners chained in his vicinity plead for mercy and water. . . . And from then on bloody deeds and bloody talk are the order of the day.

Intrigue follows intrigue. Spies scurry about. . . . Children are murdered in their beds. . . . Unfortunates are tortured, and it is not till Richard, traitorous brother of the then deceased Edward, by whose order Edward's son, the boy king, and his brother have been slain, is defeated by the exiled Henry Tudor that you are released from your own torture chamber of observation.

The picture is well played. It is strikingly staged and photographed, and music, played on instruments used in the 15th century—so I hear—is effective. None of which prevents the film from being one of the most all around unpleasant productions ever turned loose on a public during the holiday season.

Also on the program is "Three Sons," featuring Edward Ellis, and if you want to miss "Tower of London" and see the former movie, call the theater and they'll tell you what time it goes on. [Y'wekkum.]

See you tomorrow.

30 GRIM GIANTS LAND FOR GAME WITH PACKERS

Molenda, Hein Will Direct Champions.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on page 19.)

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 8.—Thirty young men, grim and determined, filed off a special train here today, bent on a mission that defies precedent. They are the New York Giants, champions of the National Football league, who on Sunday make a defense of their title against the Green Bay Packers in the state fair grounds, where the stakes will be high and the rivalry intense.

The Giants swept into Milwaukee like anything but heroes. There was no levity about the squad as it gathered briefly in the train shed for photographers, then hurried off to church. They had left New York yesterday 20 minutes ahead of their coach, Steve Owen, and thruout the night they had remained 20 minutes ahead of the train that bore Owen and the body of his mother back to Kansas.

Molenda, Hein in Charge.

Assistant Coach Bo Molenda announced upon his arrival that Owen had decided definitely on not attempting a plane flight back from Kinsley, Kas., tomorrow night and that he and Capt. Mel Hein would handle the club in its attempt to become the first National league champion to retain its title since the playoff system was adopted seven years ago.

Determination rather than confidence characterized the Giants as they worked out in Borchert field, home of the Milwaukee Brewers, this afternoon. Only three men are under the care of Trainer Gus Mausch, and this trio—Tuffy Leemans, Len Barnum, and Leland Shaffer—are ready to take their regular places in the strategies that Molenda hopes will give the east an edge in the play-off series. The western division has won three of the title games, Green Bay, the Bears, and Detroit each having triumphed once. The east's three championships have been compiled by the Giants in 1934 and 1938 and by Washington in 1937.

Leemans Is Ready.

Leemans still has an open wound on the shin of his left leg, where an operation was necessary to clear up an infection two weeks ago. He did not appear to be handicapped by the injury, however, and Barnum, who also has a leg injury, and Shaffer, nursing a sore side, likewise also seemed to be fit.

Odds offered by Milwaukee speculators, who favor the Packers, 8 to 5, did not surprise the Giants or the delegation of New Yorkers that accompanied them. They were only puzzled, and also pleased. Their major victories in the last two years have been scored over teams which in pregame appraisals figured to win.

The Packers completed their strenuous drill in Green Bay this afternoon and came into Milwaukee in the evening. Both teams will work out again tomorrow in Borchert field. The Fair Ground gridiron has been under a foot of marsh hay since last Monday and it is planned to keep it covered until Sunday morning, altho the sun beamed down from a cloudless sky today and no change is forecast for the remainder of the week.

Giants Plan No Changes.

Molenda plans no change from the regular Giant game routine, which has been a unit policy with the first team playing the first and third quarters and the second team taking care of the second and fourth periods. Jim Poole and Jim Lee Howell will be at ends at the start, with John Mellus and Frank Cope at the tackles, Johnny Dell Isola and Orville Tuttle at guards and Hein at center. The back field will be composed of Nello Falaschi, Ed Danowski, Ward Cuff, and Elwin Richards.

Tackles on the second unit will be Ed Widseth and Ox Parry, who were bulwarks in the starting line last season. Widseth, a former Minnesota star and member of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's 1937 All-Star team, got away to a slow start and surrendered his position to Cope. In recent weeks he has finally regained the form that made him an all-league tackle last year, but Owen has hesitated to switch him back to the first unit for fear of weakening the second combination. Widseth is one of the best downfield blockers in the league and his ability along this line is deemed of greater value to the team on the unit which includes Leemans in its back field.

Hunt Counterfeit Tickets.

While the Giants underwent a long dummy scrimmage against Green Bay plays to familiarize the defense with assignments in the "Stop Hutson" strategy, local police continued their search for counterfeit tickets and federal revenue men kept a sharp watch for scalpers.

No evidence beyond an anonymous tip has been uncovered in the duplicate ticket scare, but several scalpers have been located who promise to deliver a pair of $4.40 tickets for $30.

Mayor Daniel W. Hoan announced he had about completed arrangements for an official reception for Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, who will arrive Sunday.

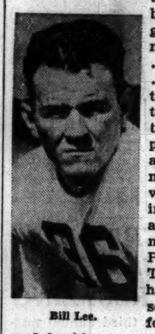
In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—While we are waiting to hear what the boys have to say about the Harry Thomas boxing exposé let's turn to more interesting topics, especially the one involving the New York Giants and the Green Bay Packers, who on Sunday will fight it out for the championship of the National Football league and the right to meet the College All-Americans in Chicago's 1940 All-Star game. . . . Bill Lee, Green Bay tackle, who came to professional football from Alabama via the All-Star game a couple of summers ago, will marry immediately after the season. . . . The girl is Rosemary Maloney. . . . The Giants, who clinched victory over this year's All-Stars by intercepting a pass, lead the league in that department. . . . They have picked off 32 enemy aerials, an average of three a game. . . . Tuffy Leemans, New York's elusive ball carrier, will get back to his cleaning and dyeing business in Washington as soon as he cleans up that unfinished business in Milwaukee Sunday. . . . The Packers' three centers, Bud Svendsen, Tom Greenfield, and Charley Brock, have scored one touchdown apiece this season. . . . Brock intercepted a pass for his score, and the others recovered fumbles. . . . Curley Lambeau says his squad is in the best physical condition of the year. . . . There isn't an invalid on the roster. . . . Al Owen of the Giants will leave shortly after the championship game for South America, where he is employed by an American oil company. . . . Ten years ago, when the Packers defeated the Giants for the league title, their star was Bo Molenda, now assistant to Steve Owen. . . . Another member of that Green Bay team was Bill Kern, Carnegie Tech coach, who, with Cal Hubbard, played 60 minutes at tackle. . . . Green Bay used only 12 men in that game. . . . The extra was a back field substitute. . . . Kink Richards, half back, and Mel Hein, the league's most valuable player in 1938, both of the Giants, are competing in their fifth playoff game. . . .



Bill Lee.

Curley Lambeau.

Statisticians have given up attempting to fix the date of Ed Widseth's birth. . . . The former Gopher tackle claimed to be 26 when he joined the Chicago All-Star squad in 1937, and he stuck to that figure when he played with the Giants in the 1938 All-Star game. . . . However, there are meanies around Minneapolis who say he was that old when he enrolled at Minnesota. . . . Joe Laws, the Packers' brilliant half back who won THE TRIBUNE's most valuable player trophy at Iowa in 1933, operates a billiard parlor in Colfax, Ia., during the off season. . . . Players on both squads anticipate a record cut from this year's championship game. . . . The gate is expected to exceed $75,000. . . . The first time John Karcis carried the ball for the Giants he ran seventy-five yards for a touchdown. . . . That was only a sprint, however, because we remember one afternoon, in South Bend, when he ran miles against Notre Dame. . . .

Clark Hinkle, Packer full back, is nearing the Packers' all-time scoring record. . . . The mark is held by Vern Lewellen, who rolled up 50 touchdowns and one extra point for a total of 301 between 1924 and 1932. . . . Hinkle has 274 points. . . . Jack Manders of the Bears leads the league. . . . Don Hutson, who usually brings his wife and baby to Green Bay for the fall, left them in the south this season. . . . Tarzan White, Giant guard, will return to professional wrestling this winter, but in the event his team whips the Packers his mat engagements must be held off until after the All-Star professional game in Los Angeles next month. . . . Dale Burnett, the general store proprietor from Earle, Ark., is playing his tenth year in professional football, all with the Giants. . . .

[Note to Jimmy: Please wire best wishes to Curley Lambeau and Steve Owen. We can't lose. . . . Both are swell fellows, and both have great ball teams. . . . I think you ought to warn them, however, that the 1940 All-Stars will kick the stuffings out of either club. . . . Nile Kinnick told me so the other day. . . . Next year we won't monkey around with plays designed by the All-Star coaching staff. . . . We'll use Ward's sure fire scoring stratagems, like we did against the Packers in 1936 and the Redskins in 1937. . . . Remember?]

Ten Years Ago Today—Art Shires, White Sox first baseman, knocked out Mysterious Dan Daly in 21 seconds of the first round at White City. . . . Phil Scott, English heavyweight, won on a foul from Otto Von Porat in the second round in New York. . . . Northwestern's basketball team opened its season with a 30 to 13 victory over Cornell.

THOMAS CASE IS SENT TO DISTRICT ATTORNEY OFFICE

Ward Puts Facts Before N. Y. Commission.

New York, Dec. 8 [Special].—The biggest sports scandal since the notorious Black Sox baseball exposé in 1920 took a new turn tonight following the transfer today of the Harry Thomas-Max Schmeling fake fight investigation from the New York state athletic commission to the offices of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

The transfer occurred after the commission heard the inside story of Thomas' confession from Arch Ward, sports editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, which published the exposé. Thomas had offered to tell all if granted immunity, but as it was powerless to do this, the commission closed its investigation and put the case into the hands of the crusading prosecutor and candidate for the Republican nomination for President of the United States.

Acquainted with Case.

Dewey's office has been watching the case ever since Thomas was first subpenaed several weeks ago. Dewey has had one of his assistants surveying it carefully but may undertake to probe it himself. Should immunity be denied, however, and Thomas convicted, he is liable under section 382 of the penal law to from one to five years' imprisonment and up to $10,000 in fines.

Ward revealed, under oath, how he first heard rumors of dishonesty in current boxing last August. When told Thomas was implicated and willing to talk, Ward interviewed him while here on a business trip. Thomas' story was so fantastic Ward called his managing editor and was advised to check it carefully in every detail. He spent two months running down every angle of the story and conferring with his paper's law office.

Details Are Related.

Ward related in detail how he and Thomas traveled to Eagle Bend, Minn. [Harry's home at the time of the fight in December, 1937], and unearthed letters, bank records, deposits and receipts of various kinds which corroborated Harry's story. After satisfying himself Thomas' story of having been paid $8,500 for the fight was true [he was supposed to have split $6,458.09 with his manager, Nate Lewis] Ward returned with the evidence to Chicago, where Thomas swore to an affidavit containing all the charges, subsequently printed in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

When told all the evidence came from Thomas alone, Ward explained he checked over all the individuals involved and finally persuaded one of them to corroborate the confession in its entirety in a second affidavit. He refused to name the corroborator, but said he would do so and produce all his documentary evidence if the case gets before a grand jury or in court where he'd have to talk.

Thomas Explains "Knockout."

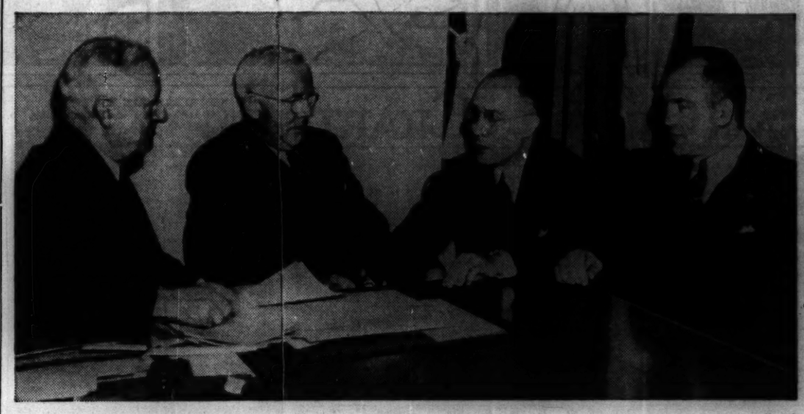
Ward's printed exposé said Thomas confessed he had entered into an agreement with Lewis and Joe Jacobs to "lay down" to Schmeling, after a conference with them in a Chicago hotel. Harry was supposed to quit in the fourth round and wrote friends not to bet on him. For this, Thomas confessed, both he and Lewis were to be paid sums additional to the amount called for in their contract.

Asked why Thomas didn't "dive" in the fourth, but instead lingered to be stopped in the eighth, Ward said, "Thomas explained it like this: He hit Schmeling a hard punch in the second round and, from there on thru the sixth, was not hit a hard enough punch by the German to justify falling. When Max hit him a hard one near the end of the seventh he fell to signify that he was about to go out. In the fight he kept falling down and getting up until the referee stopped the bout."

Thomas Paid Nothing.

Cross-examined by Assistant Attorney General William Cahill, Ward said Thomas was paid nothing to make the confession. Asked what induced the ex-heavyweight to do so, Ward explained Harry wished to ease his conscience and, by telling the story, to prevent other boxers from succumbing to such temptations.

Final Phase of Commission's Inquiry Into Fake



Arch Ward (third from left), sports editor of The Chicago Tribune, goes over details of the fixed fight confession of Harry Thomas which was revealed in this newspaper last Oct. 30. Ward's testimony closed the investigation. The commission could proceed no farther in the face of Thomas' refusal to talk unless granted immunity from prosecution and the case was sent to District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's office. Thomas is on Ward's left and the two commissioners are Gen. John J. Phelan (left) and William J. Brown.

MR. DAY HAS HIS NIGHT; DEFEATS SAMMY ANGOTT

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Davey Day, veteran Chicago boxer, was awarded an unpopular decision in 12 rounds over Sammy Angott of Louisville, No. 1 lightweight contender, in a return bout in Chicago Stadium last night. Angott, who pounded out a victory over his rival in a previous Stadium fight, expressed surprise when the verdict was announced and his opinion was echoed in the boos of the 6,937 spectators.

It is unlikely that the decision will affect either fighter's chance at prospective title matches—Day against Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong, and Angott against Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers.

Officials Fail to Agree.

It was a split verdict, Referee Joe McNamara voting 61-59 and Judge Ed Hintz 63-57 for Day and Dr. E. Allen Frankel, the other judge, calling the match a draw.

After being on the defensive in the first six rounds, Day changed tactics in the seventh round, crashing a right to the jaw which made Sammy hold on. The punch was the hardest of the fight. Davey failed to follow up his advantage and in the next round Angott held the Chicagoan even.

The ninth round was the slowest of the battle, Angott winning it because Day walked into a right to the jaw. Day won the 10th and 11th rounds. Neither had an advantage in the 12th, altho the fans booed Angott for holding.

Zale Batters Orgovan.

Tony Motisi, Catholic Youth organization welterweight, whipped Indian Billy Lee of Milwaukee in a six round event which followed the main fight.

In a secondary feature, scheduled for eight rounds, Tony Zale, 1934 Gary sectional Golden Gloves middleweight winner, knocked out Ernest [Babe] Orgovan, of New York, in the third round. Orgovan was sent down for a nine count in the first by a right to the head.

Eddie Lander, west side junior lightweight, and Nick Castiglione of the Italo-American Youth organization went eight rounds to a draw. Castiglione weighed 135¾ pounds, six more than Lander. In a four round opener Bobby Ryan, west side welterweight, pounded out a decision over Pete Ferrand of South Chicago.

Gross receipts were $14,277.30.

At Chicago Stadium—Davey Day beat Sammy Angott [12]; Tony Zale knocked out Babe Orgovan [3]; Eddie Lander and Nick Castiglione drew [8]; Tony Motisi beat Indian Billy Lee [6]; Bobby Ryan beat Pete Ferrand [4].

At Kansas City, Mo.—Chino Lopez beat Billy Gardner [4].

Big Ten Returns Outdoor Track Program to Chicago

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Western conference coaches of the so-called minor sports completed much of their schedule work yesterday in morning and afternoon sessions in the Sherman hotel. Eight winter and spring sports' schedules will be drawn up, with the last groups reporting this morning.

The conference indoor track and field meet will be held in the University of Chicago fieldhouse March 8 and 9, and for the first time in several years the outdoor meet returns to Chicago. The meet will be held May 24 and 25 at either Northwestern university or the University of Chicago. This site will be announced definitely later. The coaches, directors, and faculty committee members also will meet on these dates in Chicago.

Ohio Gets Swim Meet.

Schedules have been, or will be arranged for tennis, wrestling, golf, swimming, fencing, gymnastics, and baseball, as well as track. The Big Ten swimming meet has been assigned to Ohio State university on March 8 and 9. The national collegiate meet, in which most conference universities compete, is scheduled in New Haven, Conn., at Yale university, March 29 and 30.

Ohio State university also gets the golf meet on May 20 and 21. The annual Big Ten tennis tournament will be held at Northwestern May 23, 24, and 25. Purdue will be host to the conference gymnasts on March 8 and 9.

Doubt Maroon Plan Possible.

The joint meeting of the football coaches and the directors of athletics yesterday afternoon, which was followed by a meeting of the directors, developed no new topic. Neither group, of course, has any authority to formulate policy of the conference but may make recommendations. The faculty committee, controling body of the Western conference, met with the directors at dinner last evening in the University club. The faculty men had no announcement to make last night and will resume their meeting after luncheon this noon in the University club with the directors and alumni representatives.

Consensus last night was that the faculty committee could not grant the University of Chicago request for change in the groupings of students eligible to compete in intercollegiate competition. Chicago had formally requested permission last spring to use graduate and transfer students who had not already competed three years.

I. C. C. Waives Frosh Rule.

Fielding H. Yost, Michigan's director of athletics, presided over the meeting of the football coaches and directors yesterday afternoon. Dr. Edward Anderson of Iowa and Bo McMillin of Indiana were the only absentee football coaches. All directors were present.

Marquette, Notre Dame, and Michigan State were represented in the informal meetings. The Illinois College conference, in session yesterday in the Sherman, voted to waive the freshmen rule for spring sports at the discretion of the individual schools. Heretofore athletes have been ineligible to compete in their freshmen year. The conference also approved in principle a rotating schedule for football, basketball, and baseball.

AUSTIN HIGH IS BEATEN, 7 TO 6, AT JACKSON, TENN.

Jackson, Tenn., Dec. 8 [Special].—Pete Maggos outsprinted the entire Jackson High eleven for a 99 yard touchdown run near the end of the second period tonight, but his Austin High of Chicago teammates lost, 7 to 6, in a thrilling battle. Austin had just made a magnificent stand to halt Jackson on downs at the 1 yard stripe. Then on the next play Maggos ran for his touchdown.

Jackson won in the third quarter when Bill Dowdell seized an Austin pass on the visitors' 39 yard stripe and then lateraled to End Tommy Smith for a touchdown. Bobby McKinney kicked the extra point to give Jackson its victory.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—Ray Flaherty signed a contract today to coach the Washington Redskins professional football team for five years. He has been the team's coach since 1936.

George P. Marshall, president of the Redskins, refused to mention Flaherty's salary, but said it was the highest ever paid a coach in the National Football league.

Andy Farkas, Redskins' full back, renewed his agreement with Owner Marshall yesterday by signing a three year contract.

RADCLIFF GOES TO BROWNS IN EVEN EXCHANGE

North Siders Send Away Mancuso.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 8.—The major league magnates closed their annual meetings today with a burst of speed, a few swaps, and some last minute oratory which indicated more deals in the near future.

The magnates completed their legislative chores in a short session before Commissioner K. M. Landis, who with his own vote and that of the American league, shattered the National league's attempt to slip nuisance amendments into the major-minor league agreements.

Dykes Leads Traders.

James J. Dykes, the White Sox manager, left town carrying the medal as the No. 1 trader of the meeting. Dykes completed his labors this afternoon when, after selling Third Baseman Marvin Owen to Boston, he took Outfielder Julius Solters from the St. Louis Browns in exchange for Outfielder Rip Radcliff, a Sox veteran. Close behind Dykes in the trading race was Gabby Hartnett, the Cub leader, who at the last moment gave Catcher Gus Mancuso and Rookie Pitcher Newel Kimball to Brooklyn for Catcher Al Todd.

The Solters transfer came not many hours after Dykes, in a midnight conference with the Washington club, took possession of Outfielder Taft Wright and Pitcher Pete Appleton in exchange for Outfielder Gerald Walker, who came from the Tigers two years ago.

Solters Is a Tourist.

Solters is another of those boys who have been passed around freely in their big league careers, but the talented Dykes apparently has the solutions for such puzzling cases. Solters, age 31, started in Fairmont, W. Va., in 1927, went to Baltimore in 1930, thence to Shreveport, Albany, Binghampton, and back to Baltimore before meeting his first major test with the Boston Red Sox in 1934. He was traded to the Browns in May of 1935, was moved to Cleveland for the next two seasons, and last year bounced back to St. Louis. His best year as a batter was in 1937 when he hit .323 for the Indians.

Mancuso came to the Cubs along with Bartell a year ago from the Giants in exchange for Frank Demaree, Ken O'Dea, and Bill Jurges, all of whom are still with the New York club. Todd was with the Pirates for three years, being traded to Brooklyn last winter via Boston. He hit .278 this season in 86 games.

Clarence Rowland, supervisor of the Cubs' trading department, didn't depart with his office workers. Rowland remained here, thinking he might catch up with Branch Rickey of the Cardinals to conclude the deal by which the Cubs admit they might acquire a shortstop, but which easily could develop into a swap of prominent athletes.

Here's What Happened.

Here is what has happened since the big leaguers opened their winter market five days ago:

The Boston Bees sent Pitcher Jim Turner to Cincinnati for First Baseman Leslie Scarsella and cash.

The Pittsburgh Pirates turned over Pitcher Jim Tobin and cash to the Bees for Pitcher John Lanning.

The Cubs gave Shortstop Dick Bartell to the Tigers for Infielder Billy Rogell.

The Cubs acquired Al Todd, Brooklyn catcher, for Catcher Gus Mancuso and Pitcher Newel Kimball.

The White Sox traded Outfielder Gerald Walker to Washington for Outfielder Taft Wright and Pitcher Pete Appleton. Marvin Owen, White Sox third baseman, was sold to the Boston Red Sox for cash. The White Sox traded Outfielder Rip Radcliff to the Browns for Outfielder Julius Solters.

Tigers Get Moses.

Just before the magnates headed for home the Tigers and the Athletics announced completion of a swap which sent Wally Moses, fleet A's outfielder, to Detroit in exchange for young Benny McCoy, second baseman, and Relief Pitcher George Coffman.

The Bees and Pirates made a pitcher-for-pitcher deal in which the veteran Danny MacFayden was transferred to Pittsburgh and Bill Swift went to Boston.

The joint session, originally scheduled for tomorrow, but moved up to this morning so the weary magnates could start for home, was such a mild affair that it was run off in less than an hour. The business had to do exclusively with voting on about 20 proposals, a few of which were aimed to give Commissioner Landis less leeway. On these proposals the National league voted one way and in each case was beaten by the combined votes of the American league and the commissioner.

FINAL JUDGING IN LIVE STOCK SHOW IS SET FOR TODAY

Stakes Worth $8,000 to Be Awarded.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The International Live Stock exposition-horse show will reach its climax today when $8,000 worth of stake events are run off in afternoon and evening sessions. This exhibition of the best animals of the United States and Canada, which has been in progress for a week, will come to a conclusion at about 11 o'clock tonight when the last of the hunters leaves the International amphitheater ring.

Six stakes are on the evening program, these events deciding the champions among the three and five gaited saddle animals, the hunters, harness ponies, roadsters and heavy harness horses. The fine harness title holder will be determined in the afternoon. All of these stakes are valued at $1,000, with the exception of the five gaited event, which is for $2,500, and the fine harness, which is for $500.

Midnight Star Favored.

Among the strong contenders of the five gaited saddle championship will be Midnight Star, a 9 year old black gelding which was bought at auction recently at the International amphitheater by Pickens Burton of Dallas, Tex., for $13,000. When the animal was knocked down for this price, one of the members of the French committee in Chicago exclaimed in amazement: "Why that's 650,000 francs," an unheard of price in Europe.

Midnight Star won the $500 gelding stake Tuesday evening. Empress Delaine, property of Delaine Farm of Morton Grove, captured the $500 stake for mares on Wednesday. She will offer Midnight Star some of his strongest competition in the $2,500 five gaited championship event.

Irving Fellis' King of the Highlands, which won the $500 stallion stake on Monday, will not be eligible to compete for the championship because he was not included in the field at the time the entries closed.

Large Crowd Attends.

As last night's program was concluded before one of the biggest crowds in the history of the show, the Nan-Su Farm of Northbrook, Ill., held the lead with respect to the numbers of ribbons won. This stable, which is owned by Melville N. Rothschild, specializes in harness horses. So far its representatives have taken eleven first prizes, eight seconds, five thirds and two fourths.

The Williamsdale Farm of Erlanger, Ky., which also goes in largely for harness events, has earned seven blue ribbons and none of any other color. The Betty Scripps Stable, of Libertyville, has shown considerable strength, taking five firsts, two seconds, four thirds, four fourths, and two fifths.

MENTION POTSY CLARK, PHELAN AS CARDS' COACH

Pro Football Men Hold Draft Meeting Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 8.—Arrival of National Football league officials and owners today for the annual draft meeting and championship playoff over the week-end brought rumors that two of the country's better known college coaches would be at the helm of professional elevens next fall.

Charles Bidwill, owner of the Chicago Cardinals, is expected to announce the release of Ernie Nevers, according to the rumorsmiths, and reveal the signing of a successor, said to be Jimmy Phelan of the University of Washington. Phelan is known to have been under consideration last year when Bidwill hired Nevers, a former Cardinal player-coach and one of the National's league's all-time greats.

Potsy Clark Candidate.

Another candidate prominently mentioned here is George [Potsy] Clark, a veteran of collegiate and professional football, who resigned last week as coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Dan Topping, owner of the Dodgers, has announced in the east that he will reveal the identity of Clark's successor upon his arrival tomorrow. Sources usually reliable in such matters claim the new Brooklyn coach will be Bill Kern, former University of Pittsburgh tackle and Green Bay Packer star, whose Carnegie Tech elevens have been among the country's foremost teams in recent years.

The draft meeting makes it advisable in all contemplated coaching changes to have the new men on the job tomorrow when material is selected for next season. Clark arrived today from the east with the New York Giants' party, but insisted that he is here merely in the rôle of job hunter and had not contacted Bidwill or any other owner.

Cards Have First Choice.

The Cardinals will have first choice in the draft, in which each team will be allowed to select 20 college football players who completed their eligibility with this season. The order of selection is governed by position in the final standings with the last place team having first choice.

Nile Kinnick, Iowa's player of the year and most valuable man, was expected to be the first choice of the Cardinals, who last year also had first pick and took Ki Aldrich. But Kinnick's announcement that he would not play professional football may lead the Cardinal delegation to choose some one whom they are certain will join the club, rather than gamble on the possibility of Kinnick changing his mind.

John Kimbrough, full back of unbeaten Texas A. and M., was the only choice from the southwest.

MICHIGAN VOTES BENEFIT PLAN FOR PREP ATHLETES

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 8 (AP).—A benefit plan for high school athletes was approved today by the Michigan High School Athletic association.

Tentative plans call for the student athlete to pay a $1.50 fee, which protects him in all sports, or 75 cents for all sports except football. The school would pay fees of $3 to $15, depending on enrollment size. A 10 cent fee would cover transportation accidents.

Proposed benefit payments include: $20 for loss of a tooth with a $40 maximum for one dental injury; $100 for fractured pelvis, $85 for fractures of both arm bones between wrist and elbow, $50 for skull fracture, $75 for cerebral hemorrhage, and $3 for a cut requiring stitches.

Charles E. Forsythe, state director of interscholastic athletics, said: "It's not insurance, it's a benefit plan." Details remain to be perfected.

LOAN HOCKEY PLAYER.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 8 (AP).—The New Haven Eagles Hockey club announced tonight the loaning of Rhys Thomson, a defenseman, to the Syracuse Stars, subject to a 24 hour recall.

WILDCATS WILL HOLD ANNUAL DINNER TONIGHT

Northwestern university's football team will hold its annual dinner in the Stevens hotel tonight. The squad will choose an honorary captain and the most valuable player for the last season and a captain-elect for next year. Varsity letters and freshman numerals will be awarded.

A capacity crowd of 1,500 alumni and guests will attend the banquet, which is sponsored by the Northwestern University Club of Chicago. President Frank Torgerson will serve as toastmaster. Among the speakers will be Coach Elmer Layden of Notre Dame; Coach Mal Elward of Purdue; Edward Everett Horton, the actor; President Franklyn B. Snyder; K. L. Wilson, athletic director, and Coach Lynn Waldorf. The program will conclude with movies of the season's games.

MAROON QUINTET, NORTH CENTRAL TO MEET TONIGHT

Capt. Dick Lounsbury will lead the University of Chicago's basketball team against North Central college in the Midway fieldhouse tonight at 8 o'clock. Lounsbury, 14th in the Big Ten standings last year with 87 points, registered 18 points against Chicago Teachers Wednesday night as the Maroons opened the season with a 42 to 26 victory.

Cunningham, Cooper Out of Hawks' Lineup

Despite a new plague of injuries which smote the Blackhawks' hockey team in the Americans' game Thursday night, Manager Paul Thompson sent the Hawks thru a rousing 90 minute drill in the Chicago Arena yesterday in preparation for tomorrow night's battle with the Montreal Canadiens in the Chicago Stadium.

The workout revealed that two of the injuries, thought to be of a minor nature, will keep the victims not only out of tomorrow night's game, but also from the Hawks' battle against the Americans in New York Tuesday. This situation also will force the recall of one convalescent who had not been expected to be called for another week at least.

Les Cunningham, the rookie who stopped one of Charley Conacher's rifelike shots with one hand Thursday night, will be out tomorrow and Tuesday because of a badly sprained left wrist. So will Defense Man Joe Cooper, who sustained torn ligaments in his left knee Thursday in a boarding clash. Thus Thompson plans to call on Phil Hergesheimer, who injured a knee last Sunday, for the New York game Tuesday night. Earl Seibert, injured in New York on Nov. 16, still isn't ready for duty.

The Hawks tonight will watch with interest reports from Toronto, where the Maple Leafs meet the Canadiens in a battle which should settle the first place tie created by the Frenchmen's victory over the Leafs in Montreal Thursday night. In that battle old Johnny Gagnon, one of the real veterans of the game, scored two goals in the Canadiens' 4 to 1 triumph. Toe Blake, the league's most valuable player last season, and two former Blackhawks, Louis Trudell and Cyclone Wentworth, also are in the Canadiens' lineup. The Frenchmen have been one of the surprises of the league, the work of young Claude Borque, their goalie, being no small factor in their progress.

PROPOSE NEW THRU HIGHWAY ON SOUTH SIDE

Alternate Plan Submitted by City Engineers.

BY HAL FOUST.

City engineers yesterday proposed a new, alternate route for the south side as public hearings were opened on Chicago's $205,000,000 superhighway plans. In all, 62 miles of locations have been submitted to the council. Further suggestions are sought.

The new route would leave downtown by way of Franklin street as an elevated highway to Cermak road [2200 south]. It would then jog southwest to approximately Halsted street and then run south, paralleling Halsted street a half block or a block to its east, to immediately south of 87th street. There it would connect with Vincennes avenue and Halsted street, now both broad thorofares.

Displaces Former Plan.

Should the Halsted street suggestion be adopted it would displace the former proposal for a superhighway to follow Franklin street south, thence on Archer avenue southwest, and thence due south parallel and adjacent to Damen avenue to Garfield boulevard, in later years to be extended to the Southwest highway at Western avenue.

With such a change in plans the southwest route for a superhighway would follow the I. and M. canal. Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] said an act of congress and a state-wide referendum would be necessary to acquire the right of way at this location.

Only 30 persons attended yesterday's hearing before a council subcommittee headed by Ald. George D. Kells [28th] in the council chambers. The automobile clubs, the Association of Commerce, the Union League club, and other civic organizations were represented, but the only interests with a delegation were the promoters of a Congress street development.

Asks Public for Views.

Ald. Kells urged the public to address its views to him at the city hall so arrangements can be made for future public meetings. Two such sessions are scheduled, one for next Wednesday morning and another for Dec. 20.

James E. Bulger, a director of the Chicago Motor club, said his engineers will present their objections to the present Congress street proposal at next week's meeting.

Ald. Joseph S. Gillespie [27th], a member of the superhighway subcommittee and chairman of another subcommittee on parking, said he will call a meeting of the parking "These superhighways won't be of much value unless there are places for cars to park," he said. "One of the most promising suggestions we have received would provide for more low cost parking in Grant park."

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Stray Dog Menace.

December 8, 1939.

One of the regular nuisances that every farmer has to combat is the menace of roaming dogs. Dogs allowed to run at will by careless owners cause much annoyance and damage in cities, but they are even more troublesome in the country. Almost every farmer has had experience with stray dogs which band together like canine hoboes, roam around looking for amusement, and sometimes attack sheep, poultry, and other farm stock. During the last few years several sheep have been killed and others injured on the Du Page county farm.

One day this week dogs killed a Muscovy duck in a farm field, causing the men to form a "posse" and attempt to find the troublemakers before they caused more damage. No one saw the killing, but there were dog tracks in the mud.

Guineas Are Watch Dogs.

One of the men was saying that guinea fowl are a real help in warning farmers about intruders, either dogs, human, or otherwise. The guineas kept in the barnyard of the Du Page county farm behave much like real watchdogs, according to the flockmaster. No dog, cat, or man can walk into the barnyard at night without causing the guineas to set up a commotion. A man who operates a turkey farm near Lisle, Ill., recently bought a pair of guineas from the Du Page county farm for the sole purpose of using them as "watchdogs." A mink farmer who lives near Wheaton also bought a pair for the same purpose.

The young trapper who has been running a trapline on the Du Page county farm continues to find a variety of furbearers in his traps whenever he makes his rounds. Already he has captured several opossums and a skunk, and this week he was lucky enough to trap a nice raccoon in a live trap. The 'coon is by far the most valuable animal he has caught this season. He hopes to get around $3 for the pelt.

Want to Keep Minks.

The men who work around one of the big barns near the southeast corner of the farm have told this youngster that he should stay away from their building with his traps. Two or three minks and weasels have been waging constant war on the rats in this barn and the men want them to stay around.

At this time of the year rats and mice are leaving the fields and invading farm buildings where they can find food and shelter. One of the men working in the barn the other day heard a commotion behind a wood pile. He looked up to see a weasel carrying off a rat. Another worker saw mink tracks in the snow Tuesday morning, and alongside the tracks there was a smudge indicating that the mink had been dragging a rat. And while we were standing near the barn talking about the good work of these rodent destroyers a sleek mink was seen darting across the concrete feed lot.

Of course, the farm workers would have to get rid of the minks and weasels if there were poultry near these barns, but the poultry yard is some distance away and the furbearers can do more good than harm where they are staying.

970 MINIATURE CHICKENS SHOWN IN A BALLROOM

More than 970 bantams and 300 special breed chickens are on display. Exhibitors for the most part are business men, physicians, lawyers, clerks, and other city folk whose hobby is the breeding and raising of bantams.

"Every breeder has the ambition to produce the perfect bantam," explained Hale Olson of Des Plaines. Olson is an engineer for the Public Service Corporation of Northern Illinois. Raising bantams is his hobby. Besides, he added, every city man likes to be a farmer.

The Question.

Do you like milk in the paper carton?

Where Asked.

North shore suburbs.

The Answers.

Mrs. Walter B. Nickol, 903 Sheridan road, Wilmette, housewife.—I like the new carton. It's lighter to carry and more compact. But it's human nature to want to see what's on the inside, so I suggest the makers give us a transparent window about where the cream line comes.

Mrs. John Herbert Baker, 547 Hinman avenue, Evanston, housewife.—Maybe I'm old fashioned, but I like to see what I'm getting. Then, too, there's something very sanitary looking about things under glass. If there's a speck of dirt it's visible and one can complain to the milkman.

Mrs. Howard J. Borgeson, 1324 Dobson street, Evanston, housewife—I purchase cream in the small paper cartons and find it is satisfactory. However, I have never tried purchasing milk in the new containers for the reason I like to see the cream line.

Mrs. J. Paul Flowers, 603 Central avenue, Wilmette, housewife.—I'm all for the paper containers. I think we should give a hand to those concerns which develop things that save us housewives the bother of washing bottles and the companies the bother of washing and sterilizing them again.

Miss Lillian Zintz, 909 Sherman avenue, Evanston, secretary.—It wouldn't do me any good to use the new containers because I always dump oysters, cottage cheese, and other foods from paper cartons into a dish or glass. However, I understand the new type of container is an improvement over the "ice cream buckets" that I mean.

FEDERAL DEFICIT TERMED ROAD TO DICTATORSHIP

Burocracy a Peril, Industry Is Told.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 8 [Special].—Warnings that a growing burocracy in the United States and continued deficits are the forerunners of dictatorship were given tonight as the Congress of American Industry ended its deliberations.

Wendell L. Willkie.

Wendell L. Willkie, president of Commonwealth and Southern corporation and recognized leader of the utility industry in fighting government encroachment, was the last speaker at the annual dinner tonight. He attacked burocracy. He was preceded by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], who spoke in support of a balanced budget, and predicted amendment of the Wagner labor relations act.

Earlier in the day the congress, as the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers is called, adopted resolutions upholding these views and making other recommendations to government and industry.

Democracy Is Analyzed.

Nearly 2,000 industrial leaders attended the sessions at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, which were devoted to a long range analysis of American democracy and its system of private enterprise in view of changing conditions.

The resolutions advocated the following:

1. Balance the federal budget at the earliest possible date.
2. Enact the pending Walter-Logan bill for curbing burocratic powers.
3. Defeat the Borah-O'Mahoney bill for federal licensing of corporations.
4. Revise the Wagner act.
5. Amend the wage-hour law to remove "unnecessary hardships."
6. Repeal the Guffey coal act.
7. Industry must promote agricultural prosperity.
8. Modification and consolidation of the two federal securities acts.

Pay-as-You-Go Security.

9. Finance social security benefits thru current taxes and embody in state laws the principle of experience rating for employers who stabilize employment.
10. Greater coöperation between transportation groups.
11. Reaffirm an intense desire for peace on the part of all American industry.
12. Oppose competition of government with private enterprise.
13. Oppose further reciprocal trade agreements.

Willkie warned that "if we accept the doctrine of the authoritarian state, we shall do so gradually and perhaps even unconsciously."

Warns of Federal Powers.

Extensive powers given the federal government in the last few years must be examined lest they be used to take away American liberties, he said.

Giving examples of power concentrated in "omnipotent commissions," Willkie said that both the Securities and Exchange commission and the national labor relations board act as prosecutor and judge in trying cases. "There isn't a man in this room," continued Willkie, "who does not know that if he criticizes a commission today, he and his company may suffer for it tomorrow."

Tells Business to Reform.

Business, too, must mend its ways, said Willkie in criticizing business for demanding special subsidies, tariffs, and protection against low cost producers. He said the growth of interstate trade barriers is "suicidal."

Wheeler declared that the unsolved economic problems of the United States are more threatening to this democracy "than any mad European dictator." Speaking of government finances, the senator said:

"It should never be forgotten that financial bankruptcy is the first and most direct step to political bankruptcy—to dictatorship. A dictator is but the receiver of a bankrupt nation."

Employment Report Received.

C. M. Chester, chairman of General Foods, Inc., reported to the congress that employment in manufacturing industry is now 2 per cent above 1929, and that man more jobs can be restored if industry is given a chance.

H. W. Prentis Jr., president of Armstrong Cork company, Lancaster, Pa., was elected president of the association. New national vice presidents are: Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin, chairman of Kohler company; J. Howard Pew, president of Sun Oil company, and Edgar M. Queeny, president of Monsanto Chemical company.

Continental Bank Lowers Saving Deposit Interest

Directors of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company yesterday voted to reduce the rate of interest paid annually on savings deposits to 1½ per cent, effective Jan. 1, 1940. This action was in line with similar reductions made in recent weeks by five other leading downtown banks. The banks at present pay 1½ per cent.

Asks Federal Staff to Watch Prices in War

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—A nation-wide force of anti-trust prosecutors to guard against wartime price booms was suggested today before the monopoly committee.

Thurman Arnold, chief of the government's anti-trust forces, advanced the proposal at the end of a week of public hearings held in response to President Roosevelt's request for "constant surveillance" of price movements.

The assistant attorney general, differing with some other administration advisers and lawyers, opposed any "drastic and far-reaching" new legislation or new governmental agencies as means to curb profiteering. Present anti-trust laws and present agencies, Arnold told the committee, could keep things under control if they were supplied with men and money.

Annual Cost Two Millions.

He estimated that employment of 150 economists and lawyers for his proposed new anti-trust force and establishment of the temporary monopoly committee on a permanent basis would cost about $2,000,000 annually.

"We are about to spend nearly a billion dollars a year on armaments alone," Arnold said. "The type of organization outlined here would permit effective control of prices within reasonable limits and save millions annually to consumers."

Arnold said his suggestion of policing prices resulted from experience gained in the justice department's anti-trust investigation of the building and construction industry. Congress provided $300,000 for a special staff of 80 to investigate restraints in the building industry.

Wants Watcher in Each State.

He suggested that an economist, or lawyer with economic training, be stationed in each state to watch for possible anti-trust violations and coöperate with civic groups, consumer groups, trade associations, labor and farm groups, and other public bodies. He also asked that the anti-trust division be given 100 additional men who could help investigate or prosecute when needed.

Anti-trust enforcement, he said, should not be a "series of crusades" but rather "an even, steady, fair, and consistent application in coöperation with private organizations."

JUDGE DISSOLVES CONTRACT FIRM OWNED BY UNION

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 8 (AP).—Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker today ordered the dissolution of a contracting company owned by a labor union and a contractors' bid controling association which were charged with restraint of interstate trade.

The order was the outgrowth of a federal grand jury investigation of the heating and ventilating industry during a general inquiry into building costs. Forty-five individuals, 12 electrical contracting firms, and an electrical contractors association already have been indicted on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government thru collusive bidding on public works.

Judge Schoonmaker directed the dissolution of the voluntary code of the heating, piping, and air conditioning industry of Allegheny county, charged with bid fixing, and the United Heating company, owned and operated by the United Association of Steam, Hot Water, Refrigeration, Pneumatic Tube, Hydraulic Air, Oil, Gasoline Gas and Process Pipe Fitters, Welders and Helpers union, No. 449, an American Federation of Labor affiliate.

COTTON RAISERS VOTE TODAY ON CROP CONTROL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The nation's cotton farmers will decide in a referendum tomorrow whether they wish to continue a federal crop control program under which the agriculture department would tell them how much they could market next year.

Agriculture department officials considered the referendum a precampaign test of the administration's farm policies in the cotton belt.

The specific proposal on which the 2,300,000 growers in the 19 cotton growing states will be asked to vote is application of marketing quota provisions of the 1938 farm act on next year's crop. Approval of two-thirds of the growers voting is necessary to make the quotas operative.

Fight Federal Control Plans for Insurance

Biloxi, Miss., Dec. 8 [Special].—Efforts to put life insurance under the thumb of the federal government will be resisted to the utmost, speakers declared here today at the winter meeting of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. The organization's membership consists of heads of state insurance departments.

Charles J. Zimmerman.

Charles J. Zimmerman, Chicago, president of the National Association of Life Underwriters, and Sidney O. Smith, Gainesville, Ga., president of the National Association of Insurance Agents, were among those who denounced critics of present insurance methods.

Sees Depression Weathered.

Zimmerman said the ability of insurance to ride thru the depression storm demonstrated the soundness of present methods and the ability of state control to handle insurance problems. Only in a few instances, he said, have there been noteworthy failures and in these cases the trouble arose from inadequate law enforcement.

"The field forces of America would unalterably oppose the invasion of the federal government in the field of life insurance control," Zimmerman said. "We believe there has been too much centralization of authority in Washington, with a subsequent weakening of states rights.

Prefers State Supervision.

"Furthermore, we believe that supervision by able and impartial bodies as represented by the various state insurance departments is much more effective than would be supervision by one centralized authority. If one of these state supervisory bodies should temporarily break down, at least the problem would be localized and confined to that particular state, rather than be spread thru all the states, as would be the case should there be a breakdown in federal supervision."

MIDWEST STORE SALES DIP LESS THAN IN NATION

Altho total sales of department stores thruout the nation showed a 5 per cent decline during the week ended Dec. 2, compared with the like 1938 week, seventh district department stores reported a drop of only 1.9 per cent, the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago reported yesterday. Chicago showed an 0.8 per cent increase.

The total sales reported to the 12 federal reserve districts for the four week period ended Dec. 2, showed a 2 per cent increase over the like 1938 period. The seventh district's sales totaled approximately the same as last year.

Percentage changes for the seventh district in sales for the week and the four weeks as compared with 1938:

	Week.	Four Weeks.
Chicago	+ .8	.0
Detroit	—9.6	—2.4
Indianapolis	+1.9	+3.2

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday granted fees of $20,000 to Edward J. Fleming, former receiver for the Congress hotel, and $10,000 to Attorney William J. Flaherty as counsel for the receiver. The hotel recently was taken over by a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. In his petition Fleming stated he had handled receipts of $2,772,737 and made disbursements of $2,740,944 as receiver. Flaherty devoted 845¼ hours to legal work, the petition said.

Roy E. Bard, partner of Sutro Bros. & Co., was reelected chairman of the Chicago Association of Stock Exchange Firms yesterday at the annual meeting. Thomas E. Murchison, partner of Paul H. Davis & Co., was named vice chairman.

SEC HEARS WILLKIE IN CLASH OVER OTIS BOND SALE DEMAND

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—A former United States senator and Wendell L. Willkie, head of the Commonwealth and Southern untility system, expressed conflicting views before the Securities and Exchange commission today as to the qualifications of a Cleveland banking house to handle a midwestern securities issue.

Willkie asserted that Otis & Co., of Cleveland would "not be a qualified company" to handle securities in the middle west. Former Senator Robert J. Bulkley, representing Otis & Co., said the firm should be given opportunity to sell a proposed issue of the Consumers Power company, Jackson, Mich.

The conflict arose at a commission hearing on an application by Consumers Power to issue and sell $28,594,000 of bonds to the public and 125,000 shares of common stock to Commonwealth and Southern, which holds all of Consumers' common shares.

Otis & Co. has led an attempt by a banking group to obtain a part in the proposed financing, for which Willkie already has contracted with an eastern group of underwriters headed by Morgan Stanley & Co.

The eastern underwriters had planned to offer the bonds today, but failure to get commission approval in time made it necessary for Willkie to get a 24 hour extension of the underwriting contract. Willkie said the bonds will be put on the market Monday if commission approval is given tomorrow.

FARMERS TAKE IN 894 MILLIONS CASH IN MONTH

Included were receipts from the sale of farm products and government benefit payments. The cash income for October last year totaled $836,000,000 and for the 10 month period $6,193,000,000.

The farm income totals for October and the January-October period, respectively, were listed as follows for some of the states:

Business Books

"Financing Economic Security in the United States," by William Withers. [Columbia University Press, New York City, $2.75.]

In a concise study of the financial problems presented by the increasing burden of paying for the economic security of the less fortunate members of society, Prof. Withers takes up a question upon the answer to which the future of the capitalistic system may hinge.

A mass of facts and statistics is presented in an interesting manner, and no angle of the problem is left unconsidered. The author takes note of the fact that our economic structure depends on business profits, that taxes eat into profits, and that the increasing burden of paying for economic security is raising taxes. Somewhere, he says, there is a limit. If the author's conclusions are somewhat clouded by "ifs" and "buts," it is because the problem is too complex, too important to permit of simple solution.

Rating System Is Adopted for Census Staff

Applicants for positions as field workers in the 1940 federal business census in the Chicago area will be graded and chosen under a rating system proposed yesterday by members of the business research committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The method of rating was accepted at once by area officials of the census bureau. Both groups said they expected the system to be used on a permanent basis locally.

The grading system, described as probably the first to be employed in selecting enumerators, was designed to assure efficient selection of field personnel for the decennial business survey.

Census Work Begins Jan. 2.

Work on the business census will start Jan. 2, with about 140 enumerators in the field. Area officials have received more than 30,000 applications for these postions, and more are expected.

Prospective census takers will be scored on five qualifications. These factors and the number of possible points to be awarded for each qualification are as follows: Hand writing, 20 points; education, 20; references, 10; personal data [health, age, etc.], 10, and business experience, 40. To qualify for consideration in a final selection, a candidate must obtain a grade of 70 out of the possible 100 points.

Veterans Get Extra Points.

War veterans or widows of veterans automatically will receive 5 extra points on their final grade, under census regulations. Candidates with census experience also will get 5 points additional.

George W. Schreech, area manager for the bureau of census, commended the plan and said he expected it to aid his staff in grading quickly the applications now on hand in the bureau office in the United States court house.

WHEAT PRICES SLIP FOR FIRST TIME IN 11 DAYS

Wheat prices were lower at the close yesterday for the first time in 11 days. A private long range weather forecast indicated that the dry section of the southwestern winter wheat belt might receive much needed moisture next week. There were reports that farmers in parts of Kansas have started to withdraw cash grain pledged for government loans and sell it in the open market. These factors were responsible for the downturn in prices.

Closing trades in wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were at about the bottom with losses of ⅞ to 1⅛ cents, the latter on the July delivery. Corn and other grains eased in sympathy with wheat. Corn closed ½ to ⅞ cent lower and oats declined ⅞ to ½ cent.

The price of cash wheat at leading terminal markets early yesterday was 10 to 18 cents a bushel above the government basic loan level. Storage charges on the grain are estimated at 5 to 8 cents, so that farmers now have a speculative profit in their holdings, brokers asserted.

URGES BUSINESS RESIST FEDERAL ENCROACHMENT

Coöperation of all business and trade organizations to resist the encroachment of federal government in private enterprise was urged yesterday by Wilbur Helm, investment banker, at the annual meeting of the Laundry Owners' Association of Illinois at the Hotel Sherman.

"Recovery will not make any real headway unless business takes a firm hand in resisting the leftists who would extend federal dominion," Helm said. "Business now is far from what it should be, new enterprises are too few, private money is not being invested in business ventures. The result is suffocation of employment and lowering of incomes."

OIL IS ASSURED PLACE ON EXTRA SESSION CALL

Cole Tells Horner's Pledge; Tours Field.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Elmo, Ill., Dec. 8.—Gov. Henry Horner has definitely assured a congressional subcommittee that a proposal for the enactment of state legislation on the oil industry will be included in his call for a special session. This was announced by Representative W. P. Cole Jr. [D., Md.], who is head of a subcommittee of the house interstate commerce committee. Cole made a tour of the Louden field near here this afternoon, accompanied by representatives of leading producers, independent operators, and organizations of oil men.

Representative Cole.

Two other members of the investigating group, Representatives E. A. Kelly [D., Ill.] and Carl E. Mapes [R., Mich.], were to join Mr. Cole at Mattoon tonight. The purpose of the trip is to get a closeup view of the physical aspects of the leading oil fields in the Illinois basin, where charges have been made of wasteful practices.

Will See Burning Gas.

Tomorrow the party is to survey the Centralia and Clay-Richland and Salem pools. The trip is to be timed so that a night view may be obtained of the blazing gas flares near Salem, which wastefully burn up almost 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas every 24 hours, according to estimates of the geological survey.

With the subcommittee are Edward B. Swanson, assistant director of the federal petroleum conservation division; Allan H. Perley, legislative counsel, and E. I. Layton, clerk. Samuel Pettengill of South Bend, Ind., former Democratic congressman, who served on the committee, is accompanying the group on the trip thru the Illinois basin.

The production of the Louden field up to Sept. 15, since it was brought in in December, 1937, has been 11,800,000 barrels. It has 1,067 wells [as of September] and in early November was producing 57,080 barrels a day.

The Louden is the state's second largest field, and it was brought in by the Carter Oil company, a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Hold Hearings in New Orleans.

Mr. Cole announced the subcommittee will open hearings in New Orleans Monday. It will hear from state regulatory agencies in the oil producing states. Illinois has no oil regulation, but Gov. Horner is to be represented by Neil H. Jacoby of the University of Chicago, and head of the Illinois relief commission, as observer.

What many operators fear is that unless Illinois enacts some form of state regulation, federal control of the oil industry with possible price fixing may come.

As to the pending bill in congress, bearing his name, which is said to have come from the interior department, Cole said he doubted it would passed in its present form.

"It does not meet with my approval in some parts," he said. "It has some good in it, tho. What the committee will recommend we are not prepared to say, the committee has not yet reached any conclusion."

The industry itself is to be heard after congress meets. The technical side, Cole said, is already in and printed reports are almost ready.

Kankakee-Chicago Service Permit Won by Greyhound

The Illinois Greyhound Lines received authorization yesterday to begin bus service immediately between Kankakee and Chicago under a certificate granted by the state commerce commission at Springfield. The buses are forbidden to furnish local service between Homewood and Chicago.

LABOR BOARD DECIDES FORD COMPANY CAUSED C. I. O.'S PLANT STRIKE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The National Labor Relations board ruled today that the Ford Motor company was responsible for a C. I. O. strike at Ford's Long Beach, Cal., plant in 1938. The board ordered the company to reinstate the strikers and bargain collectively upon request with the C. I. O.'s United Auto Workers' union.

The board said it found that the strike followed the refusal of the company to meet a union bargaining committee in April, 1938, and discuss an intended layoff. It held that the refusal to meet the union was an unfair labor practice. It was the first time that the Ford company had been directed by the board to negotiate with a trade union.

The board also directed the company "to cease interfering" with the self-organization of its employés and "to cease dominating" any labor organization of its employés.

The board ruled, however, that the Independent Automobile Workers, formed by employés at the Long Beach plant, had not been dominated or interfered with by the company. Allegations of company domination of the independent union were dismissed.

SALES OF AUTOS RISE; EXPECT OUTPUT TO SOAR

December Forecast Is 450,000 Units.

Sharply expanding automobile sales were reported yesterday by several automobile companies, and it was forecast that preholiday business may result in a total December production of 450,000 units. That would be a volume never exceeded in December except in 1936.

George W. Malcolmson reports Dodge cars arriving.

The industry, on the basis of present prospects, expects to produce about 1,245,000 cars and trucks in the first quarter of 1940. This would be 16 per cent above production for the first quarter of 1939 and about 10 per cent more than the expected total for the last quarter of this year.

Chrysler Output Boosts Total.

With the big Detroit plants of the Chrysler corporation back in production after being closed for about 56 days by labor troubles, this week's output of new cars is estimated by Ward's Automotive Reports, Inc., at 115,488 units, compared with 93,638 last week. In the corresponding 1938 week the output was 100,705 cars and trucks.

General Motors corporation reported that its November sales to consumers in the United States totaled 162,881 cars and trucks, the largest total for a November in the company's history and the largest total for any month since July, 1937. October sales totaled 110,471 units and the total for November 1938 was 131,387.

For the 11 months ended Nov. 30 General Motors sales to consumers totaled 1,208,753 units, against 882,682 in 1938.

Hudson Sets 10 Year Peak.

At a Hudson distributors' meeting in Chicago yesterday W. A. James, merchandising manager for the Hudson Motor Car company, said that sales in November totaled 10,250 units—the largest amount for the month in ten years. He declared that if the present rate is continued, and so far in December it has been, Hudson sales of the 1940 models by the end of this month will exceed sales for the entire 1939 model year. The November gain over 1938 was 77 per cent.

Chrysler organization officials reported that altho deliveries were held up during the labor troubles, sales continued at a high level, piling up a large backlog which the various units are attempting to reduce.

George W. Malcomson, Chicago regional manager for the Dodge division of Chrysler, said that cars already are rolling into the city from Detroit into dealers' hands for delivery to customers.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 8.—Stocks encountered resistance today after three days of rising prices. Losses in active shares ranged from fractions to about a point. Closing prices showed slight improvements over the day's lows because of a modest rally in the last hour. Trade dwindled to only 570,000 shares.

Inasmuch as the bulk of domestic business news was on the constructive side observers concluded that today's selling was based on desire of many traders to cash in on some of the recent advance. Some week-end evening-up was held to be another factor.

Steels were active on the downside, losses ranging to 1⅛ points in United States Steel. Reports of highest motor production since 1937 and that further increases are likely now that Chrysler is back in operation was reflected in the spurt in that stock in the last hour which lifted it into the plus column. General Motors slipped a fraction despite the substantial gain in November sales.

Sugars turned heavy on reports from Washington that President Roosevelt had said that the quotas might not be restored immediately. Fajardo dropped nearly two points.

Fractional losses ruled in the aviation section, altho Douglas and Boeing each lost about a point. Merchandising issues failed to reflect reports of improved retail buying. Most rubber and oil shares eased.

Fractionally lower prices ruled in the carrier section. Power and light shares were more prominent than usual.

In the chemicals, Allied dropped 1½ points. Case pushed higher among farm implement shares, but most others eased. Electric equipments, notably Westinghouse and General Electric, lost up to a point.

New York Bonds.

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—United States government issues were the bright spot in today's generally soggy bond market. The federal bonds moved consistently and closed with most of them up ⅛ to ¼ of a point. Offerings were meager and some maturities were in demand. Dealers reported the buying interest seemed based on the favorable reception accorded the "treasury's new money" issue in the December financing.

Some low yield corporates lagged half a point or so behind despite the good action of the governments. Speculative corporate bonds also rolled up a considerable number of moderate losses. Light selling forced many of the Scandinavian issues to new low prices.

Denmark bonds declined 1 to 5¾ points and Norway s¼s dropped 1⅞. Italian, Australian, and Belgian groups also declined sharply.

Chicago Stocks.

Volume leaders displayed an irregular trend on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Volume was 35,000 shares. Noblitt-Sparks gained 1⅝ points. Central and South West Utilities finished ⅛ lower. Commonwealth Edison, Utility and Industrial preferred, Middle West, and Swift closed unchanged.

A total of 112 issues were dealt in. Thirty-two issues advanced, 47 declined, and 33 were unchanged.

Bank Stocks.

Northern Trust shares advanced five points in bank stock trading yesterday to close on a bid of 575. Harris Trust was up 2 points, closing at 314. Other issues were steady.

Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith's Federation Is Suspended

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 8 [Special].—The Michigan Corporation and Securities commission today suspended the Federation of Americanization, a non-profit Michigan corporation which handles funds collected by the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, radio campaigner against the New Deal, communism, and the C. I. O., former share the wealth ally of the late Senator Huey Long of Louisiana. Failure to file its annual financial report and fee, due last Aug. 31, was the cause of the suspension, Commissioner Howard M. Warner said. Warner said the corporation has a year of grace, in which it still may operate. Smith said that failure to file the report was due to technicalities, and that it would be filed as soon as the papers are prepared. "I wanted to be very sure that every thing about this report was correct and proper," Smith said.

MAYER TO HEAD CITY COMMERCE GROUP 3D TIME

Is Renominated; Nelson of Sears on Ticket.

Oscar G. Mayer, president of Oscar Mayer & Co., meat packer, yesterday was nominated to succeed himself as president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. As nomination is tantamount to election, Mayer is assured of heading the Chicago business organization for the third year in succession.

This will be the first time in more than 10 years that a president of the association has been chosen to serve a third consecutive term. Associates in the organization said that the unusual tribute was given Mayer in recognition of his work this year in helping to launch the Greater Chicago plan and the part he has played since then in getting it going.

Donald Nelson Is Nominated.

Nomination for first vice president of the association was given Donald M. Nelson, executive vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co. Nelson directed the raising of a special fund of more than $200,000 to be used in attaining the special objectives in the Greater Chicago plan.

Ten other vice presidents were named. Of these, four will fill new offices created to supervise the work of putting the Greater Chicago plan into operation. The four new offices and the men named to fill them are:

Vice president, all-Chicago council, Frank A. Hecht, industrialist; vice president, education and culture, William Bachrach of the Dearborn company; vice president, special events, Avery Brundage of Avery Brundage company, and vice president, construction industries, Gerhardt F. Meyne, contractor.

Tasks Are Defined.

Hecht's job will be to develop a city-wide council to act on all matters affecting the city's continued progress and welfare. The council will make every effort to crystalize public opinion of all classes in one united voice speaking for the Chicago district as a whole.

Bachrach will endeavor to focus the attention of the country on Chicago's position as an educational and cultural center. Brundage has been chosen to develop Chicago events of nation-wide interest of types comparable to the New Orleans Mardi Gras for the purpose of attracting visitors to the city. Meyne will attempt to solve problems that have retarded the development of the construction industry in the city.

The other vice presidents are: Lawrence Whiting, president, American Furniture Mart; C. W. Wyinne, president, Overseas Industries, Inc.; C. J. Whipple, president, Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co.; Richard Hackett, manager, Central Manufacturing district; Thomas B. Hogan, president, Yellow Cab company, and Guy E. Reed, vice president, Harris Trust and Savings bank.

HOGS DECLINE; LARGE RECEIPTS BURDEN MARKET

Big Swine Lose Most; Cattle Irregular.

The largest Friday hog receipts since December, 1937, proved too much for the market at the Chicago stockyards yesterday. Prices fell unevenly 5 to 25 cents, with "lard hogs" taking the lead on the way down.

Most beef steers and yearlings met a dependable outlet at mostly steady prices yesterday. The best available brought $10.50, with few good enough to sell that high because of the plain quality of the run. Weakness prevailed in some other branches of the cattle trade.

Slaughter lambs met a two way trade. Best grades of handy weights were stronger, but extreme weights and unfinished kinds ruled weak to 15 cents lower.

Pork Production Large.

Pork production in the United States last month was the largest for any month since December, 1936, and the biggest for any November since 1933, the department of agriculture reported. The output was the second heaviest for November in 10 years. Only in three years since 1924 was the production larger during November.

Packing plants under federal inspection slaughtered 4,436,799 hogs during the month, an increase of more than half a million head, or 13 per cent, compared with the 3,913,289 killed in November last year.

The slaughter last month was 123 per cent of the five year average for November and 83 per cent of the largest November total on record, which was established in 1923.

Eleven Month Total Rises.

During the 11 months of 1939 packing plants under government inspection butchered 36,131,404 hogs, compared with 31,840,331 a year ago.

Beef and veal production decreased last month. Packers killed 837,311 cattle, the smallest total in three months and the smallest November total since 1933. This compared with 858,187 a year ago. The eleven months' cattle total at 8,672,895, which was the smallest in six years, compared with 9,018,470 in 1938.

Lamb and mutton output was below the preceding two months, but it was third heaviest on record for November. Packers last month received 1,468,801 sheep and lambs, compared with 1,452,966 a year ago. The 11 months' slaughter of sheep and lambs was 15,852,332 head, against 16,712,714 a year ago.

Egg Prices Close Higher After Erratic Movement

Egg prices fluctuated erratically on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, but closed at gains of 0.15 to 0.25 cent a dozen. December deliveries closed at 15.25 cents. Possibility of a government prop for the unsteady market was described by traders as the major factor in the upturn. Butter futures were also unsettled, closing with gains of 0.05 to 0.3 cent a pound. December butter closed 0.2 cent higher at 27.3 cents a pound.

Investors' Guide

Saturday, Dec. 9, 1939.

UNITED CORPORATION.

Is the United corporation a utility holding company or merely an investment concern? I would appreciate a report on the company—A. D. S.

Answer: The United corporation is an investment company whose holdings are largely in eastern utility systems. Until recently its policy was to consider its security holdings primarily as permanent investments. As a result of the federal public utility law of 1935, the company has altered this policy.

In compliance with the act, the company registered as a holding company because it owned more than 10 per cent of the voting stock in certain utilities. To obtain exemption from the effects of the law, United corporation filed a tentative plan to trim its utility holdings to less than 10 per cent voting interest, to diversify its investments to include non-utility securities, and to engage in financing and underwriting.

The Securities and Exchange commission, which administers the act, permitted the company to invest 8 million dollars of current funds in non-utility securities before next Jan. 13, in accordance with its proposed diversification of its portfolio. The company has also reduced some of its holdings of utility stocks.

The company has no funded debt, but has outstanding 2,488,712 shares of $3 cumulative preference stock, 14,529,492 shares of no par common stock, and 3,732,059 option warrants.

Income of the firm consists almost entirely of dividends received on stock holdings. Net income, earnings a common share and dividends a common share in recent years follow:

	Net income.	Earned a share.	Dividends a share.

1937	10,693,000	.22	.20
1938	8,508,000	.07	...

Net income in the first nine months of 1939 rose to $6,291,000 or 5 cents a share from $5,929,000, or 2 cents a share in the corresponding period of 1938.

Dividend arrears on the preference stock totaled $1.05 a share on Oct. 25, 1939. The company recently asked the SEC for authority to pay all accumulated dividends on this stock by exhausting $99,934 in the earned surplus account and by reducing the capital surplus by $2,513,213, the balance necessary to make the total payment of $2,613,147.

The company's application stated it believed earnings next year would be more than enough to maintain the regular rate on the preference stock. It proposed that any income remaining after such dividends would be credited to the capital surplus account until the $2,513,213 charged against the account for payment of the dividend arrears had been restored. No dividends on the common stock would be declared until the restoration was completed.
